Wellsville Woman Killed

Investigation Continuing In Fatal Hancock Crash

Investigation is continuing into Saturday night's traffic accident which took the life of a 34-year-old Wellsville woman.

Miss Josephine (Babe) Arcuragi of 218 3rd St. died Sunday at 2 p.m. at City Hospital from injuries in the crash which occurred on W. Va. Route 2, about 800 feet south of the Newell Bridge. The accident was timed at 11:28 p.m.

IN "GOOD" condition at the hospital is Samuel Giordano, 38, of 313 Broadway, Wellsville, driver of the car. He sustained abrasions of the scalp and right hip and a contusion of the chest.

The dead woman, a passenger in the Giordano car, suffered possible fractures of the skull and spine and lacerations and contusions of the forehead, right knee and hands.

Giordano told Hancock sheriff's deputies that he was traveling south when an unidentified northbound car crossed into his lane and forced him off the road into the guardrail. The auto, out of control, went over the guardrails and struck a tree on the passenger's side, coming to rest facing the river.

Four sections of guardrail were ripped out and three concrete posts were torn from the ground by the impact.

Giordano's auto was a total loss.

Miss Arcuragi was born in Wellsville, a daughter of Thomas Arcuragi and Mildred Ann Cuffaro Arcuragi, who survive at the home. She was employed for the past several years as a secretary in the offices of the H. K. Porter Co., Wellsville. At one time she worked at the Potters Bank and Trust Co. branch in Wellsville.

She was a 1961 graduate of Wellsville High School and belonged to the Immaculate Conception Church and the Auxiliary of the Sons of Italy Lodge, both of Wellsville.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by two brothers, Joseph Arcuragi of Glenmoor and James Arcuragi of East Liverpool; two sisters, Miss Edith Arcuragi at home and Mrs. Frank (Catherine) DeSenze of Wellsville.

A Requiem Mass will be said at the church Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. by Fr. James A. Cavanaugh. Burial will be in St. Elizabeth Cemetery, Wellsville.

Friends may call at the MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsville, tonight and Tuesday after 3:30 p.m.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politicians who live by careful assessments of the electoral climate were rocked as surely as the general public by President Johnson's bombshell announcement that "I shall not seek and I will not accept" nomination for another term.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, regarded by many as the Democratic forerunner, praised Johnson's action at a press conference today and said he will seek a conference with the president.

Johnson Lauded

The only other announced rival for the Democratic nomination, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, readily conceded he was surprised. But he lauded Johnson for a "generous judgment" that he said would clear the way for national reconciliation.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who might now get into the fray, said he was saddened—but not surprised. Johnson had discussed his decision with Humphrey before revealing it to the world.

Richard M. Nixon, the leading Republican contender, expressed surprise, too, but concluded he had best withhold any immediate detailed comment.

Disbelief Expressed

Even Politicians Amazed

"It's not true," declared a sergeant in the South Vietnamese capital. Another GI said, "I can't believe it."

In front of the White House, knots of amazed young people gathered spontaneously to sing, cheer and applaud the President's decision.

Hands Off Attitude

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., expressed conviction that Johnson would be drafted at the Democratic nominating convention in August.

But the President himself, at an impromptu news conference after voicing his emotion-packed announcement, termed his decision "completely irrevocable."

This is the phrase Johnson used to try to dispel any suspicion he might change his mind or yield to a draft.

He also suggested he would not attempt to influence his party's selection of a nominee.

A man of many surprises, Johnson's announcement was his most stunning move in a 37-year career in politics. No president eligible to succeed himself has spurned a fight for the office since Harry S. Truman bowed out in 1952 during the controversial Korean war.

Johnson attributed his decision—which aides said was a year in the making—to controversies rending the nation at this time, including the Vietnam war.

Cites Division

"There is division in the American house now," he said in solemn tones. "There is divisiveness among us all tonight."

Then, after appealing to all Americans "to guard against divisiveness and all its ugly consequences," he came to the key passages:

"... I have concluded that I should not permit the presidency to become involved in the partisan divisions that are developing in this political year.

"With America's sons in the fields far away, with America's future under challenge right here at home, with our hopes and the world's hopes for peace in the balance every day, I do not believe that I should devote an hour or a day of my time to any personal partisan causes or to any duties other than the awesome duties of this office—the Presidency of your country.

Key Words Spoken

"Accordingly, I shall not seek, and I will not accept, the nomination of my party for another term as your President."

Johnson tacked the disclosure of his very personal decision onto a major Vietnam policy speech in which he announced his broadest-yet peace move: An immediate and indefinite halt in most air and sea bombardment of North Vietnam as "the first step to de-escalate the conflict."

This military decision, momentous as it was, quickly was overshadowed by the postscript to his speech, which was not included in the prepared text distributed to newsmen in advance.

Reactions Differ

Candidates, politicians of all stripes and ordinary citizens appeared alike in reacting to Johnson's announcement with astonishment.

"I was surprised," said Richard M. Nixon.

McCarthy echoed that sentiment but added that Johnson had made a "generous judgment" clearing the way for national reconciliation.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., his presidential prospects enhanced by President Johnson's withdrawal, said today, "I think the Democratic party is in a better position to capture the presidency than yesterday."

"I will continue my campaign for the presidency of the United States," Kennedy told a news conference in his first official comment on Johnson's surprise announcement of Sunday night.

Kennedy said that Sunday night he had dispatched a telegram to Johnson which read in part: "Your decision regarding the presidency subordinates self to country and is truly magnanimous.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON—Just Before His Fateful Decision.

Cutback Ordered By Johnson

Bombers, Warships Halt North Vietnam Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — American bombers and warships halted their attacks on most of North Vietnam today, one day after strikes close to Hanoi, Haiphong and the Chinese boarder.

The cutback in the bombing ordered by President Johnson was the 10th curtailment in the air war against the Communist North since it began on Feb. 7, 1965.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland's headquarters said the reduction in the bombing was in effect by the time the President began his television statement announcing it, at 10 a.m. Saigon time.

Attacks Confined

The U.S. Command said American fighter-bombers confined their attacks on North Vietnam today to the area just above the demilitarized zone, hitting enemy storage complexes, truck convoys and gun positions.

Only a few hours before, the U.S. Command announced that American planes on Sunday attacked the Cat Bi airfield four miles southeast of the center of Haiphong, the radio communications station 10 miles southsoutheast of Hanoi, a chemical plant 19 miles northeast of Haiphong, the Cam Pha coal area, 44 miles east-northeast of Haiphong, and the Lang Giai railyard, 18 miles below the Chinese border.

Johnson said his de-escalation order applied to "most" of North Vietnam's territory and an area containing almost 90 per cent of its population. This includes the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial heartland and the vital northeast and northwest railroad lines between Hanoi and Communist China.

Bombing Area Defined

The President said the bombing would continue "in the area north of the demilitarized zone where the continuing enemy buildup directly threatens Allied forward positions and where movements of troops and supplies are clearly related to that threat."

Westmoreland's headquarters and the U.S. 7th Air Force refused to outline this area still subject to attack, but it probably extends north to the city of Vinh, about 130 miles above the demilitarized zone.

Most of the air strikes in this area have been against truck convoys believed headed southward with war materials for the 40,000 North Vietnamese troops who are believdd menacing the U.S. Marines at Khe Sanh, Con Thien, Gio Linh, Dong Ha and other Allied posts just below the DMZ.

The area from the DMZ to Vinh was excluded from the last bombing pause, at the end of January for Tet, the lunar new year festival.

Other Missions Continue

It was learned that U.S. planes also will continue reconnaissance and aerial photographic missions all over North Vietnam, including the Red River Valley area from Hanoi to the Chinese border.

The President made no reference to the bombing of the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos, over which thousands of tons of war material and thousands of troops move into South Vietnam. Presumably, this air campaign will continue, with more warplanes available to strike the North Vietnamese supply routes and buildup areas in that country.

As expected, Westmoreland, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and all other ranking U.S. military and embassy officials refused to comment on the President's orders. But military commanders in Vietnam have long opposed any curtailment of the bombing.

Leaders Surprised

Still With LBJ, Gosney Declares

Democrat leaders across the tri-state district expressed surprise at President Johnson's decision not to seek re-election, and one indicated there may be efforts made to persuade him to change his mind.

Don R. Gosney, Columbiana County party chairman, said he will continue to support the President and will make the nominating speech at the Democrat convention "if I have to."

Longtime backer of Johnson, Gosney said, "I think he is the only man qualified to lead the country for the next four years.

"I THINK the press and some members of his party picked on him so much it became almost unbearable. To him, principles are higher than his own personal ambitions."

Gosney said he hopes Johnson will reconsider when he realizes the public and the nation need him. "He has served the public so long, I think he'll reconsider."

The presidential decision apparently was reached in the last couple of days, the county chairman opined, noting that Rep. Wayne L. Hays had talked with the president Thursday and there was no indication that he would not seek renomination.

Gosney said he had talked with a top presidential aide about three weeks ago and received no hint that Johnson planned to step down at the end of his term.

"I WAS disappointed at his not seeking re-election," Beaver County Commissioner Eli Corak stated.

Corak, who is county Democrat chairman and mayor of Midland, said he "certainly intended to support him."

He commented, "In these trying times he handled himself as well as any man, and history will prove this. He inherited and faced as staggering problems as any president ever did. And he would have done all right had he received the support of real Americans."

Asked about his attitude concerning the remaining party candidates for the White House, he said he would prefer to see what national and state policies would be concerning the campaigns.

LBJ Decision Struck Like Thunderbolt

Kennedy Listed As Leading Man For Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's stunning decision to leave the White House at the end of his term is the biggest thunderbolt to flash from the political skies in a stormy year of astounding surprises.

With the primary season barely begun and only a handful of convention delegates chosen three major candidates have quit the battle and a fourth, who was not expected to run at all, now is campaigning hard for the Democratic nomination.

Michigan Gov. George Romney was the first to confound the experts when he withdrew from the Republican nomination fight Feb. 28, just 12 days before the New Hampshire primary.

Facing certain defeat in his contest with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Romney said he was getting out because

In President's Decision

Turning Point Was November

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson eased his six-foot-three frame into a maroon chair and said: "I guess the turning point was probably last November."

For some time Johnson had been tossing around in his mind —and talking over with close friends and associates who could keep his secret—the possibility of renouncing the run for another presidential term.

He had even come close to making the stunning announcement that finally came Sunday night when he delivered his State of the Union message to Congress last Jan. 17.

But with so many more messages on particular phases of his program still on tap, he decided the timing was improper.

Final Decision Made

So it was not until the last day or two that the President made the final, definite decision against seeking or accepting nomination for a second full term.

His family knew his intention and had what Mrs. Johnson later described as mixed feelings about it. But not many other people did, particularly as to the timing.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey had an inkling. So did Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, and Clifford's predecessor, Robert S. McNamara.

The President said he talked with his vice president Sunday morning about what he was considering but didn't tell him he was going to announce a decision that night. He did call Humphrey, who by that time had flown to Mexico City, after the radio-television address from the presidential office.

Turning Point Reached

What fixes November in Johnson's mind as the turning point was a visit from the U.S. mili-

On Bombing Pause

Nation's Military Heads Disagree With President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's order halting most bombing and naval shelling of North Vietnam clashes with the expressed convictions of key military leaders that it is vital to hit harder.

Johnson ordered Sunday night U. S. planes and warships "to make no attacks on North Vietnam, except in the area north of the Demilitarized Zone." Presumably, the order was effective at once.

He permitted strikes only in a sector "where the continuing enemy build-up directly threatens allied forward positions and where the movements of their troops and supplies are clearly related to that threat."

The President's action exempts almost 90 per cent of North Vietnam's 17 million people and most of its territory—including Hanoi, the port of Haiphong and the rice-producing regions of food-short North Vietnam.

Bombing Compressed

Military sources said they believe the bombing and shelling will be compressed into a section south of Dong Hoi, a major point on the supply lines, about 35 miles above the DMZ.

This section, they said, includes the Mu Gia pass, through which many of North Vietnam's trucks drive with their loads of war supplies and munitions for North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers in South Vietnam.

Truck Driver Charged For Beaver Death

A Cleveland trucker has been charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death of a 35-year-old Aliquippa man following a head-on collision near Aliquippa Saturday.

Paul H. McCune of King St., Aliquippa, was pronounced dead at Aliquippa Hospital of injuries suffered when his car and the tractor - trailer rig collided about 11:50 a.m. on the Monaca-Aliquippa Rd.

Witnesses said the rig, operated by William Stever, 41, of Cleveland, was headed north and McCune south when the mishap occurred 300 feet south of the West Aliquippa overpass.

Stever was charged with involuntary manslaughter and released under $1,500 bond.

More Cold Weather Slated During Night

The weatherman fooled around with the temperature a little over the weekend, but not to the point where it could be considered an "April Fool" joke.

After the rain which struck the area Sunday afternoon and night, the mercury dipped into the 30s, and more cold weather is due tonight, with the low in the upper 20s.

It is to be mostly sunny and warmer Tuesday, however.

Viet Cong Release 2 Captured Women

SAIGON (AP) — Two American women captured by the Viet Cong during the lunar new year offensive in Hue have been freed and now are in U.S. hands, an American spokesman said today

The spokesman said the two are Sandra Johnson and Dr. Marjorie Nelson. He said they were released in the Hue area and now are under medical examination there.

Radio Hanoi said Sunday the Viet Cong had decided to release the two women.

In President's Decision

Turning Point Was November

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson eased his six-foot-three frame into a maroon chair and said: "I guess the turning point was probably last November."

For some time Johnson had been tossing around in his mind—and talking over with close friends and associates who could keep his secret—the possibility of renouncing the run for another presidential term.

He had even come close to making the stunning announcement that finally came Sunday night when he delivered his State of the Union message to Congress last Jan. 17.

But with so many more messages on particular phases of his program still on tap, he decided the timing was improper.

Final Decision Made

So it was not until the last day or two that the President made the final, definite decision against seeking or accepting nomination for a second full term.

His family knew his intention and had what Mrs. Johnson later described as mixed feelings about it. But not many other people did, particularly as to the timing.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey had an inkling. So did Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, and Clifford's predecessor, Robert S. McNamara.

The President said he talked with his vice president Sunday morning about what he was considering but didn't tell him he was going to announce a decision that night. He did call Humphrey, who by that time had flown to Mexico City, after the radio-television address from the presidential office.

Turning Point Reached

What fixes November in Johnson's mind as the turning point was a visit from the U.S. mili-

4 More Held In Hijacking Of TV Sets

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Four more men have been arrested in the theft of $32,000 worth of television sets.

The FBI said agents nabbed the four, all from Youngstown, as they were loading some of the stolen sets onto a truck Sunday.

More than 100 sets were recovered after the arrests at a warehouse in suburban Sharpsburg.

Charges with possession of goods stolen from interstate commerce were Henry Cobey Jr., 45; Benjamin T Guerrieri, 45; John R. Malone, 43, and Berdine Grassie, 48.

The FBI said the sets and a truck carrying them were stolen March 23 from a parking lot at Darlington in Beaver County.

Arrested earlier on the same charge were Joseph Valpe, 37, of East McKeesport and James Farro, 35, of Wilkins Township.

Permit Suspended

Youth Penalized In Police Pursuit

An 18 - year - old motorist who allegedly ran four traffic lights and stop signs and passed an auto on a yellow line while being pursued by a police cruiser Sunday night was given a 15 - day suspension of his operator's permit today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a reckless driving charge.

Jeffrey Clapsadle of 203 Union St., a student, was halted at 11:11 p.m. on the Freeway underneath the Newell Bridge by Patrolman James Woods after a chase that started at E. 4th and Walnut Sts., police said.

When the youth said he did not have money to pay a fine, the judge replied: "I will ground you for awhile; that will hurt more."

THE OFFICER said he first observed the youth drive through "a four - way stop at E. 4th and Walnut Sts. at a high rate of speed." He said the driver "crashed a stop sign at E. 4th St. and Broadway, ran a red light at E. 4th and Washington Sts., crashed a light at 4th and Market and a sign at W. 3rd and Jackson and passed a car on a yellow line at the entrance to the Freeway."

The patrolman said he was unable to overtake the car immediately because Clapsadle was driving at an estimated 50 miles an hour.

The judge imposed a fine of $100 and costs, with $50 suspended, on John R. Cunningham of 712 Sophia St., a Marine stationed at Philadelphia, on a charge of being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated.

Cunningham was cited at 2:08 this morning on W. 3rd St. after police received a complaint of an abandoned car. Patrolmen Jack Strobel and David Huffman said they found Cunningham in the auto. Queried by the court, he said his car ran out of gasoline. Cunningham said he is due to report back to his base Tuesday.

JOSEPH CHORA of Lorain, whose auto bumped a parked police cruiser early Saturday on Market St., was fined $15 and costs after he pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Allen H. Wright of Calcutta was fined $15 and costs on a charge of "accelerating an auto rapidly and 'peeling' the tires." He was cited Saturday at 10:38 p.m. on E. 3rd St. by Patrolman Charles Coen.

William A. Henrich of N. Shady Ln. Dr., Fisher Park, was fined $10 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of operating a motorcycle without wearing a protective helmet and face shield. He was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol March 24 at 3:15 p.m. on State Route 287.

Pascal J. Norman, 31, of Garrettsville forfeited a $32.50 bond on a charge of operating a truck with a 1,940-pound overload. He was cited by the patrol Friday at 2 p.m. on State Route 7.

Ernest W. Harris, 22, of 1646 Cleveland Ave. was fined $25 and costs on a charge of driving at speeds unreasonable for highway conditions. He was cited by the patrol March 23 after his auto allegedly skidded across the medial strip on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. and hit another auto.

CHARLES E. BRAHAM, 25, of 212 Pennsylvania Ave. was fined $20 and costs and given a 15 - day suspension of his driver's license after he pleaded "no contest" on a charge of speeding 85 miles an hour in a 70-mile zone in the Freeway.

He was cited Sunday at 5:35 p.m. by the patrol, which reported he passed 13 cars on the stretch between Route 170 and the city limits.

Andrew Beckner, 19, of 1004 3rd Ave., New Cumberland, was fined $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 30. He was cited by the patrol Friday at 9:35 p.m.

At this age he starts to leave his mother for longer and longer periods, although throughout adolescence he frequently returns to her.

a treaty-signing ceremony, said he was saddened.

"I can't believe it," said a GI on the street in Saigon.

Within half an hour after Johnson finished speaking, small knots of young people turned out to cheer in a light drizzle in front of the White House. One group from George Washington University carried a bedsheet on which they had hastily lettered the legend, "Thanks L.B.J."

Was Kennedy's entry into the Democratic primary campaign a factor?

Questions Answered

—"It added to the general situation I talked about that existed in the country."

Did he have a personal choice for the Democratic presidential nomination?

—"I made that clear in the speech,"—an apparent allusion to his statement that he had no time for partisan causes.

Would he support any Democratic ticket nominated at the party's August convention?

—"When the time comes I'll make my announcements."

Would his decision strengthen his hand in efforts to end the Vietnam war?

—"I would hope what I did tonight will let me concentrate more effectively on bringing about peace in the world."

Besides announcing a partial halt in bombing of North Vietnam, Johnson revealed these other steps related to the war:

Troop Level Increase

—The present authorized U.S. troop level there of 525,000 men will be lifted to about 550,000. By August a total of 13,500 support troops will be sent to the combat zone. Some of these will come from Reserve units called to active duty.

—War spending is exceeding expectations. Tentative estimates now put the additional amount for the 24 months that began last July 1 at $5.1 billion —money Johnson will have to seek from Congress.

—Priority will be given to re-equipping the growing South Vietnamese army with more modern weapons.

—Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman will be the President's personal representative at any peace talks that develop with North Vietnam—"at Geneva or any other suitable place."

New Taxes Sought

Johnson also appealed anew for higher taxes and budget cuts to pare a deficit he said would otherwise be about $20 billion. He said these actions are vital because "we face the sharpest financial threat in the post war era—a threat to the American dollar's role as the keystone of international trade and finance . . ."

The chief executive's disclosure that he will not seek re-election was coupled with a series of appeals for national unity.

He said: "The ultimate strength of our country and our cause will lie not in powerful weapons or infinite resources or boundless wealth but will lie in the unity of our people.

Throughout his 37-year public career, Johnson said, "I have put the unity of the people first; I have put it ahead of any divisive partisanship."

First inoculation for rabies was given in Paris on July 6, 1885. Louis Pasteur successfully inoculated a boy who had been bitten by a dog.

But All Appear Stunned

Reaction Among Ohioans Varies Over Johnson's Announcement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans, as well as the rest of the nation, were stunned by President Johnson's announcement Sunday night that he will not seek re-election.

They also lauded his statement to reduce the bombing of North Vietnam in an effort to end tht war.

At the same time, others said Johnson's withdrawal from the presidential race boosts the stock of the other Democratic candidates, such as Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota. Both have been gaining support from Ohioans.

Favorite Son

Eugene P. O'Grady, executive director of the state Democratic party, said the party will keep its commitment for the time being to the favorite son candidacy of Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio. O'Grady said Young had pledged to support Johnson for renomination.

But O'Grady said that if the state's slate of delegates to the national convention caucused today he had no doubt "Ohio Democrats would be for Kennedy, at least at this point."

O'Grady said Kennedy had contacted him by telephone to discuss Ohio's 115 convention votes.

"Where we'll go now is something else," O'Grady said. "But we'll remain committed to Sen. Young until as such time the delegates are elected to the convention."

O'Grady said he was "caught by surprise," and Johnson's statement "was certainly overwhelming."

Gilligan Reaction

Democratic senatorial candidate John J. Gilligan said Johnson's action to curtail the bombing of North Vietnam and "his unselfish decision not to seek the presidential nomination represents a tremendous step towards the peace that all Americans desire."

"We are all now challenged to match President Johnson's demonstration of unselfish determination to move in new directions towards peace in Vietnam and a revitalization of America," Gilligan added.

Hamilton County Democratic Chairman Vincent Beckman said Johnson showed great courage. "The importance of his decision, while it will mean much insofar as who the Democratic nominee will be, will have its main impact now on the Vietnam war."

Humphrey Speculation

Beckman and Sidney Weil Jr., Democratic executive committee chairman in Cincinnati, said it could mean that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will jump into the presidential race.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, one of the few Republican governors to openly support Johnson's Vietnam policies, could not be reached for comment Sunday night on the President's speech.

Also, neither Sens. Frank J. Lausche nor Stephen M. Young, Ohio Democrats, had any immediate comments. Lausche, seeking a third term, is being opposed by Gilligan for the Senate nomination in the May 7 primary.

Stokes Surprised

Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes, a Democrat, said, "It took me totally by surprise. I was shocked to learn of his position. I don't have the slightest idea now whom I would support."

State Republican Chairman John S. Andrews said, "I think it's a surprise, naturally. This seems to be the year of a lot of surprises.

"A month ago who would have thought at this time that Romney and Rockefeller would be withdrawing from the race —and now Johnson."

Andrews said he could not predict immediately how it would affect the Republican candidates. The Ohio Republican Party is pledged to Gov. Rhodes as a favorite son.

President Lauded

James V. Stanton, Cleveland City Council president, said, "President Johnson has placed his country first of all, above all political considerations, and has confirmed to millions of Americans that we must have unity during a period of national crises."

Paul J. DeGrandis, a vice chairman of the Cuyahoga County Democratic organization, said "I was goosepimpled from top to bottom. The next president of the United States will be here (Cleveland) next Friday." He referred to an appearance, scheduled by Sen. Kennedy at the City Club Forum in Cleveland.

Ohio backers of Sen. McCarthy said Johnson's withdrawal will boost McCarthy's chances for the Democratic nomination.

Dr. Martin Seltzer of Columbus, an Ohio leader in the McCarthy movement, said, "I think it adds more significance to our campaign and I think it gives us a very good chance of a strong showing for Sen. McCarthy at the convention." McCarthy is seeking delegate candidates for the national convention in five of Ohio's 24 congressional districts — the 2nd, 3rd, 12th, 13th and 22nd.

Seltzer called Johnson "a very brave man" for stepping out of the race.

Boost For McCarthy

In Cincinnati, Jack Piler, chairman of the Hamilton County McCarthy organization, said, "We feel the President's decision is a tremendous success for Sen. McCarthy because it once again proves that there is a strong, grass roots sentiment against Lyndon Johnson and the Vietnam war."

Piler said Johnson's decision came from "certain knowledge that McCarthy would defeat him in the Wisconsin primary Tuesday. Johnson felt he might reduce the sting of defeat and bow to his great pride by withdrawing. He may even have felt he could whip up some sympathy for himself and reduce the impact of the McCarthy vote Tuesday."

In an editorial, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said: "In voluntarily making his status that of a lame-duck president, Mr. Johnson offered the greatest sacrifice he could to prove his sincerity in the policy he has pursued in the Vietnamese war. Hanoi can no longer say he is playing politics . . . President Johnson is staking out his place in history on a sincere desire for peace in Asia."

Gilligan Boosts Self

In his statement issued in Cleveland, where he is campaigning, Gilligan also boosted his own candidacy.

"The importance of the decision to be made about who shall represent Ohio in the Senate is now very clear because with a new president in a new era of challenge and opportunity opening we quite obviously need a new type of leadership in the Senate," Gilligan said.

"In tune with the times and ready to meet the challenges of the months and years ahead," he added, "the Democratic Party in Ohio has given evidence of their support of my candidacy that they are ready for that new day."

FCDO Backs Sen. Lausche

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—U.S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, running for renomination without party support, received the endorsement Sunday of the Federated County Democrats of Ohio.

The FCDO is made up of various Democratic groups in 53 Ohio counties. Delegates meeting here Sunday voted unanimously to endorse Lausche's bid for the party nomination in the May 7 primary and re-election next November.

The state Democratic Party earlier passed over Lausche and endorsed his opponent, John J. Gilligan of Cincinnati.

John Holly of Cleveland, the FCDO chairman, said Sunday the state Democratic Executive Committee had not consulted with the FCDO before announcing endorsement of Gilligan. He charged that the party's endorsement of Gilligan was a move to placate labor interests.

The FCDO was formed in 1949 when Lausche was serving his first term as governor and has consistently supported him.

Copeland Cites Need Of 'Drying' Weather In Area

March was warmer, but not so wet as normal, Edwin Copeland, U.S. weather observer at Millport, said today in his monthly summary.

The area needs some "drying weather" to make the ground a little firmer, he said.

Copeland reported the average temperature last month was 39 degrees, well above the normal 37.5 degrees. The mercury ranged from a high of 75 degrees Sunday to a low of 4 degrees March 14.

Rainfall last month amounted to 3.08 inches, under the normal 3.26 for March, he said. The average snowfall is 4.4 inches, with five inches falling in March.

There were 12 cloudy days, 13 clear and 6 partly cloudy days, for a sunshine average of 50 per cent, above the normal 40 per cent for the month.

Copeland also reported on the winter season, which he said extends from November through March. He said the temperature was about 2 degrees below normal on a daily basis average and rainfall was 1.28 inches under normal.

There were 11 nights of below zero temperatures — eight in January and three in February. February was the coldest month, with a 19.6-degree average. March was the warmest.

January had the most snow—8 inches. November had 3.5 inches, December 6.75 inches and February and March 5.

But All Appear Stunned

Reaction Among Ohioans Varies Over Johnson's Announcement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans, as well as the rest of the nation, were stunned by President Johnson's announcement Sunday night that he will not seek re-election.

They also lauded his statement to reduce the bombing of North Vietnam in an effort to end tht war.

At the same time, others said Johnson's withdrawal from the presidential race boosts the stock of the other Democratic candidates, such as Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota. Both have been gaining support from Ohioans.

Favorite Son

Eugene P. O'Grady, executive director of the state Democratic party, said the party will keep its commitment for the time being to the favorite son candidacy of Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio. O'Grady said Young had pledged to support Johnson for renomination.

But O'Grady said that if the state's slate of delegates to the national convention caucused today he had no doubt "Ohio Democrats would be for Kennedy, at least at this point."

O'Grady said Kennedy had contacted him by telephone to discuss Ohio's 115 convention votes.

"Where we'll go now is something else," O'Grady said. "But we'll remain committed to Sen. Young until as such time the delegates are elected to the convention."

O'Grady said he was "caught by surprise," and Johnson's statement "was certainly overwhelming."

Gilligan Reaction

Democratic senatorial candidate John J. Gilligan said Johnson's action to curtail the bombing of North Vietnam and "his unselfish decision not to seek the presidential nomination represents a tremendous step towards the peace that all Americans desire."

"We are all now challenged to match President Johnson's demonstration of unselfish determination to move in new directions towards peace in Vietnam and a revitalization of America," Gilligan added.

Hamilton County Democratic Chairman Vincent Beckman said Johnson showed great courage. "The importance of his decision, while it will mean much insofar as who the Democratic nominee will be, will have its main impact now on the Vietnam war."

Humphrey Speculation

Beckman and Sidney Weil Jr., Democratic executive committee chairman in Cincinnati, said it could mean that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will jump into the presidential race.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, one of the few Republican governors to openly support Johnson's Vietnam policies, could not be reached for comment Sunday night on the President's speech.

Also, neither Sens. Frank J. Lausche nor Stephen M. Young, Ohio Democrats, had any immediate comments. Lausche, seeking a third term, is being opposed by Gilligan for the Senate nomination in the May 7 primary.

Stokes Surprised

Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes, a Democrat, said, "It took me totally by surprise. I was shocked to learn of his position. I don't have the slightest idea now whom I would support."

State Republican Chairman John S. Andrews said, "I think it's a surprise, naturally. This seems to be the year of a lot of surprises.

"A month ago who would have thought at this time that Romney and Rockefeller would be withdrawing from the race —and now Johnson."

Andrews said he could not predict immediately how it would affect the Republican candidates. The Ohio Republican Party is pledged to Gov. Rhodes as a favorite son.

President Lauded

James V. Stanton, Cleveland City Council president, said, "President Johnson has placed his country first of all, above all political considerations, and has confirmed to millions of Americans that we must have unity during a period of national crises."

Paul J. DeGrandis, a vice chairman of the Cuyahoga County Democratic organization, said "I was goosepimpled from top to bottom. The next president of the United States will be here (Cleveland) next Friday." He referred to an appearance, scheduled by Sen. Kennedy at the City Club Forum in Cleveland.

Ohio backers of Sen. McCarthy said Johnson's withdrawal will boost McCarthy's chances for the Democratic nomination.

Dr. Martin Seltzer of Columbus, an Ohio leader in the McCarthy movement, said, "I think it adds more significance to our campaign and I think it gives us a very good chance of a strong showing for Sen. McCarthy at the convention." McCarthy is seeking delegate candidates for the national convention in five of Ohio's 24 congressional districts — the 2nd, 3rd, 12th, 13th and 22nd.

Seltzer called Johnson "a very brave man" for stepping out of the race.

Boost For McCarthy

In Cincinnati, Jack Piler, chairman of the Hamilton County McCarthy organization, said, "We feel the President's decision is a tremendous success for Sen. McCarthy because it once again proves that there is a strong, grass roots sentiment against Lyndon Johnson and the Vietnam war."

Piler said Johnson's decision came from "certain knowledge that McCarthy would defeat him in the Wisconsin primary Tuesday. Johnson felt he might reduce the sting of defeat and bow to his great pride by withdrawing. He may even have felt he could whip up some sympathy for himself and reduce the impact of the McCarthy vote Tuesday."

In an editorial, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said: "In voluntarily making his status that of a lame-duck president, Mr. Johnson offered the greatest sacrifice he could to prove his sincerity in the policy he has pursued in the Vietnamese war. Hanoi can no longer say he is playing politics . . . President Johnson is staking out his place in history on a sincere desire for peace in Asia."

Surprise, Surprise

No. 1 conversation over coffee across the tri-state area this morning was the collapse of the foregone conclusion — LBJ's candidacy for re-election.

The President's announcement Sunday night that he would not seek another term nor accept the candidacy should his party offer it was astonishing.

There was some reaction that this was a political play, that this was a move to get a solid backing from a party groundswell of appeal to keep a familiar and strong leader in the White House. Others pondered the true state of the President's health.

But the general attitude is that the nomination picture of 1968 has become a new ball game.

This is certainly true not only of the Democrat arena, where the Robert Kennedy decision last month now seems almost more than intuitive, but also for the Republicans whose current flag-bearer, Richard M. Nixon, has earned his support basically through anti-Johnson strategy.

Certainly Mr. Johnson himself will have much more to say on his party's selection for the November race.

And as the public, the politicians and pundits today mull over the affairs of these United States, it appears the time has not yet arrived when anyone can take anything for granted.

TRUMAN TWILL

Look For The Rainbow

Madmen were reaching for the throat of mankind in 1936 when this column started.

Hitler, Mussolini, Tojo and their authoritarian boot-lickers were marching minions up and down, getting them ready for the plunge into the maelstrom of mass murder.

A man could pop his sanity, reading the papers and listening to hte radio.

The American people were snarling and snapping at one another over "that man" in the White House and the strange people who surrounded him.

Most of us were still healing the wounds of the Great Depression. We still talked about jobs that had been shot from under us, banks that had collapsed with our savings buried in the ruins, the difficulty of running in a rat race under a heavy handicap of personal debt and political irreconcilability.

That was the atmosphere in which the column was born.

The idea was to write essays about "things of no importance," to balance the relentless drip-drip-drip of news about horror.

The world would go on, we contended, despite the warmup for mass murder in Spain. Germany and Italy were trying out their new engines of destruction there against victims whose yearning for freedom had thrust them into the maelstrom of international power politics.

Even in Spain, it was to turn out, lovers strolled by moonlight in Madrid during artillery barrages. Life went on somehow, as it was to go on later in Berlin, London, Tokyo — as it goes on now in Vietnam.

Therefore, the thing to do was to keep in close touch with it, to appreciate as many as possible of the things in life that compensated for cruelty, blood lust, hatred, evil conspiracies, mass stupidity avarice and authoritarianism.

There were still children, stars, animals, good humor, kindness, compassion and all the wonderful paraphernalia of pleasant existence. For most people, the terrible Machinations of unbalanced minds striving to destroy human decency were a safe distance away. It made no sense to dwell single-mindedly on evil when there was so much good.

That was how the Truman Twill column began 30 years ago.

This is how it ends.

The names of the madmen today are changed, that's all.

The minions are marching up and down. The maelstrom of murder is churning, eager for its accustomed ration of innocents. We again are snapping at one another over "that man" in the White House, as if he mattered all that much one way or the other.

We have new scars, new grievances, new handicaps, except they're the same old ones we had before.

And the world goes on . . . and on . . . and on.

Be sure to keep in touch with it. Appreciate it. Enjoy all the things that compensate for the antics of the madmen. The madmen will be with you always.

So will the nice things if you look for them.

'T. Twill' Retires

Darrel L. Mansell, associate editor of Brush-Moore Newspapers and author of the "Truman Twill" column which has appeared in The Review, retired Saturday.

Clayton G. Horn, executive editor of Brush-Moore Newspapers at Canton, announced William L. Hopper is succeeding Mansell as associate editor. The Review is a member of the Brush-Moore group.

Hopper attended high school in Darke County, Ohio, and Earlham College at Richmond, Ind. He was a newsman with the Richmond Palladium-Item from 1959 to 1961 when he joined the Greenville (Ohio) Advocate, where he successively was assistant city editor, city editor and managing editor.

He joined The Canton Repository news staff in July 1966 and for the last year and a half has been assisting Mansell as an editorial writer.

Mansell closes out a 39-year career with The Repository, whose news staff he joined in 1929 after graduation from Hiram College. He launched his column under the "Truman Twill" pen name in April 1938 and had written it continuously since.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Appearing in the East Liverpool city traffic court last week helped me understand why we have such a lack of communication between our law enforcement officers (patrolmen, bailiffs and judges) and the average citizen.

Being in court for a speeding violation—60 m.p.h. in a 50 m.p.h. zone — doesn't necessitate common criminal treatment. If the city officials expect respect, they should treat people like equals, not serfs.

Punishment for an offense must be consistent and directly related to the crime to be effective. In my case, two violators prosecuted for twice the speeding violation as mine were fined less.

I feel the judge's comment, "This is a bad example for your students," has nothing to do with my violation. Letting an individual's occupation or personal life enter into a judgment is discriminatory.

If people are discriminated against for their occupation, there is no doubt in my mind that they are also judged for their color or creed.

EDWARD C. HENRY
Wellsville

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I'm writing to tell you the terrible thing that happened Wednesday morning.

I was watching my friend getting ready to go to the Army, when he arrived in Lisbon to get on the bus, the Sheriff came and took him with him because he owed a juvenile fine.

I could understand it if he was trying to beat the draft, but he wasn't. He wanted to leave and make a good soldier for his country. It is not everyday you'll find a young boy willing to go fight for his country.

In my opinion, he didn't owe them anything. They owed him something because he was going to serve his country, which might have led to Vietnam. He was going like a real soldier, and then the Sheriff took him away, he was still taking it like a man.

When the Army does get him, they will have a brave soldier that his country will be proud of, because he proved his manhood in front of a crowd Wednesday morning.

MELINDA WILLIAMS

(Editor's Note: The youth owed $100 of a $150 imposed by Juvenile Court some time ago, and he was taken into custody by a Deputy Sheriff for failure to pay this obligation to the court.)

Spanking Discussion

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

I rarely take an interest in a divorce story, but last week I was intrigued by Actress Dyan Cannon's divorce suit against movie actor Cary Grant. In the course of the testimony, Mrs. Grant charged that her husband spanked her. But Mr. Grant's lawyer defended the actor by stating his client had only spanked his wife for "reasonable and adequate causes."

Art Buchwald

My mind boggled when I read this and I immediately called my lawyer and asked him what was legally considered a "reasonable and adequate cause" for spanking one's wife.

My lawyer, one of the great legal minds of this country, said: "This is the seventh call I've gotten today. I didn't realize Cary Grant had such an ardent following."

"Just answer the question," I said.

"WELL, EACH state provides 'reasonable and adequate' causes for spanking a wife, but there are also general standards which are accepted in all 50 states."

"Could you give me some examples?"

"First, you must prove provocation beyond a shadow of a doubt. For example, if your wife interrupts you while you're telling a joke in mixed company, you, of course, have a right to spank her."

"Is nagging sufficient cause?"

"Not nagging per se, but if she keeps repeating herself over and over again, you can swat her."

"What if she's constantly late?"

"That goes under the heading of chronic tardiness. Tardiness was upheld in the Conrad vs. Conrad divorce case of 1954. If you recall, Mrs. Conrad was always late when they were going out to dinner. So one night Conrad let her have it.

"Mrs. Conrad sued for cruelty, but lost."

"Because the judge said it was okay for Mr. Conrad to have spanked her?" I asked.

My lawyer said there were many mitigating circumstances for paddling your wife. One of the most serious was if she showed willful disregard for times when you were trying to sleep and she wanted to talk.

He added: "When you discuss spanking your wife, you must always keep in mind three guidelines: one is motive, two is intent and three is desire. What was her motive in bugging you? How long did she intend to pursue it? And when did you desire to strike back?

"ANOTHER THING to keep in mind is how you commit the assault. In the case of Cary Grant, the testimony related he grinned when he spanked his wife. Now this was a wise thing. If you always grin when you strike your wife, you can never be accused of malice."

"Are there any legal reasons for spanking your wife?"

"Failure to report telephone messages could be one. If she relates a confidence to a friend, you have just cause. The most serious, though, and one no judge in the land would rule against is if she forgets to put gas in the car."

"If you're in doubt," I asked, "is it better to strike her or to check first to see if you have legitimate grounds?"

"This question comes up all the time. We usually go by the Linseed vs. Linseed ruling of 1949 in which the judge ruled that the reason for spanking your wife is not as important as when you do it."

"I don't understand."

"The judge, in his historic Linseed decision, said that a wife must only be spanked reasonably close to the act of disobedience. Otherwise, she will not relate the spanking to the disobedient act. Also, the spanking must be swift, but not harsh, and you may never leave any marks. Above all else, you must smile while you're doing it."

Blunders By Bobby

By Bruce Biossat

The feeling grows that in his first days as a presidential campaigner Sen. Robert Kennedy has added immeasurably to his already heavy handicaps.

He stunned Washington by identifying himself with a proposal which is widely viewed as a suggestion to usurp the President's powers as commander-in-chief — a study commission whose only duty, in fact, would have been to tell Lyndon Johnson how to conduct Vietnam policy to better effect.

Aside from the serious question of judgment involved in this cavalier appraisal of the nature of the presidency, Kennedy made matters worse by linking this proposal with his decision of whether to enter the presidential race.

This gave to the "commission idea" the flavor of an ultimatum, which has freshly underscored the image of the ruthless young man which the senator has been at pains to erase for the last four years.

This is only the most dramatic in what many political veterans see as a veritable catalogue of Kennedy errors since he first declared on March 13 he was reconsidering a 1968 race.

FEW SEASONED Democrats were impressed with his offer of a withered olive branch to Johnson's prior rival, Sen. Eugene McCarthy. The general view is that Kennedy's muscle and money will be used inevitably to bulldoze McCarthy in the key California, Oregon and South Dakota primaries.

McCarthy men, themselves, feel that Kennedy's repeated reference to the April 23 Pennsylvania primary, which the New Yorker generously is leaving to the Monnesotan, reveals the transparency of the former's "harmony" bid.

McCarthy did not enter that primary, whose deadline was Feb. 13. He plans no write-in effort, and as yet has mounted no serious undertaking to woo Pennsylvania's 13 Democratic convention votes. They would not, in any event, be bound by a write-in result.

McCarthy aides see Kennedy's mention of Pennsylvania as a "big nothing" thrown their way to emphasize the harmony gambit. Actually, Kennedy himself will need to woo those votes quickly and heavily if he is to have any hope of dislodging the President.

In grave question, too, is Kennedy's credibility in the entire matter of when and why he chose to run.

His statements on the Kennedy-Johnson commission episode contained the flat assertion he decided to run on the night of March 14. But newsmen who have dogged his and his aides' heels in recent days have been given various earlier dates as the time of decision.

Again, Kennedy's "commission" statement indicates his distress over the conduct of the war was his reason for getting in. Yet his reasons stated on March 13 were five in number, and stressed hard his judgment that McCarthy's New Hampshire primary showing proved that Democratic party divisions Kennedy feared might flow from his entry were already in existence.

THE RESISTANCE which reporters' inquiries disclose among countless party regulars coast to coast suggests that the rift exhibited by New Hampshire is nothing like the bloody combat which will now ensue as result of Kennedy's full-scale campaign.

Furthermore, polls by Louis Harris and Oliver Quayle taken in New Hampshire late in the game showed that Democratic hawks accounted for roughly half of McCarthy's vote.

Half the state's Democratic voters did not know McCarthy himself was a dove on Vietnam. His vote was an across-the-board anti-LBJ vote.

Thus, the man who wishes to maximize opposition to the President the country over would seem to have to emphasize every aspect of his stewardship, including his style and personal trustworthiness. But this presages the very kind of bitter personality feud Kennedy said he never wanted to conduct in the campaign of 1968.

RAYMOND MOLEY

GOP Strategy

In the aftermath of Nelson Rockefeller's declaration of noncandidacy, there have been the expected expressions of regret, frustration and downright despair from the "moderate" old Guard.

Sens. Thruston Morton and Jacob Javits announced the formation of an "alternative for Republicans" campaign to draft Rockefeller. "Alternative" to what? Richard Nixon, of course.

For most of those people have always been of the stop-Nixon sort. Their advice to Rockefeller has been "Let's you and him fight." All this, regardless of what might happen to their party or to Rockefeller himself in such a blood-letting.

But the governor, before reaching a decision, had, as he explained, explored all the realities. Those considerations were lucidly explained in a dispatch to the Washington Post by David S. Broder, who, in my opinion, is one of the foremost political reporters on the current scene.

Broder said: "As in 1960 and 1964, the liberal Republicans were the victims of their own myths and misconceptions. Instead of the 17 or 18 (of 26) Republican governors they calimed were in his (Rockefeller's) camp, exactly six came to the first major meeting on his prospective candidacy.

INSTEAD OF the 25 senators (of 36) supposed to be favorable to him, 17 came to meet him for breakfast, and five of the 17 told him to his face that they were for Nixon.

Then when Rockefeller invited a group of 30 to his house for consultation 10 days before his announcement, some of the people closest to him said that a clash with Nixon in Oregon would be costly, divisive and inconclusive.

For if he had filed to remove his name in Oregon, the Nebraska secretary of state would certainly have ignored his affidavit there and restored him to the ballot. And a defeat in Nebraska 14 days before Oregon would negate a victory in Oregon.

But apparently the editorial writers in the New York Times and Washington Post do not read the dispatches to their own newspapers. For both newspapers have demanded a vigorous public debate between Rockefeller and Nixon. And these pundits cling to the hope that such an intraparty struggle would sway enough delegates to draft Rockefeller.

They fail to realize that such a debate would quickly degenerate into a personal clash, and thus the 1964 routine would be replayed. Since both newspapers have not editorially supported a Republican candidate since Dwight Eisenhower, perhaps a Republican split is exactly what they want. And both newspapers have bitterly attacked Nixon for many years.

The course chosen by Rockefeller, he says, would seek a Republican consensus "in quiet party councils, and in occasional public forums . . . I shall not, however, be speaking as a candidate. And I shall not speak against any candidate. I shall be striving to help my party and its presidential nominee to define the great issues with clarity and to face them with courage."

With both Rockefeller and Nixon following that course, it will be not only possible but probable that a party platform will emerge upon which all reasonable Republicans can stand. And those who cannot stand on such a platform will find it difficult to find any other foothold.

BOTH ROCKEFELLER and Nixon are members of the Republican Co-ordinating Committee created by the Republican National Committee. This group has had several meetings since 1965 and has reached agreement on statements of policies on the issues — statements which have been published by the national committee and widely distributed.

Thus, there has been more preparation for the drafting of a platform than perhaps ever before in Republican history. It can be written without the usual confusion and heated debate immediately before the convention comes to the business of nominaitng candidates. The document can, with reasonable compromises, meet the needs of a national party in which differences in sectional and personal viewpoints are not only necessary but desirable.

With clashes of personal ambitions removed, Rockefeller, Nixon and other leaders can concentrate on agreement upon issues suitable to the needs of the party unity in the campaign ahead. As an alternative to the presently divided Democrats, this should be refreshing to a sorely tried electorate.

Surprise, Surprise

No. 1 conversation over coffee across the tri-state area this morning was the collapse of the foregone conclusion — LBJ's candidacy for re-election.

The President's announcement Sunday night that he would not seek another term nor accept the candidacy should his party offer it was astonishing.

There was some reaction that this was a political play, that this was a move to get a solid backing from a party groundswell of appeal to keep a familiar and strong leader in the White House. Others pondered the true state of the President's health.

But the general attitude is that the nomination picture of 1968 has become a new ball game.

This is certainly true not only of the Democrat arena, where the Robert Kennedy decision last month now seems almost more than intuitive, but also for the Republicans whose current flag-bearer, Richard M. Nixon, has earned his support basically through anti-Johnson strategy.

Certainly Mr. Johnson himself will have much more to say on his party's selection for the November race.

And as the public, the politicians and pundits today mull over the affairs of these United States, it appears the time has not yet arrived when anyone can take anything for granted.

TRUMAN TWILL

Look For The Rainbow

Madmen were reaching for the throat of mankind in 1938 when this column started.

Hitler, Mussolini, Tojo and their authoritarian boot-lickers were marching minions up and down, getting them ready for the plunge into the maelstrom of mass murder.

A man could pop his sanity, reading the papers and listening to hte radio.

The American people were snarling and snapping at one another over "that man" in the White House and the strange people who surrounded him.

Most of us were still healing the wounds of the Great Depression. We still talked about jobs that had been shot from under us, banks that had collapsed with our savings buried in the ruins, the difficulty of running in a rat race under a heavy handicap of personal debt and political irreconcilability.

That was the atmosphere in which the column was born.

The idea was to write essays about "things of no importance," to balance the relentless drip-drip-drip of news about horror.

The world would go on, we contended, despite the warmup for mass murder in Spain. Germany and Italy were trying out their new engines of destruction there against victims whose yearning for freedom had thrust them into the maelstrom of international power politics.

Even in Spain, it was to turn out, lovers strolled by moonlight in Madrid during artillery barrages. Life went on somehow, as it was to go on later in Berlin, London, Tokyo — as it goes on now in Vietnam.

Therefore, the thing to do was to keep in close touch with it, to appreciate as many as possible of the things in life that compensated for cruelty, blood lust, hatred, evil conspiracies, mass stupidity avarice and authoritarianism.

There were still children, stars, animals, good humor, kindness, compassion and all the wonderful paraphernalia of pleasant existence. For most people, the terrible Machinations of unbalanced minds striving to destroy human decency were a safe distance away. It made no sense to dwell single-mindedly on evil when there was so much good.

That was how the Truman Twill column began 30 years ago.

This is how it ends.

The names of the madmen today are changed, that's all.

The minions are marching up and down. The maelstrom of murder is churning, eager for its accustomed ration of innocents. We again are snapping at one another over "that man" in the White House, as if he mattered all that much one way or the other.

We have new scars, new grievances, new handicaps, except they're the same old ones we had before.

And the world goes on . . . and on . . . and on.

Be sure to keep in touch with it. Appreciate it. Enjoy all the things that compensate for the antics of the madmen. The madmen will be with you always.

So will the nice things if you look for them.

'T. Twill' Retires

Darrel L. Mansell, associate editor of Brush-Moore Newspapers and author of the "Truman Twill" column which has appeared in The Review, retired Saturday.

Clayton G. Horn, executive editor of Brush-Moore Newspapers at Canton, announced William L. Hopper is succeeding Mansell as associate editor. The Review is a member of the Brush-Moore group.

Hopper attended high school in Darke County, Ohio, and Earlham College at Richmond, Ind. He was a newsman with the Richmond Palladium-Item from 1959 to 1961 when he joined the Greenville (Ohio) Advocate, where he successively was assistant city editor, city editor and managing editor.

He joined The Canton Repository news staff in July 1966 and for the last year and a half has been assisting Mansell as an editorial writer.

Mansell closes out a 39-year career with The Repository, whose news staff he joined in 1929 after graduation from Hiram College. He launched his column under the "Truman Twill" pen name in April 1938 and had written it continusly since.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Appearing in the East Liverpool city traffic court last week helped me understand why we have such a lack of communication between our law enforcement officers (patrolmen, bailiffs and judges) and the average citizen.

Being in court for a speeding violation—60 m.p.h. in a 50 m.p.h. zone — doesn't necessitate common criminal treatment. If the city officials expect respect, they should treat people like equals, not serfs.

Punishment for an offense must be consistent and directly related to the crime to be effective. In my case, two violators prosecuted for twice the speeding violation as mine were fined less.

I feel the judge's comment, "This is a bad example for your students," has nothing to do with my violation. Letting an individual's occupation or personal life enter into a judgment is discriminatory.

If people are discriminated against for their occupation, there is no doubt in my mind that they are also judged for their color or creed.

EDWARD C. HENRY
Wellsville

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I'm writing to tell you the terrible thing that happened Wednesday morning.

I was watching my friend getting ready to go to the Army, when he arrived in Lisbon to get on the bus, the Sheriff came and took him with him because he owed a juvenile fine.

I could understand it if he was trying to beat the draft, but he wasn't. He wanted to leave and make a good soldier for his country. It is not everyday you'll find a young boy willing to go fight for his country.

In my opinion, he didn't owe them anything. They owed him something because he was going to serve his country, which might have led to Vietnam. He was going like a real soldier, and then the Sheriff took him away, he was still taking it like a man.

When the Army does get him, they will have a brave soldier that his country will be proud of, because he proved his manhood in front of a crowd Wednesday morning.

MELINDA WILLIAMS
Calcutta

(Editor's Note: The youth owed $100 of a $150 imposed by Juvenile Court some time ago, and he was taken into custody by a Deputy Sheriff for failure to pay this obligation to the court.)

Spanking Discussion

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

I rarely take an interest in a divorce story, but last week I was intrigued by Actress Dyan Cannon's divorce suit against movie actor Cary Grant. In the course of the testimony, Mrs. Grant charged that her husband spanked her. But Mr. Grant's lawyer defended the actor by stating his client had only spanked his wife for "reasonable and adequate causes."

Art Buchwald

My mind boggled when I read this and I immediately called my lawyer and asked him what was legally considered a "reasonable and adequate cause" for spanking one's wife.

My lawyer, one of the great legal minds of this country, said: "This is the seventh call I've gotten today. I didn't realize Cary Grant had such an ardent following."

"Just answer the question," I said.

"WELL, EACH state provides 'reasonable and adequate' causes for spanking a wife, but there are also general standards which are accepted in all 50 states."

"Could you give me some examples?"

"First, you must prove provocation beyond a shadow of a doubt. For example, if your wife interrupts you while you're telling a joke in mixed company, you, of course, have a right to spank her."

"Is nagging sufficient cause?"

"Not nagging per se, but if she keeps repeating herself over and over again, you can swat her."

"What if she's constantly late?"

"That goes under the heading of chronic tardiness. Tardiness was upheld in the Conrad vs. Conrad divorce case of 1954. If you recall, Mrs. Conrad was always late when they were going out to dinner. So one night Conrad let her have it.

"Mrs. Conrad sued for cruelty, but lost."

"Because the judge said it was okay for Mr. Conrad to have spanked her?" I asked.

My lawyer said there were many mitigating circumstances for paddling your wife. One of the most serious was if she showed willful disregard for times when you were trying to sleep and she wanted to talk.

He added: "When you discuss spanking your wife, you must always keep in mind three guidelines: one is motive, two is intent and three is desire. What was her motive in bugging you? How long did she intend to pursue it? And when did you desire to strike back?

"ANOTHER THING to keep in mind is how you commit the assault. In the case of Cary Grant, the testimony related he grinned when he spanked his wife. Now this was a wise thing. If you always grin when you strike your wife, you can never be accused of malice."

"Are there any legal reasons for spanking your wife?"

"Failure to report telephone messages could be one. If she relates a confidence to a friend, you have just cause. The most serious, though, and one no judge in the land would rule against is if she forgets to put gas in the car."

"If you're in doubt," I asked, "is it better to strike her or to check first to see if you have legitimate grounds?"

"This question comes up all the time. We usually go by the Linseed vs. Linseed ruling of 1949 in which the judge ruled that the reason for spanking your wife is not as important as when you do it."

"I don't understand."

"The judge, in his historic Linseed decision, said that a wife must only be spanked reasonably close to the act of disobedience. Otherwise, she will not relate the spanking to the disobedient act. Also, the spanking must be swift, but not harsh, and you may never leave any marks. Above all else, you must smile while you're doing it."

Blunders By Bobby

By Bruce Biossat

The feeling grows that in his first days as a presidential campaigner Sen. Robert Kennedy has added immeasurably to his already heavy handicaps.

He stunned Washington by identifying himself with a proposal which is widely viewed as a suggestion to usurp the President's powers as commander-in-chief — a study commission whose only duty, in fact, would have been to tell Lyndon Johnson how to conduct Vietnam policy to better effect.

Aside from the serious question of judgment involved in this cavalier appraisal of the nature of the presidency, Kennedy made matters worse by linking this proposal with his decision of whether to enter the presidential race.

This gave to the "commission idea" the flavor of an ultimatum, which has freshly underscored the image of the ruthless young man which the senator has been at pains to erase for the last four years.

This is only the most dramatic in what many political veterans see as a veritable catalogue of Kennedy errors since he first declared on March 13 he was reconsidering a 1968 race.

FEW SEASONED Democrats were impressed with his offer of a withered olive branch to Johnson's prior rival, Sen. Eugene McCarthy. The general view is that Kennedy's muscle and money will be used inevitably to bulldoze McCarthy in the key California, Oregon and South Dakota primaries.

McCarthy men, themselves, feel that Kennedy's repeated reference to the April 23 Pennsylvania primary, which the New Yorker generously is leaving to the Monnesotan, reveals the transparency of the former's "harmony" bid.

McCarthy did not enter that primary, whose deadline was Feb. 13. He plans no write-in effort, and as yet has mounted no serious undertaking to woo Pennsylvania's 13 Democratic convention votes. They would not, in any event, be bound by a write-in result.

McCarthy aides see Kennedy's mention of Pennsylvania as a "big nothing" thrown their way to emphasize the harmony gambit. Actually, Kennedy himself will need to woo those votes quickly and heavily if he is to have any hope of dislodging the President.

In grave question, too, is Kennedy's credibility in the entire matter of when and why he chose to run.

His statements on the Kennedy-Johnson commission episode contained the flat assertion he decided to run on the night of March 14. But newsmen who have dogged his and his aides' heels in recent days have been given various earlier dates as the time of decision.

Again, Kennedy's "commission" statement indicates his distress over the conduct of the war was his reason for getting in. Yet his reasons stated on March 13 were five in number, and stressed hard his judgment that McCarthy's New Hampshire primary showing proved that Democratic party divisions Kennedy feared might flow from his entry were already in existence.

THE RESISTANCE which reporters' inquiries disclose among countless party regulars coast to coast suggests that the rift exhibited by New Hampshire is nothing like the bloody combat which will now ensue as result of Kennedy's full-scale campaign.

Furthermore, polls by Louis Harris and Oliver Quayle taken in New Hampshire late in the game showed that Democratic hawks accounted for roughly half of McCarthy's vote.

Half the state's Democratic voters did not know McCarthy himself was a dove on Vietnam. His vote was an across-the-board anti-LBJ vote.

Thus, the man who wishes to maximize opposition to the President the country over would seem to have to emphasize every aspect of his stewardship, including his style and personal trustworthiness. But this presages the very kind of bitter personality feud Kennedy said he never wanted to conduct in the campaign of 1968.

RAYMOND MOLEY

GOP Strategy

In the aftermath of Nelson Rockefeller's declaration of noncandidacy, there have been the expected expressions of regret, frustration and downright despair from the "moderate" old Guard.

Sens. Thruston Morton and Jacob Javits announced the formation of an "alternative for Republicans" campaign to draft Rockefeller. "Alternative" to what? Richard Nixon, of course.

For most of those people have always been of the stop-Nixon sort. Their advice to Rockefeller has been "Let's you and him fight." All this, regardless of what might happen to their party or to Rockefeller himself in such a blood-letting.

But the governor, before reaching a decision, had, as he explained, explored all the realities. Those considerations were lucidly explained in a dispatch to the Washington Post by David S. Broder, who, in my opinion, is one of the foremost political reporters on the current scene.

Broder said: "As in 1960 and 1964, the liberal Republicans were the victims of their own myths and misconceptions. Instead of the 17 or 18 (of 26) Republican governors they calimed were in his (Rockefeller's) camp, exactly six came to the first major meeting on his prospective candidacy.

INSTEAD OF the 25 senators (of 36) supposed to be favorable to him, 17 came to meet him for breakfast, and five of the 17 told him to his face that they were for Nixon.

Then when Rockefeller invited a group of 30 to his house for consultation 10 days before his announcement, some of the people closest to him said that a clash with Nixon in Oregon would be costly, divisive and inconclusive.

For if he had filed to remove his name in Oregon, the Nebraska secretary of state would certainly have ignored his affidavit there and restored him to the ballot. And a defeat in Nebraska 14 days before Oregon would negate a victory in Oregon.

But apparently the editorial writers in the New York Times and Washington Post do not read the dispatches to their own newspapers. For both newspapers have demanded a vigorous public debate between Rockefeller and Nixon. And these pundits cling to the hope that such an intraparty struggle would sway enough delegates to draft Rockefeller.

They fail to realize that such a debate would quickly degenerate into a personal clash, and thus the 1964 routine would be replayed. Since both newspapers have not editorially supported a Republican candidate since Dwight Eisenhower, perhaps a Republican split is exactly what they want. And both newspapers have bitterly attacked Nixon for many years.

The course chosen by Rockefeller, he says, would seek a Republican consensus "in quiet party councils, and in occasional public forums . . . I shall not, however, be speaking as a candidate. And I shall not speak against any candidate. I shall be striving to help my party and its presidential nominee to define the great issues with clarity and to face them with courage."

With both Rockefeller and Nixon following that course, it will be not only possible but probable that a party platform will emerge upon which all reasonable Republicans can stand. And those who cannot stand on such a platform will find it difficult to find any other foothold.

BOTH ROCKEFELLER and Nixon are members of the Republican Co-ordinating Committee created by the Republican National Committee. Santoriello Convicted

Another Hearing Gets Under Way In Red Dog Case

WHEELING — The trial of James Beck was to get under way here this afternoon in U.S. District Court following Saturday's conviction of Joseph E. Santoriello on a charge of traveling interstate to promote a gambling operation at the Red Dog casino in Hancock County.

Santoriello was indicted on two counts, one of which was dropped at the request of government counsel William Hyatt, of the U.S. Justice Department, just before the case was given to the jury.

COUNT one of the indictment charged Santoriello with traveling from Pittsburgh to the Red Dog on Oct. 25 for the purpose of furthering and engaging in an illegal business enterprise (gambling) and count two was the same charge but under date of Oct. 27, which was dropped.

The three-day trial got under way Wednesday and was constantly delayed by repeated conferences by the court and attorneys for both sides.

In an emotional closing plea to the jury, Defense Counsel Samuel J. Reich of Pittsburgh called the government's case "pitiful and shocking" and described the two undercover agents, who were key witnesses for the government, as "two high - powered agents from out of town" who did not understand "the local situation."

HYATT, in a cooler tone, reminded the jury that "the central issue of this whole case is whether or not you believe the agents Fergoli and Rothgeb."

These last two had testified earlier that as undercover men for the Internal Revenue Service they had observed Santoriello on numerous times at the Red Dog, describing him as "an overseer of some kind," and one of the men said Santoriello had told him he lived in Pittsburgh, which had been the government's contention throughout the case.

Memphis Police Concerned Over Negro Funeral

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Police expressed concern over the prospects of throngs of Negroes, passing through lines of National Guardsmen to attend the funeral of a teen-age boy killed during last week's racial disorders here.

A wake for Larry Payne, 16, was scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. today and continue until 8 p.m., one hour after the city's nightly curfew begins.

The curfew was clamped on Memphis by Mayor Henry Loeb Thursday after a march led by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., in support of striking garbage collectors turned into a riot.

The disquiet, chiefly in the form of nightly vandalism, continued into the early morning hours today. Police reported youths plundering stores, minor fire bombings, disturbances and curfew violations. The arrest total, already several hundred, continued to mount.

Officers Probe 3 Local Crashes During Weekend

East Liverpool police investigated three minor traffic mishaps over the weekend.

A collision Saturday shortly before noon at W. 6th St. and Peach Alley involved a 1963 sedan driven by Pamela S. Melott, 20, of 202 Indiana Ave., Chester, and a parked 1960 sedan owned by Arnold Hariless of 931 Lisbon St.

The young woman said she was pulling out of Peach Alley when a car eastbound on W. 6th St. pulled into the right - hand lane. When she swerved to avoid a collision, her car hit the parked auto, she said. There was damage to the right side of the Melott car and the left side of the Hariless auto.

A mishap on an East End service station's parking lot Saturday at 6:08 p. m. involved a backing 1965 sedan operated by Raymond Nallay of New Brighton and a parked 1960 sedan owned by Frank Wolfe of 1709 Pennsylvania Ave., officers said. Nallay backed from the parking lot at the Harker Ave. Cafe and bumped the left rear of the Wolfe auto, which was directly to the rear of a parking lot at the Wilson Service Station, officers said.

Meanwhile, Kenneth Galas of 1720 Smithfield St. told police the rear bumper of his 1962 two-door was damaged when struck by a hit-skip car about 2:09 p.m. Saturday while parked on St. Clair Ave. south of Welch Alley.

Memphis Police Concerned Over Negro Funeral

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Police expressed concern over the prospects of throngs of Negroes, passing through lines of National Guardsmen to attend the funeral of a teen-age boy killed during last week's racial disorders here.

A wake for Larry Payne, 16, was scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. today and continue until 8 p.m., one hour after the city's nightly curfew begins.

The curfew was clamped on Memphis by Mayor Henry Loeb Thursday after a march led by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., in support of striking garbage collectors turned into a riot.

The disquiet, chiefly in the form of nightly vandalism, continued into the early morning hours today. Police reported youths plundering stores, minor fire bombings, disturbances and curfew violations. The arrest total, already several hundred, continued to mount.

Officers Probe 3 Local Crashes During Weekend

East Liverpool police investigated three minor traffic mishaps over the weekend.

A collision Saturday shortly before noon at W. 6th St. and Peach Alley involved a 1963 sedan driven by Pamela S. Melott, 20, of 202 Indiana Ave., Chester, and a parked 1960 sedan owned by Arnold Hariless of 931 Lisbon St.

The young woman said she was pulling out of Peach Alley when a car eastbound on W. 6th St. pulled into the right - hand lane. When she swerved to avoid a collision, her car hit the parked auto, she said. There was damage to the right side of the Melott car and the left side of the Hariless auto.

A mishap on an East End service station's parking lot Saturday at 6:08 p. m. involved a backing 1965 sedan operated by Raymond Nallay of New Brighton and a parked 1960 sedan owned by Frank Wolfe of 1709 Pennsylvania Ave., officers said. Nallay backed from the parking lot at the Harker Ave. Cafe and bumped the left rear of the Wolfe auto, which was directly to the rear of a parking lot at the Wilson Service Station, officers said.

Meanwhile, Kenneth Galas of 1720 Smithfield St. told police the rear bumper of his 1962 two-door was damaged when struck by a hit-skip car about 2:09 p.m. Saturday while parked on St. Clair Ave. south of Welch Alley.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Prepare For Emergency

DEAR FOLKS: Have you ever thought about what you would do if an unexpected accident happened in your home and someone needed professional medical aid quickly to save their life?

Heloise

You are probably thinking you would put them in the car and rush to the hospital as quickly as possible, blowing the horn all the way.

In the first place, do NOT put your hand on the horn and hold it there. In your excited state, you need both hands on the wheel. Remember, some cars get stuck horns and the car in front of you may not even move over. When you need it, tap it in "Morse code" fashion and if you don't know Morse code who cares? At least the driver ahead of you will get the idea that your horn ain't stuck after all, and move over.

Next time you take a Sunday drive, TIME yourself and see just how many minutes it takes you to get from your own home to the nearest hospital. We know Sunday is a lazy day and traffic won't be heavy then. So the following week test it in heavy traffic. You might be amazed at the longer time it takes.

I learned recently after seeing an accident at a friend's house that it was 29 minutes by AMBULANCE — with the siren blasting — to the nearest hospital! Someone could die in 29 minutes when first-aid could save their life.

If you don't have a car or can't drive, it's best to pick up the telephone and dial "0" for operator and tell her your problems. DON'T hang up the phone unless she tells you to. In emergencies, people sometimes lose their "cool."

That sweet telephone operator will call the nearest doctor, ambulance, fire department or police car. (They carry first-aid equipment.) That operator wants to hear what's going on so she can help you.

One time when a friend had an acute attack in our home a precious telephone operator called the nearest fire department. They got there before the ambulance did and saved her life.

I suggest making two lists of telephone numbers — police, fire department and doctor. Also jot down HOW MANY MINUTES IT IS TO THE NEAREST HOSPITAL. Tape one list on your telephone and the other on your first-aid kit. Seems like we always rush to the kit first. So you can just bet your boots this might save a loved one's life.

DEAR HELOISE: Has your baby's highchair or table caused a black mark where it has rubbed against the wall? I just put a strip or two of cellophane (or masking tape) over the metal edges and prevent a damaged wall.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep my little boy's blue denim tennis shoes looking nice between washings, I clean the white rubber part with rubbing alcohol.

That alcohol cleans 'em in a jiffy. No trouble at all.

DEAR HELOISE: Have you ever tried putting leftover rice, which has already been cooked into your pancake batter? It's really good.

DEAR HELOISE: For those musty mothball odors in clothes, try putting the garments in the clothes dryer and letting them tumble for five or 10 minutes.

They will come out like they've been freshly laundered or cleaned.

GRANNY WALLACE.

DEAR HELOISE: When hand-sewing patches on the knees of my little boy's jeans, I always insert an aluminum ice cube tray into the leg of the pants.

E.E.J.

DEAR HELOISE: If a bedridden person becomes sensitive to a hard mattress, place a small, fluffy, cut-pile nylon rug with a soft rubber backing under the sheet. Helps prevent bed sores and acts as a cushion.

AWOL Soldier Due Hearing On Murder Charge

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)— A 19 - year-old soldier absent without leave from Ft. Campbell, Ky., is scheduled to appear for arraignment in Franklin Municipal Court today in the slaying of a Middletown housewife March 17.

Kerry McLean Martin, who gave his home address as Middletown, was charged Saturday with first-degree murder of Mrs. Jenella Haynes, 29, whose battered body was found on a wooded knoll in Franklin Township, just east of Middletown.

Martin was taken into custody by Middletown police Friday night and initially held on the AWOL charge. He later was charged with the murder by the Warren County sheriff's office.

Kennedy

unity during the coming months."

Kennedy was asked how he thought Johnson's withdrawal might affect Vice Presdent Hubert H. Humprey, now regarded as a possble candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Kennedy replied: "He's had a very distinguished record and I just don't know what his plans might be. Certainly the answer to that must come from him."

The 42-year-old senator from New York declared: "I'm going to the American people as I have and present my views and ideas of what we need to do in our country."

Kennedy, propelled into the forefront of the race for the Democratic presidential nomination less than three weeks after his entry, returned Sunday night from an extended campaign trip in the west.

"Wherever I went," he said, "I found Americans of all ages, of all colors and political beliefs, deeply desirous of peace in Vietnam and desirous of reconciliation at home."

Kennedy continued: "Despite all the discord and dispirit...there remains in the country an enormous reservoir of good spirit and hope. I want to make the country more liveable for all Americans. I want peace in Vietnam, not by surrender but by negotiated settlement that takes into account all the needs of all Vietnamese to determine the future of their country."

tary commander in Vietnam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

"His visit didn't bring it about," Johnson explained at a news conference hurriedly arranged just before midnight in the yellow oval room of the White House living quarters.

"His visit coincided with when I turned the corner."

Christian is one of those who had the President's confidence. He said of the blockbuster announcement:

"I think he really has been giving it hard consideration for about the last year. I think he and Mrs. Johnson have just been counting the days on when they might get out."

Announcement Prepared

Christian said, too, that he was working during the fall on a speech for Johnson which would have incorporated the Sunday announcement. He said Johnson had in his pocket in writing what would have been the announcement when he addressed Congress on Jan. 17.

With the decision made and announced, the President traded a suit coat for a blue shirt jacket with a mandarin collar and turned up at the post mortem news conference eating a cup of chocolate pudding—probably low calorie.

Mixed Reaction

Questioned about the family's reaction, the President used the same term his wife had used:

"Oh, I think it's a mixed reaction. I can't really speak for them. But I think they all go along with the decision I made. Lynda hasn't been here and she wasn't sure it was as immediate as it was.

There was a clue, perhaps, to Mrs. Johnson's thinking last month.

Johnson had seen former Rep. Carl Vinson at a Marietta, Ga., ceremony and was telling Lady Bird with considerable enthusiasm how well Vinson was faring in retirement.

Thieves Enter Home In Georgetown Area

GEORGETOWN — Pennsylvania State Police continued investigation of a burglary at the home of Charles W. Andrews of RD 1 Sunday in which $18 in silver coins were taken.

Andrews told officers the intruders entered the home sometime between 6 and 9 p.m. A window was smashed to reach a door which was then unlocked by the thieves.

Surprise

it was clear his candidacy had not won the wide acceptance he had hoped for.

Romney's departure seemed to clear the way for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to take up the race against Nixon.

Even the New Yorker's closest supporters seemed stunned when he announced at a March 21 news conference that he wouldn't run.

On the Democratic side it was not a departure but an arrival that provided the biggest surprise before Johnson sent his shock wave through the world.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who began the year promising to support Johnson for renomination—and as late as Jan. 30 said he would not run against him "under any forseeable circumstances"—found the circumstances more to his liking after the strong New Hampshire primary showing of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Six days later, Kennedy plunged into the race, declaring the New Hampshire vote showed the party was deeply divided and looking for leadership.

Now, with Johnson's sudden withdrawal, Kennedy must rate as the leading contender. But with the kind of surprises that have been sprung so far this year, even the most optimistic political seers are likely to be cautious in future predictions.

House Here Hit By Drifting Car; Cruiser Bumped

Joseph Chora, 43, of 1825 E. 34th St., Lorain, was charged after he scratched the bumper of a city police cruiser about 4:38 a.m.

Chora, according to Lt. Paul A. Burson Jr. and Patrolman L. E. Richard, who were in the cruiser, stopped his car in back of the cruiser, asked them for directions, returned to his auto and rammed the rear of the police car. The cruiser was parked at the curb on Market St., about 50 feet north of 3rd St., where they were waiting for a store owner to arrive.

Chora was charged with failure to stop within the assured clear distance.

Earlier, a parked auto drifted into a house, damaging a gas meter and pipes.

Logan Sts., occurred about 2:21 a.m.

The auto, owned by Paul E. Grafton of 861 Logan St., drifted from its parking spot alongside Grafton's home, across the street. The car, police reported, traveled about 100 yards, crossing a yard, Logan St., Ceramic St. and then ran into the home of Martin Schwartz of 1226 Ceramic St.

Grafton, who ran to the home after hearing the crash, awakened Mrs. Schwartz and her children when he smelled gas from the broken meter, got them out of the house and called police. No one was injured. Police made no arrests.

Not Far Wrong

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Although the letters in a key word on a bulletin board at a local high school were juggled around they still made sense. The announcement read: "Tonight — PTA Broad Meeting."

Building Burned, Calls Answered

Wellsville firemen over the weekend answered two minor calls and burned a condemned building.

The building, owned by Thomas Grafton, was razed Saturday afternoon.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis today expressed thanks to city employes for their cooperation and said the department regretted the inconvenience caused residents of the 312 and 314 area of Broadway.

Lewis said the department answered two calls Sunday, but both fires had been extinguished when firemen arrived.

Minor damage resulted Saturday when a clothes dryer at the home of John C. White of 1024 Main St. began smoking about 1:30 p.m.

James Thrasher, a passerby, had extinguished a fire in the auto of Angelo Luckino of 506 12th St. by the time firemen arrived at the scene Sunday at 2:17 p.m. There was minor damage to the car.

Boy, 1½, Drowns North Of Beaver

BEAVER — Rescue teams found the body of 1½-year-old Pittsburgh boy Sunday morning in Conoquenessing Creek about a half-mile from where he apparently walked or crawled into the stream from his grandparents' cottage Saturday evening.

James Charles Senchisen of Pittsburgh was at the summer cottage of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Senchisen of Pittsburgh about a mile west of Fombell in Franklin Township.

The couple left him unattended on the porch for about 10 minutes around 6 p. m. Saturday. State Police at Chippewa said the boy apparently crawled or walked to the creek about 25 feet away.

Labor Council Plans To Act On Resolution

The second of three required readings on a resolution that would increase the per capita tax to affiliate with the council is scheduled during a meeting of the East Liverpool Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night at 7:30 in the old IBOP Building.

The resolution was given first reading at the March 20 meeting. The third reading is slated at the session April 17, when a vote will be taken.

George DiNucci, Ohio AFL-CIO director, will be a guest at the meeting Wednesday night.

The alley connects the Freeway and W. 5th St. near the Newell Bridge. It sometimes is used as a shortcut by Waterford Park Race Track patrons traveling north from the Freeway to W. 5th, although it is restricted to southbound travel only.

Weirton Driver Cited In Cumberland Crash

NEW CUMBERLAND — Chief of Police William Webster investigated a one-car accident Saturday at 10 p. m. in which the driver was cited for failure to have his vehicle under control.

Robert A. Lemley, 63, of 401 Collier's Way, Weirton, was cited after his auto went off the road and struck a guardrail on Ridge Ave. at the south end of the community.

Lemley escaped uninjured. His auto was demolished. He is scheduled to appear before Squire John D. Herron today.

The DOCTOR Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

It will soon be time for your child to put away his sled and start clambering about on an outdoor play gym. According to studies by the National Safety Council, not all such equipment is safe. You must always bear in mind that small children are not able to judge what constitutes a potential hazard.

Dr. Brandstadt

EVEN SO commonplace a device as a swing can cause serious injury to a toddler who gets in its way when it is in full motion, with or without an occupant. Portable back yard swings have been known, when overloaded, to tip over.

—:—

SOME CHILDREN unhook the swing seat and climb the supporting chain so that they can slide down again. This is fine exercise and develops climbing skill but, if the chain ends in an open "S" hook, the slide may cause a nasty laceration.

WHETHER YOU buy outdoor play equipment or allow your child to use a community playground, you should assure yourself that the construction is substantial enough to take a lot of hard usage. The ends of all tubing should be smooth and capped with rounded durable metal. All slides should have smooth rounded edges. Slide steps should be flat with nonskid surfaces.

SWINGS SHOULD be hung on heavy chains with no "S" hooks, and their seats should be of plastic material with no sharp edges. All equipment should be securely fastened to prevent tipping over and should be rustproof. It should be checked weekly for stability, excessive wear and loss of moving parts. Whenever possible, supervise preschool children when they are on the playground. Teach them the proper use and limitations of the equipment.

Q—My daughter, 9, is very high - strung. She has a respiratory allergy. Our doctor is giving her Periactin and Doxan. Do these drugs have any side affects?

A—Periactin is an antihistamine. It may cause drowsiness which disappears after three or four days of administration. Other side effects include dry mouth, dizziness, nausea and nervous tension. The fact that your daughter is high - strung may be the result of taking this drug or may be due to some emotional difficulties.

Doxan is a laxative and should not be given in the presence of abdominal pain or nausea. Prolonged use is to be avoided.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review.

Passenger Injured

Hurt Driver, 21, Faces Court In Hit-Skip Case

A hit - skip driver was apprehended Saturday after his auto rolled over on a curve about a half mile from the scene of the first mishap, one of six mishaps investigated over the weekend by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Leonard Lee Selby Jr., 21, was in "good" condition at Salem City Hospital where he was admitted after his 1965 coach was demolished Saturday about 4:30 p.m. when it rolled over on County Rd. 450 about a half mile from Township Rd. 1017. It went off the east side of the road and rolled over again coming to rest on its side in a field.

Also treated at Salem City Hospital was a passenger in the auto — Robert Houp, 18, of New Waterford RD 1 who received a bruise behind the right ear.

Officers said the car had sideswiped another auto on County Rd. 450 a few minutes earlier.

An area man was cited for failure to yield the right of way after his car pulled from a side road into the path of another Sunday at 4:20 p.m.

Officers said a 1964 coach, operated by Thomas N. Bailey, 19, of Cannons Mills Rd., was damaged moderately when it struck a 1966 station wagon operated by Larry Dorsey Swick, 27, of Heck Rd. The Swick car was northbound on Route 170 about one and three - tenths miles north of Route 30 when it was struck on the right side, the Patrol said.

A 74 - year - old Columbiana man was cited for driving left of center as the result of a two-car mishap on County Rd. 421 near Columbiana Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Officers said the citation was made against Russell Ferrall after his 1939 sedan, southbound, struck a 1964 coach operated by Walter L. Mueller, also of Columbiana.

A 1959 coach was abandoned Saturday on Route 164 near Route 39 where it had halted on a steep bank after going off the east side of the road and crashed through a guardrail.

Officers said the auto was damaged heavily on the left side, and 20 feet of guardrail and a post were ripped out as the result of the mishap which occurred about 9:40 p.m.

Owner of the auto is still unidentified, officers said.

A 1959 sedan whose owner was identified as Henry Dillinger of Akron was involved in a hit - skip mishap Sunday at 9:30 p.m.

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Indian government authorized 75,000 rupees ($10,000) for a documentary film to encourage Indian citizens to promote tourism and be courteous to foreign visitors during International Tourism Year (ITY). Just recently someone realized ITY ended Dec. 31, 1967, and the film still hasn't been completed.

Epidemic Feared

PATNA, India (AP) —Smallpox is expected to reach epidemic levels in India this year and likely will be especially severe in Bihar state, where about 20 per cent of all India's smallpox cases occur every year. All India Radio's station here in the Bihar state capital will broadcast special programs urging people to have their children vaccinated and warning of the dangers of the disease.

'Eye In Sky'

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's air pollution control service uses an "Eye in the Sky" to patrol smokestack violations and other air pollution emissions. A closed circuit television is installed atop the Civic Center building in downtown Chicago to monitor the city. Observed violations are relayed to the nearest two - way radio equipped patrol cars for enforcement.

Viet Officials Surprised By Withdrawal

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese officials, taken by surprise, kept silent today about President Johnson's bombing curtailment and his exit from the presidential race while GIs expressed joy, dismay, disbelief and even disinterest.

American military leaders and the South Vietnamese government have openly opposed any letup in the bombing of North Vietnam, but they refused to comment on any part of Johnson's speech.

GI comments on the bombing cutback ranged from "they'll bury all of us" to "This means we'll go home sooner."

One said, "I don't care who is President so long as I get home."

A senior officer on Gen. William C. Westmoreland's staff, who refused to let his name be used, said few American soldiers cared whether Johnson ran for re-election or not.

"The average GI is much more concerned about his immediate situation than about who is sitting in the White House," he said.

Many did react, however. Some thought reporters were pulling an April Fool's joke and one lieutenant colonel said: "You never want to believe a politician when he makes an announcement like that."

Three Lisbon Groups Get Excellent Ratings

Participating were, the robed choir, girls' glee club and, for the first time, the boys' glee club. They left the school in two buses at 6 a.m. Saturday and returned in the afternoon. Leonard Welch is vocal music director.

Gold's Price Now Falling In Markets

LONDON (AP) — London's gold market reopened today and with indications gold's monetary role may be diminishing, there was no major bonanza for speculators whose buying rush closed the market 17 days ago.

This weekend's agreement in Stockholm to create "paper gold"—a new form of international credits for world trade—dealt speculators their biggest blow in months.

In effect, the world's major non-Communist trading nations, excluding France, agreed to accept each other's paper promises to repay part of their trading debts without the security of gold. This could be the first step on a long road leading to the end of gold as money, meaning a decline in the demand for the metal and drop in its price.

The price in the London free market ranged in early trading from $37.50 to $38 an ounce, less than $3 above the price of $35 formerly guaranteed by the United States and six other nations.

In Paris gold prices dipped for the fourth straight trading session today, following the weekend monetary decisions.

The price was the equivalent of $38.08 an ounce, the lowest since March 20. Volume continued relatively high—$5,011,000.

To keep the price down in the face of a gold rush which indicated lack of confidence in paper money, the gold pool nations had to supply gold from their own stocks to meet the demand.

At a meeting in Washington March 17, they decided to continue to settle accounts among themselves by transferring gold at $35 an ounce. But they decided to leave the free market price to fluctuate with supply and demand.

When the London market closed March 15, markets in Paris, Zurich and elsewhere remained open. To the surprise of some authorities and the shock of some gold hoarders, the price of gold rose less than $10 and then fell back. Some had been gambling it would double under panic demand.

National Cemetery Promoted For Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clarence E. Miller, R-Ohio, said today his plans to introduce a bill calling for establishment of a new national cemetery in his home district of southeastern Ohio.

Miller said he was introducing the measure because there was no place in Ohio where veterans could exercise their right to burial in a national cemetery.

He did not recommend a specific site within the district.

Couple Found Slain

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—An Erie County man and wife were found slain in their rural home early today and their 12-year-old daughter was hospitalized with injuries apparently inflicted by the attacker.

Sheriff's deputies identified the couple as William Cassidy, 42, and his wife Vann, 39, and both had been slain with a shotgun.

ANN LANDERS

Laughing At The Figures

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I went to the movies the other night with another couple. The female star in the film was a well-known actress who is famous for her spectacular measurements.

All during the movie my husband and the other fellow kept making remarks which I considered to be in poor taste. After the movie we went for pizza and the boys kept it up — only they began to make comparisons. The other girl got so upset she began to cry. I was just plain furious.

When we got home I told my husband he had hurt my feelings. He said he didn't mean to, but anyone with eyes could see that he had been cheated. I told him if a big bosom was THAT important he should have had his tapemeasure along when he went looking for a wife.

Should I lock him out of the bedroom for a week or so? We have been married for only two years and I don't want to make any serious mistakes. But I'd like to teach him a lesson. — NOT BUXOM, JUST AMPLE.

Dear Ample: A wife who locks her husband out of the bedroom gives him a peachy excuse to try other doors. Don't do it.

You and your friend should have laughed off the adolescent comments. Nothing is so disarming as laughter. Any idiot knows it takes more than spectacular measurements to make a marriage work. The best evidence is Hollywood. Check the marital records of most of those over-endowed dolls and you'll see what I mean.

Act Of Love

Dear Ann: I cried when I read the letter from the woman who saved coupons for years and bought the bride and groom a complete set of silver only to have the snippy bride dump the gift — chest and all, right in her living room — because she learned it had been purchased with coupons and not cash.

Eighteen years ago I was an assistant dietitian in a hospital. When I announced my engagement, the kitchen help went to the supervisor and said they wanted to buy me the finest toaster money could buy. They asked that the price of the toaster be deducted from their pay checks weekly, until the day of my wedding.

The supervisor suggested that they save coupons because she knew that the very finest toaster could be obtained in that manner. They took her advice.

Two years ago my children saved their money to buy me a new toaster for Mother's Day. When I explained the significance of the old toaster they said, "No wonder it has been kept so shiny and bright through the years. They must have loved you a great deal — and you must have loved them, too."

Can money buy that, Ann — NEWARK MEMORIES.

Dear Newark: What a heart-warming letter! I hope that little snip who behaved so boorishly sees your response and learns from it. Thank you for writing.

Teen-Age Adult

Dear Ann: My son has a 13-year-old daughter who is quite mature for her age, but still she's only 13. Her mother allows her to accept Friday and Saturday night sitting jobs in the apartment building.

Last night she had full charge of three youngsters. Please tell me what you think about this. — CONCERNED.

Dear Concerned: It's up to the girl's mother to decide whether or not she is capable of handling the responsibility. Some 13-year-olds are extremely reliable, others at 13 need someone to sit with THEM. M.Y.O.B., granny.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

President's Address To The Nation

Historic Text Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are highlights of President Johnson's address to the nation Sunday night:

With America's sons in the fields far away, with America's future under challenge right here at home, with our hopes and the world's hopes for peace in the balance every day, I do not believe that I should devote an hour or a day of my time to any personal partisan causes or to any duties other than the awesome duties of this office.

I shall not seek and will not accept the nomination of my party for another term as your President.

Tonight, in the hope that this action will lead to early talks, I am taking a first step to de-escalate the conflict. We are reducing—substantially reducing—the present level of hostilities. And we are doing so unilaterally, and at once.

Attacks Halted

Tonight, I have ordered our aircraft and our naval vessels to make no attacks on North Vietnam, except in the area north of the Demilitarized Zone where the continued enemy buildup directly threatens allied forward positions and where the movements of their troops and supplies are clearly related to that threat.

Even this very limited bombing of the north could come to an early end—if our restraint is matched by restraint in Hanoi.

But I cannot in good conscience stop all bombing so long as to do so would immediately and directly endanger the lives of our men and our allies.

Asks Others Help

Tonight, I call upon the United Kingdom and I call upon the Soviet Union—as co-chairmen of the Geneva Conference, and as permanent members of the United Nations Security Council—to do all they can to move from the unilateral act of de-escalation that I have just announced toward genuine peace in Southeast Asia.

I call upon President Ho Chi Minh to respond positively, and favorably, to this new step toward peace.

But if peace does not come now through negotiations, it will come when Hanoi understands that our common resolve is unshakable, and our common strength is invincible.

The United States will never accept a fake solution to this long and arduous struggle and call it peace.

Peace Move Series

I cannot promise that the initiative I have announced tonight will be completely successful in achieving peace any more than the more than 30 others we have undertaken and agreed to in recent years.

Tonight I have offered the first in what I hope will be a series of mutual moves toward peace.

I pray that it will not be rejected by the leaders of North Vietnam. I pray that they will accept it as a means by which the sacrifices of their own people may be ended.

And I ask your help and your support, my fellow citizens, for this effort to reach across the battlefield toward an early peace.

Financial Threat

Tonight we face the sharpest financial threat in the post war era—A threat to the dollar's role as the keystone of international trade and finance in the world.

One thing is unmistakably clear, however: our deficit just must be reduced. Failure to act could bring on conditions that would strike hardest at those people that all of us are trying so hard to help.

According to the Book of Genesis in the Bible, a river flowed out of Eden to water the Garden of Eden, and there it divided and became four rivers. Their names were Pishon, Gihon, Hiddekel and the Euphrates.

CLEANING TIPS

From PRESSWELL

by Paul Seckman

Sweaters Deserve The Best of Care

It pays dividends to give some thought to the care of sweaters in your wardrobe. Presswell Cleaners, St. Clair Plaza, lists these suggestions as a guide:

- Look for care information on labels or hang tags attached to the sweater. Then follow these directions:
- Read and study the care instructions. Save the tags for easy reference when you wash your sweater or when you send it to your cleaner. If there are special care instructions, give this information to your cleaner
- Do not hang sweaters on a hanger between wearings. After each wearing, air it thoroughly, then fold and place in a drawer.
- Do not use decorative pins or common pins on your sweater.
- Take precautions to avoid snagging. If you do have this misfortune, pull the loop through to the underside; use a crochet hook to avoid further pulling or shagging of the yarns.
- Plan for regular drycleaning or washing. When soil becomes deeply embedded in the loose fibers of the yarn, it is more difficult to remove.
- To avoid yellowing when washing them, the water temperature should not exceed 100° F. Rinse thoroughly in cool water. Do not dry the sweater at a high temperature. Do not use a chlorine-type bleach on wool sweaters.

President's Address To The Nation

Historic Text Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are highlights of President Johnson's address to the nation Sunday night:

With America's sons in the fields far away, with America's future under challenge right here at home, with our hopes and the world's hopes for peace in the balance every day, I do not believe that I should devote an hour or a day of my time to any personal partisan causes or to any duties other than the awesome duties of this office.

I shall not seek and will not accept the nomination of my party for another term as your President.

Tonight, in the hope that this action will lead to early talks, I am taking a first step to de-escalate the conflict. We are reducing—substantially reducing—the present level of hostilities. And we are doing so unilaterally, and at once.

Attacks Halted

Tonight, I have ordered our aircraft and our naval vessels to make no attacks on North Vietnam, except in the area north of the Demilitarized Zone where the continued enemy buildup directly threatens allied forward positions and where the movements of their troops and supplies are clearly related to that threat.

Even this very limited bombing of the north could come to an early end—if our restraint is matched by restraint in Hanoi.

But I cannot in good conscience stop all bombing so long as to do so would immediately and directly endanger the lives of our men and our allies.

Asks Others Help

Tonight, I call upon the United Kingdom and I call upon the Soviet Union—as co-chairmen of the Geneva Conference, and as permanent members of the United Nations Security Council—to do all they can to move from the unilateral act of de-escalation that I have just announced toward genuine peace in Southeast Asia.

I call upon President Ho Chi Minh to respond positively, and favorably, to this new step toward peace.

But if peace does not come now through negotiations, it will come when Hanoi understands that our common resolve is unshakable, and our common strength is invincible.

The United States will never accept a fake solution to this long and arduous struggle and call it peace.

Peace Move Series

I cannot promise that the initiative I have announced tonight will be completely successful in achieving peace any more than the more than 30 others we have undertaken and agreed to in recent years.

Tonight I have offered the first in what I hope will be a series of mutual moves toward peace.

I pray that it will not be rejected by the leaders of North Vietnam. I pray that they will accept it as a means by which the sacrifices of their own people may be ended.

And I ask your help and your support, my fellow citizens, for this effort to reach across the battlefield toward an early peace.

Crowd Roars At Lions' Minstrel

By CLARA HALL

A lively "country western" flavor was added to the ninth annual minstrel show of the East Liverpool Lions Club which drew a sell-out audience of more than 1,000 Saturday night at Westgate School.

Dressed in typical hayseed costumes, "The Brothers Gallstone," (mentioning they were brought back by popular demand) entertained with pantomime to recorded hillbilly music, using washboard instruments, jugs and the necessary trimmings, to keep the audience in a bedlam of laughter.

Dr. Mike Alpern served as master of ceremonies for the group, comprised of Dr. John Fraser, Dr. Fraser Jackson, Dr. Allen O'Brien and Dr. Janis Lauva.

Assisting with the production number were a group of students from the City Hospital School of Nurses Training, who pitched in with some square dancing.

—:—

END MEN, all in excellent voice, were Tom Miller, who sang "Red Hot Mama;" Jerry Rose, "Dixie;" Charles Haugh, "Working on the Railroad," and Ernie Lowe, "Ole Man River."

Tom Schneidmiller, director, sang "Birth of the Blues." Miss Jo Ann Vannoy again served as pianist.

An innovation was the performance of "The Compa Family," with Ralph Comba, interlocutor, singing in his first public appearance with a quartet comprised of his wife, Audrey, and daughters, Mary Staib and Kay Compa, who provided the ukulele accompaniment for "This Land Is Your Land." Mrs. Staib also sang a folk song, "The Gypsy Rover."

Charles Laughley, the annual favorite from Chester, sang parodies to "After My Laughter Came Tears" and "Margie."

A song-and-dance routine saluting the services was presented by Barbara and Melanie Kinsey, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Marvin Kinsey, who were dressed in red-and-white striped skirts and blue blouses. They were accompanied by Leigh Ann Bernstorf.

FRED KANE sang "Cabaret" and "More." George Miller offered a group of banjo selections. Lowe sang "Minnie the Moocher," with the chorus providing the chanting background.

The Lions Club Chorus presented "Let There Be Peace on Earth" for the finale, with Lowe handling the solo parts. Added effect was provided by members of the high school ROTC, Mike Talkington, Freemand Tarver and Mark Capwell, who presented arms.

Proceeds from the show will be used for the Lions sight - saving project.

Saturday night's crowd was so large that Lions in the audience were asked to give their seats "to the paying customers."

Wives and daughters of club members singing in the chorus included Mrs. Doris Locke, Mrs. Mary Lou Haugh, Miss Dottie Haugh, Mrs. Roberta Yonz, Mrs. Olive Custer, Mrs. Helen Laughley, Mrs. Frankie Harris, Mrs. Agnes McSwegin, Mrs. Dorothy Allison, Mrs. Compa, Miss Compa and Mrs. Staib.

Fred Yonz and Rose were general chairman for the show, assisted by Haugh, club president. Mrs. Robert Harris, Mrs. Pat DiPasquale and Mrs. Yonz had charge of makeup and ushers.

Expand State Power

Five Major Riot Bills Due In Pennsylvania Senate

HARRISBURG (AP) — Five major bills to expand the state's power in dealing with riots were ready today for presentation to the Senate by the Shafer Administration.

Four of the bills provide for stiffer penalties for rioters; the fifth defines and distends the governor's power and authority in emergency situations.

The Senate, meanwhile, having been pressured over the weekend by the potent Pennsylvania State Education Association, planned to make some adjustments in the truncated teacher's pay raise bill.

Both Senate and House were scheduled to return this afternoon at 3.

"The experience of riots across this nation in major cities convinced us we should be prepared to handle violence forcefully and quickly to protect innocent citizens," Shafer said of his riot bills.

"Although it is my hope that such laws will never be invoked in the commonwealth, we must be prepared, because we know the root causes of riots are still with us in our urban neighborhoods."

The governor said that, if riots do break out and local law enforcement agencies are unable to restore order, "we will use any means" to help them, including the National Guard.

He said the riot bills, the product of a study by the Justice Department, would:

— Give the governor power to declare a state of emergency "in any area where conditions exist that imperil the safety of persons and property caused by fire, flood, storm, epidemic, riot or other conditions, which by their magnitude are likely to be beyond the control of political subdivisions."

— Establish a clear definition of "riot" as: "Any tumultuous disturbance of the peace of three or more persons, assembled and acting with a common intent, either in executing a lawful private enterprise in a violent and turbulent manner to the terror of the people, or in executing an unlawful enterprise in a violent and turbulent manner."

— Make it a felony for a person to possess a grenade or other explosive device. (The extant statute refers only to bombs, bombshells and other explosive substances.)

— Make it a felony to interfere with a motor vehicle, specifically, to discharge any "dangerous weapon" at it or to burn or otherwise damage it.

On the teachers' pay bill, Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup said he intends to see that "certain corrections" are made before the bill is put to a vote.

The legislation had been in position for a final vote today, but members of the PSEA called on senators individually over the weekend and asked them to restore the $18 million excised from the measure by the Senate Education Committee.

The House-passed bill had called for $53 million for first-year, across-the-board raise of $500 for each of the state's 103,000 public school teachers and administrators. It was the Senate Education Committee that cut it down to $35 million.

Now, said Stroup, a Bedford County Republican, Senate amendments to the measure will delay a roll call on it at least until Tuesday.

Sen. Preston B. Davis, R-Northumberland, education committee chairman, said the major change deals with the sparsity-density bonus features, based on pupil populations in 100 of the state's 742 school districts.

In other legislative action this week, the House and Senate appropriations committees have scheduled several days more of hearings on Shafer's $2.1 billion budget.

City Firemen Get Five Calls

City firemen answered five alarms during the weekend, including a brush fire, auto blaze, false alarm, a call to flush gasoline from the street and a call to a home where a television set had shorted.

The department was called Sunday about 3:13 p.m. to the Wellsville Rd. near the city limits to a grass fire. Two men with the Central squad truck were on the scene 42 minutes.

Firemen said a cigarette caused the blaze, which required two booster lines to extinguish.

The department flushed gasoline from the intersection at 5th and Jackson Sts. about 12:27 p.m. Sunday.

The false alarm came at 7:41 a.m. to 324 W. 4th St.

Six men with three trucks went to the home of Grace Dickson, 803 Green Ln., Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Dickson's television shorted, causing smoke and an odor.

The department reported there was no fire. Firemen were at the home 23 minutes.

Two minutes after the call to Green Ln., an auto fire was reported at the Loblaw food market parking lot on Bradshaw Ave.

The car of William Caldwell, 507 Sugar St. was ablaze. Firemen said the flames were out upon their arrival. The fire originated in the carburetor, which was not covered by an air filter, they added.

Two men and a pumper responded to the call. The alarm was sounded about 4:07 and firemen were on the scene six minutes.

Expand State Power

Five Major Riot Bills Due In Pennsylvania Senate

HARRISBURG (AP) — Five major bills to expand the state's power in dealing with riots were ready today for presentation to the Senate by the Shafer Administration.

Four of the bills provide for stiffer penalties for rioters; the fifth defines and distends the governor's power and authority in emergency situations.

The Senate, meanwhile, having been pressured over the weekend by the potent Pennsylvania State Education Association, planned to make some adjustments in the truncated teacher's pay raise bill.

Both Senate and House were scheduled to return this afternoon at 3.

"The experience of riots across this nation in major cities convinced us we should be prepared to handle violence forcefully and quickly to protect innocent citizens," Shafer said of his riot bills.

"Although it is my hope that such laws will never be invoked in the commonwealth, we must be prepared, because we know the root causes of riots are still with us in our urban neighborhoods."

The governor said that, if riots do break out and local law enforcement agencies are unable to restore order, "we will use any means" to help them, including the National Guard.

He said the riot bills, the product of a study by the Justice Department, would:

— Give the governor power to declare a state of emergency "in any area where conditions exist that imperil the safety of persons and property caused by fire, flood, storm, epidemic, riot or other conditions, which by their magnitude are likely to be beyond the control of political subdivisions."

— Establish a clear definition of "riot" as: "Any tumultuous disturbance of the peace of three or more persons, assembled and acting with a common intent, either in executing a lawful private enterprise in a violent and turbulent manner to the terror of the people, or in executing an unlawful enterprise in a violent and turbulent manner."

— Make it a felony for a person to possess a grenade or other explosive device. (The extant statute refers only to bombs, bombshells and other explosive substances.)

— Make it a felony to interfere with a motor vehicle, specifically, to discharge any "dangerous weapon" at it or to burn or otherwise damage it.

On the teachers' pay bill, Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup said he intends to see that "certain corrections" are made before the bill is put to a vote.

The legislation had been in position for a final vote today, but members of the PSEA called on senators individually over the weekend and asked them to restore the $18 million excised from the measure by the Senate Education Committee.

The House-passed bill had called for $53 million for first-year, across-the-board raise of $500 for each of the state's 103,000 public school teachers and administrators. It was the Senate Education Committee that cut it down to $35 million.

Now, said Stroup, a Bedford County Republican, Senate amendments to the measure will delay a roll call on it at least until Tuesday.

Sen. Preston B. Davis, R-Northumberland, education committee chairman, said the major change deals with the sparsity-density bonus features, based on pupil populations in 100 of the state's 742 school districts.

In other legislative action this week, the House and Senate appropriations committees have scheduled several days more of hearings on Shafer's $2.1 billion budget.

City Firemen Get Five Calls

City firemen answered five alarms during the weekend, including a brush fire, auto blaze, false alarm, a call to flush gasoline from the street and a call to a home where a television set had shorted.

The department was called Sunday about 3:13 p.m. to the Wellsville Rd. near the city limits to a grass fire. Two men with the Central squad truck were on the scene 42 minutes.

Firemen said a cigarette caused the blaze, which required two booster lines to extinguish.

The department flushed gasoline from the intersection at 5th and Jackson Sts. about 12:27 p.m. Sunday.

The false alarm came at 7:41 a.m. to 324 W. 4th St.

Six men with three trucks went to the home of Grace Dickson, 803 Green Ln., Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Dickson's television shorted, causing smoke and an odor.

The department reported there was no fire. Firemen were at the home 23 minutes.

Two minutes after the call to Green Ln., an auto fire was reported at the Loblaw food market parking lot on Bradshaw Ave.

The car of William Caldwell, 507 Sugar St. was ablaze. Firemen said the flames were out upon their arrival. The fire originated in the carburetor, which was not covered by an air filter, they added.

Two men and a pumper responded to the call. The alarm was sounded about 4:07 and firemen were on the scene six minutes.

Firm To Build New Station

FAIRMONT, W. Va. — Plans for a third giant coal - fired generating station, with a capacity of 1,300,000 kilowatts, have been announced by the Allegheny Power System.

C. G. McVay, president of the Monongahela Power Co., one of the three operating companies of the Allegheny system, said that the construction schedule of the new station calls for the first unit of 650,000 kilowatts to go into service in 1973 and the second unit, also of 650,000 kilowatts, in 1974.

The location of the station is yet to be determined, McVay said.

The Allegheny Power System served more than 870,000 electric customers in a five-state area of West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio and Virginia and had a generating capability of 2.9 million kilowatts at the end of 1967. Completion of this third station, McVay said, would double the system's capability to 5.8 million kilowatts in 1974.

Drug Cache Confiscated In Lab Raid

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)— Authorities confiscated a drug cache estimated to be worth at least $250,000 Sunday night in a raid on a Covington laboratory described as a front for the manufacture of hallucinatory drugs.

The laboratory—a converted warehouse — was known as Southern Scientific Co., but a federal spokesman said the company "had no legitimate business as far as we know."

Taken into custody under a warrant of manufacturing a drug against the provisions of the Federal Drug Act were:

John B. Spelz, 31, Covington; Charles H. Reinking, 18, Cincinnati; and Clark R. Moore, Columbus, Ohio.

The three were jailed at Newport overnight, and were scheduled to appear before U.S. Commissioner Robert C. Cetrulo today.

A federal agent said a field check of some of the substances showed they were hallucinogenic drugs. He did not specify the types.

Why Stub Toe On Patio? Make It Larger Instead

A patio that's both dinky and dull is no asset to any home. Yet those words describe more than half the country's outdoor living areas.

Fortunately, much can be done to remedy the situation, and the price tag needn't be high.

One family with little cash but lots of imagination and the willingness to do the job themselves tripled their patio's size and upgraded the home's appearance by building a wood deck addition.

THE ORIGINAL patio was an inadequate 12-by-12-foot slab that had little relationship to either house or garden. To that was added an L-shaped deck, wrapped around two sides of the existing patio and extended to the house corner.

Over all length of the deck is 30 feet. One part is 8 feet wide and the other is a 12-foot width. With the addition, square footage of the outdoor living area was increased to a bountiful 450 square feet—equaling nearly a third of the home's interior living space.

Footings and framing raised the deck about six inches above the patio surface, providing a needed change of elevation and solving a mud puddle problem caused by poor drainage.

Construction of the deck required no special carpentry skill beyond the handyman level, according to the man of the house.

The first step was to remove lawn and roughly level the ground to obtain a firm surface for footings. Then the ground was covered with a two - inch depth of sand and gravel both to insure good drainage under the deck and to prevent plant growth.

CONCRETE blocks 12 inches square by three inches thick were positioned on four-foot centers as foundations for the joists. The blocks are on firm ground, with the sand and gravel filled around them.

Joists were 2-by-4s on edge, run the 30-foot length and joined crosswise at eight-foot intervals. A picture of framing for an eight - foot square would show joists outlining the square, with another bisecting it to make equal rectangles. There would be nine foundation blocks, one at each corner, one centered on each of the four sides, and one directly in the middle of the square.

The final step was to nail the 2-by-5-inch fir deck boards crosswise over the joists.

Nailing and spacing between deck boards — an eighth or quarter inch to permit rain runoff — are accomplished in one step. As each 2-by-4 is laid, it's butted against a spacer block at one end and a single nail is driven into the joist. The action is repeated at the center and opposite end, then continued for each succeeding deck board.

WHEN ALL are in place, the nails are driven in firmly and a second nail is added at each joist. The spacer block can be the thin tip of a shingle.

Since this family preferred the appearance and low maintenance of weathered wood, the fir deck boards were finished only with a liberal application of clear water repellent. Joists, however, were pressure treated lumber.

To complete the project, the family built a simple garden bench along one side, joining deck and patio, then added border of crushed rock planted with dwarf pines between patio - deck edge and the adjoining lawn. The rock is contained by treated fir 2-by-4s.

Tacking, Picking And Tip Help In Applying Varnish

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

For extra good results in applying varnish, you should know something about tacking, picking and tipping — which have nothing to do with sail boats, fruit harvests and restaurants.

Tacking is the process of cleaning a surface with a sticky cloth preparatory to the application of the varnish.

Since dust is the big enemy of varnish, it is important that every bit of dust be removed from the surface before starting.

This is done with a tack rag. It is a clean cloth sprinkled with turpentine and then moistened with varnish. Wrung out until it is nearly dry, it becomes sticky or tacky; hence the expression a tack rag. Wiping the surface with a tack rag should be done immediately before varnishing, not 10 or 15 minutes later.

An ordinary wooden toothpick is the only tool needed for picking. While varnishing, you may notice that a speck of dust has settled on a part of the surface you have just finished.

If you lightly touch the end of the toothpick to the piece of dust, it will adhere. The moment you lift up the toothpick, with the dust on it, the wet varnish will close in on the disturbed spot and automatically smooth it out. Remember: this must be done while the varnish is still very wet.

Tipping is done with the regular varnish brush. After the varnish has been applied with flowing strokes — first against the grain of the wood, then with it — the brush is drawn very lightly across the surface a third time, but with two differences.

This third operation is done only with the tips of the bristles and only after excess varnish has been removed from the brush.

Unlike paint, varnish should not be shaken before using. Any disturbance of the contents will produce small bubbles which may show up on the surface of the material being finished.

Some persons warm varnish to make it flow more easily. Never do this over an open flame. The proper way is to place the entire can of varnish in a pan of moderately hot water just before using.

There are so many different kinds of varnishes on the market these days, including several varieties of plastics with urethane or epoxy bases, that it is wise to read the label on the can — before you leave the store — to determine whether it is suitable for your purpose.

Snow Nips Snow Meet

HILO, Hawaii (AP) — Some 80 ski and snow enthusiasts fought their way to the summit area of sunny Hawaii's Hauna Kea recently for the second annual State Ski Meet. But the meet had to be canceled because snow drifts were too deep. A caravan of four - wheel-drive vehicles was delayed en route to the summit because of high drifts. Gale - force winds also hampered the effort, and a spokesman said there would be no attempt to reschedule the meet this year.

Advice Given On Floor Tile

AP Newsfeatures

Question: I'll be putting down 9-by-9 floor tiles in our family room whenever I can find time to do it. In advertisements, I often see men using large floor rollers to smooth out the tile. Is this necessary?

I had always understood that one of the best things about putting down resilient floor tile was that it did not have to be rolled.

ANSWERE: It depends on the kind of tile being used. A roller is not needed for asphalt or vinyl asbestos. It is recommended for other types. This difference in procedure is caused by the difference in the adhesives.

With asphalt or vinyl asbestos, the tar-like adhesive must be dry to the touch before the tiling begins. Thus, when a tile is placed into the adhesive and pressed gentle, it clings at once. With other kinds of tiles, the bonding is done immediately after the adhesive is spread.

Rolling is recommended after each three rows across a room are laid. You can use a large floor roller, which can be rented, or an ordinary kitchen rolling pin.

QUESTION: Please settle an argument between my husband and me. We have a large kitchen and are getting ready to install floor tiles. My husband says that light-color tiles will make the kitchen seem even larger and so he thinks we should use dark tiles. I say that only light tiles will fit in with the color scheme I have planned for the kitchen. Who is right?

ANSWER: We won't tell you who is right, but just give you the facts. You can take it from there. Yes, light - color tiles make a room appear larger. But dark tiles, especially in a big room, might be depressing.

Why not shop together for the tiles? You might be pleasantly surprised by finding a color that is neither very light nor very dark and which will satisfy both. Also, you might consider using more than one color, working out a design of your own or asking the dealer to suggest one. In that way, you may come up with a combination which will not have any visual effect on the size of the room and yet will harmonize with the planned decor.

Robert Taft Asks King To Halt March

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King has been urged by U.S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, to either cancel or postpone his scheduled march on Washington in April.

Taft told a mock GOP convention on the University of Dayton campus Saturday afternoon, that Congress will be considering the 1968 civil rights act during that month.

He said that a march could be self-defeating as it might shift the votes of House members who otherwise would be willing to support the bill.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — What is a good treatment for water - soaked leather shoes?

A. — Stuff the shoes with newspaper or uncooked oatmeal, then let them dry away from radiators, stoves, or any kind of direct heat. After they have dried, rub over the leather with a raw potato - half before polishing, and this will help them to take on a good gloss.

Q. — How can I remedy deep, unsightly scratches on mahogany furniture?

A. — One simple, often - effective treatment consists of filling in the scratches with tincture of iodine, then applying furniture polish or wax, and polishing well.

Q. — How can I easily remove stains from pie dishes?

A. — Oven - browned stains on these dishes will usually vanish when soaked in a strong solution of borax and water. The care and cleaning of kitchenware is included in my household - hints book.

Brothers Drowned When Canoe Upsets

BLISSFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Two brothers from Toledo, Ohio, John Portela, 25, and Joseph, 38, drowned Saturday trying to ride a canoe over the rapids in Raisin River.

Police said John Portela set out alone to ride over a dam with a three foot drop. His canoe overturned and his brother dove in to help him. Both drowned. The bodies were recovered.

Why Stub Toe On Patio? Make It Larger Instead

A patio that's both dinky and dull is no asset to any home. Yet those words describe more than half the country's outdoor living areas.

Fortunately, much can be done to remedy the situation, and the price tag needn't be high.

One family with little cash but lots of imagination and the willingness to do the job themselves tripled their patio's size and upgraded the home's appearance by building a wood deck addition.

THE ORIGINAL patio was an inadequate 12-by-12-foot slab that had little relationship to either house or garden. To that was added an L-shaped deck, wrapped around two sides of the existing patio and extended to the house corner.

Over all length of the deck is 30 feet. One part is 8 feet wide and the other is a 12-foot width. With the addition, square footage of the outdoor living area was increased to a bountiful 450 square feet—equaling nearly a third of the home's interior living space.

Footings and framing raised the deck about six inches above the patio surface, providing a needed change of elevation and solving a mud puddle problem caused by poor drainage.

Construction of the deck required no special carpentry skill beyond the handyman level, according to the man of the house.

The first step was to remove lawn and roughly level the ground to obtain a firm surface for footings. Then the ground was covered with a two - inch depth of sand and gravel both to insure good drainage under the deck and to prevent plant growth.

CONCRETE blocks 12 inches square by three inches thick were positioned on four-foot centers as foundations for the joists. The blocks are on firm ground, with the sand and gravel filled around them.

Joists were 2-by-4s on edge, run the 30-foot length and joined crosswise at eight-foot intervals. A picture of framing for an eight - foot square would show joists outlining the square, with another bisecting it to make equal rectangles. There would be nine foundation blocks, one at each corner, one centered on each of the four sides, and one directly in the middle of the square.

The final step was to nail the 2-by-5-inch fir deck boards crosswise over the joists.

Nailing and spacing between deck boards — an eighth or quarter inch to permit rain runoff — are accomplished in one step. As each 2-by-4 is laid, it's butted against a spacer block at one end and a single nail is driven into the joist. The action is repeated at the center and opposite end, then continued for each succeeding deck board.

WHEN ALL are in place, the nails are driven in firmly and a second nail is added at each joist. The spacer block can be the thin tip of a shingle.

Since this family preferred the appearance and low maintenance of weathered wood, the fir deck boards were finished only with a liberal application of clear water repellent. Joists, however, were pressure treated lumber.

To complete the project, the family built a simple garden bench along one side, joining deck and patio, then added border of crushed rock planted with dwarf pines between patio - deck edge and the adjoing lawn. The rock is contained by treated fir 2-by-4s.

Tacking, Picking And Tip Help In Applying Varnish

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

For extra good results in applying varnish, you should know something about tacking, picking and tipping — which have nothing to do with sail boats, fruit harvests and restaurants.

Tacking is the process of cleaning a surface with a sticky cloth preparatory to the application of the varnish.

Since dust is the big enemy of varnish, it is important that every bit of dust be removed from the surface before starting.

This is done with a tack rag. It is a clean cloth sprinkled with turpentine and then moistened with varnish. Wrung out until it is nearly dry, it becomes sticky or tacky; hence the expression a tack rag. Wiping the surface with a tack rag should be done immediately before varnishing, not 10 or 15 minutes later.

An ordinary wooden toothpick is the only tool needed for picking. While varnishing, you may notice that a speck of dust has settled on a part of the surface you have just finished.

If you lightly touch the end of the toothpick to the piece of dust, it will adhere. The moment you lift up the toothpick, with the dust on it, the wet varnish will close in on the disturbed spot and automatically smooth it out. Remember: this must be done while the varnish is still very wet.

Tipping is done with the regular varnish brush. After the varnish has been applied with flowing strokes — first against the grain of the wood, then with it — the brush is drawn very lightly across the surface a third time, but with two differences.

This third operation is done only with the tips of the bristles and only after excess varnish has been removed from the brush.

Unlike paint, varnish should not be shaken before using. Any disturbance of the contents will produce small bubbles which may show up on the surface of the material being finished.

Some persons warm varnish to make it flow more easily. Never do this over an open flame. The proper way is to place the entire can of varnish in a pan of moderately hot water just before using.

There are so many different kinds of varnishes on the market these days, including several varieties of plastics with urethane or epoxy bases, that it is wise to read the label on the can — before you leave the store — to determine whether it is suitable for your purpose.

Snow Nips Snow Meet

HILO, Hawaii (AP) — Some 80 ski and snow enthusiasts fought their way to the summit area of sunny Hawaii's Hauna Kea recently for the second annual State Ski Meet. But the meet had to be canceled because snow drifts were too deep. A caravan of four - wheel-drive vehicles was delayed en route to the summit because of high drifts. Gale - force winds also hampered the effort, and a spokesman said there would be no attempt to reschedule the meet this year.

Advice Given On Floor Tile

AP Newsfeatures

Question: I'll be putting down 9-by-9 floor tiles in our family room whenever I can find time to do it. In advertisements, I often see men using large floor rollers to smooth out the tile. Is this necessary?

I had always understood that one of the best things about putting down resilient floor tile was that it did not have to be rolled.

ANSWERE: It depends on the kind of tile being used. A roller is not needed for asphalt or vinyl asbestos. It is recommended for other types. This difference in procedure is caused by the difference in the adhesives.

With asphalt or vinyl asbestos, the tar-like adhesive must be dry to the touch before the tiling begins. Thus, when a tile is placed into the adhesive and pressed gentle, it clings at once. With other kinds of tiles, the bonding is done immediately after the adhesive is spread.

Rolling is recommended after each three rows across a room are laid. You can use a large floor roller, which can be rented, or an ordinary kitchen rolling pin.

QUESTION: Please settle an argument between my husband and me. We have a large kitchen and are getting ready to install floor tiles. My husband says that light-color tiles will make the kitchen seem even larger and so he thinks we should use dark tiles. I say that only light tiles will fit in with the color scheme I have planned for the kitchen. Who is right?

ANSWER: We won't tell you who is right, but just give you the facts. You can take it from there. Yes, light - color tiles make a room appear larger. But dark tiles, especially in a big room, might be depressing.

Why not shop together for the tiles? You might be pleasantly surprised by finding a color that is neither very light nor very dark and which will satisfy both. Also, you might consider using more than one color, working out a design of your own or asking the dealer to suggest one. In that way, you may come up with a combination which will not have any visual effect on the size of the room and yet will harmonize with the planned decor.

Robert Taft Asks King To Halt March

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King has been urged by U.S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, to either cancel or postpone his scheduled march on Washington in April.

Taft told a mock GOP convention on the University of Dayton campus Saturday afternoon, that Congress will be considering the 1968 civil rights act during that month.

He said that a march could be self-defeating as it might shift the votes of House members who otherwise would be willing to support the bill.

from the recipe of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, fillet de beouf a la jardiniere from a recipe of Julia Grant augmented by Lucy Hayes' special horseradish sauce and Helen Taft's artichoke salad. Silent motion pictures of President Warren C. Harding's career will be shown.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — What is a good treatment for water - soaked leather shoes?

A. — Stuff the shoes with newspaper or uncooked oatmeal, then let them dry away from radiators, stoves, or any kind of direct heat. After they have dried, rub over the leather with a raw potato - half before polishing, and this will help them to take on a good gloss.

Q. — How can I remedy deep, unsightly scratches on mahogany furniture?

A. — One simple, often - effective treatment consists of filling in the scratches with tincture of iodine, then applying furniture polish or wax, and polishing well.

Q. — How can I easily remove stains from pie dishes?

A — Oven - browned stains on these dishes will usually vanish when soaked in a strong solution of borax and water. The care and cleaning of kitchenware is included in my household - hints book.

New Look Is Coming For Kitchens

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Kitchens will take on a completely new look in the not too distant future, predicts designer John Van Koert.

The culinary center will look as if it has been premolded and will be so sanitary it will practically squeak, he says.

Van Koert, known for his improvisations in furniture design and interior decoration, illustrated his point with some kitchen vignettes using one of the new materials that makes his idea possible. New industrial achievements will further such interior innovations, he says.

HE USED a new non - slip high-gloss surface flooring (ultra floor) with vinyl foam cushion that is "a decendent of poured floors" in one continuous sweep to include baseboard, wainscoting, counter-top.

The poured floors required skilled technicians and there were problems in controling patterns so that chips wouldn't scatter. The new material of plasticized vinyl chips resembles the poured floor but it is easier to lay. Seams are welded on the job to give it a continuous look. It can be wrapped around anything that has some support, he says.

"There is a movement to greater integration of interior design in kitchens. For example, using this flooring around the wall eliminates cleaning baseboard and wainscoting. We are going to see a great deal of a new look that envelopes a room like a lining so that everything will be controlled and wear out at the same moment."

The bathroom will become so prefabricated that one day everything will be stamped out, with basins being set into the material, he says. The molded bathroom is a natural and certain materials lend themselves to the one-piece bathroom idea, he explains.

BATHROOMS will be a hard look; whereas kitchens will be soft, in Van Koert's opinion.

"We have been covered up with early American coziness too long, but kitchen equipment will be so beautiful. We might actually choose to revert to kitchens that are obviously progressive," he explains. Kitchens should be light, airy, safe and maintenance-free.

"Services are expensive and many people cook and clean out of necessity. These things must be taken into consideration when designing a kitchen. How much work is it going to be? Fortunately, modern kitchen design is getting so good, we can enjoy its functionalism and get a warm feeling as well."

Proper Roller Provides Satisfactory Paint Job

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The paint roller undoubtedly has done more for do-it-yourself home decorating than any other recent tool.

Coupled with latex paints (though they are used with oil paints as well) they turn out a job that is easy and attractive.

The paint roller covers a wider area faster than an amateur could ever handle with the largest brush and there are no brush marks to worry about.

The tool consists of a fiber-covered roller and a handle. It's a simple tool and an inexpensive one. But, while a good paint roller is far less expensive than a good paintbrush, it doesn't mean that you can buy one for pennies.

A CHEAP ROLLER is a waste of the paint you use it with and the time used in putting it on.

Forget the disposable models. While it may be cheap enough to use once and throw it away, the results will be so poor you will regret using it.

Get a roller with a hollow core that fits onto a roller frame. The part of the frame that holds the roller is best if it is expandable. An expandable sleeve or wire cage will provide solid backing for the roller cover.

Pick a handle that will take an extension. This will allow you to paint a ceiling without climbing a ladder. The handle also should be comfortable in your hand.

The outer surface may be made of a variety of fibers. The synthetics are generally best; mohair not quite so good.

FOR MOST home painting you will use a short or medium nap cover. Generally the rougher the surface the longer the nap you should use. Short nap (¼-inch) is for very smooth surfaces — previously painted surfaces, woodwork, wallboard. Medium nap (⅜-inch) is for any thing already mentioned plus textured walls, stucco and concrete block. Long nap for cinder block and extra long for wire fencing.

The medium nap is best for all-round use and is preferable to the short nap because it will hold more paint. This means more painting per dip and therefore faster coverage.

The nap is glued to a cardboard surface. The better models have a core that is impregnated with materials to make it less porous. A few are even made of plastic.

Rollers also are available in seven-inch and nine-inch widths. The nine-inch will obviously hold more paint and cover a wider surface but it will be slightly heavier to handle.

For most people, however, the weight difference will be negligible, so pick the nine - inch model and get 25 per cent more coverage per dip.

A NEW roller may shed lint. Condition it before you start to paint with it. Dip it in the paint tray and cover it all over with paint. Then roll it back and forth on the ribbed portion of the tray to squeeze out the excess paint. Then roll it on large sheets of paper until it rolls dry. Do this a couple of times to get rid of the lint. Then start painting.

President Woodrow Wilson vetoed the Prohibition Amendment to the Constitution but was overridden by the House and Senate.

Changes Set For Reserves

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A major development in the overall reorganization of the Army Reserve became effective today.

The changes were announced over the weekend by headquarters of the 83rd U.S. Army Reserve Command (ARCOM) at Ft. Hayes.

Assuming command of the Reserve units in the western two-thirds of Ohio and all of Kentucky is the 83rd Reserve Command which will control about 144 Army Reserve units composed of more than 11,000 reservists.

These totals do not include the 100th Training Division of Kentucky, which will continue under the direct control of the first U.S. Army headquarters at Ft. Meade, Maryland.

Presently based at Ft. Hayes here, the 83rd ARCOM, under command of Maj. Gen. Robert C. Tyler, a Columbus attorney in civilian life, assumes command responsibilities which have been performed by the 20th U.S. Army Corps.

Authorities said establishment of an April 30 inactivation date for the Ft. Hayes - based 20th Corps permits a one - month transition period designed to coordinate transfer of command duties and schedules.

The 83rd ARCOM is one of the first 18 Army Reserve commands in the United States to become an operating organization and to assume its established command responsibilities. Supporting groups at Louisville, Ky., Cleveland and Columbus will assist the ARCOM headquarters with various command and control activities.

The 100 Army reservists in the 83rd Army Reserve Command wear the patch formerly worn by members of the 83rd Infantry Division which has deep roots in Ohio.

The 'Thunderbolt' Division was organized in Ohio and served in Europe during both world wars. The patch colors and history of the 83rd Division, inactivated in December 1965, are preserved with the establishment of the 83rd.

Officers said the primary mission of the 83rd ARCOM is the command of Army Reserve schools and troop program units and to maintain their readiness in event of mobilization. It is manned by Army Reserve personnel where the corps was composed of Regular Army people.

Tapped For Top Mission

Averell Harriman Boasts Unparalleled Experience

By WILLIAM MORAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. Averell Harriman, the sophisticated millionaire who held seven jobs under President Harry S. Truman and three under President John F. Kennedy, has been tapped for another presidential mission with a familiar goal: Peace.

Harriman is 76 years old and if North Vietnam's representatives show up at the negotiating table, as President Johnson expressed hope Sunday night they will, they are destined to deal with a U.S. diplomat of almost unparalleled experience.

Johnson said in his nationwide address that Harriman and Soviet Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson will be ready to go to Geneva "or any other suitable place—just as soon as Hanoi agrees to a conference."

Harriman currently is ambassador at large and has for some time been active in U.S. efforts to secure peace talks.

Harriman Background

Harriman has journeyed around the world on similar missions since the Cold War began at the close of World War II.

The scion of one of America's great railroad families—he once ran the Union Pacific Railroad — Harriman first came to Washington when Franklin D. Roosevelt was in the White House, working in key domestic agencies.

But diplomacy seemed his real love and Roosevelt gave him some challenging posts—work on the Lend Lease program just before the war which often meant European flights through air combat zones, and ambassador to Moscow in 1943.

He held the Moscow job for three years, dealing with Premier Josef Stalin through the end of the war and the dawn of a new era—a world divided between Communism and non-Communism.

Named By Truman

In April 1946, Truman named him ambassador to Great Britain but Harriman held that job only six months before the President called him home to be secretary of commerce in a nation undergoing postwar economic convulsions.

Among cities planning or building their first subway systems are San Francisco, Prague, Brussels, Montreal, Turin, Venice, Rio de Janeiro, Melbourne, Rotterdam and Santiago, Chile.

Tapped For Top Mission

Averell Harriman Boasts Unparalleled Experience

By WILLIAM MORAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. Averell Harriman, the sophisticated millionaire who held seven jobs under President Harry S. Truman and three under President John F. Kennedy, has been tapped for another presidential mission with a familiar goal: Peace.

Harriman is 76 years old and if North Vietnam's representatives show up at the negotiating table, as President Johnson expressed hope Sunday night they will, they are destined to deal with a U.S. diplomat of almost unparalleled experience.

Johnson said in his nationwide address that Harriman and Soviet Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson will be ready to go to Geneva "or any other suitable place—just as soon as Hanoi agrees to a conference."

Harriman currently is ambassador at large and has for some time been active in U.S. efforts to secure peace talks.

Harriman Background

Harriman has journeyed around the world on similar missions since the Cold War began at the close of World War II.

The scion of one of America's great railroad families—he once ran the Union Pacific Railroad — Harriman first came to Washington when Franklin D. Roosevelt was in the White House, working in key domestic agencies.

But diplomacy seemed his real love and Roosevelt gave him some challenging posts—work on the Lend Lease program just before the war which often meant European flights through air combat zones, and ambassador to Moscow in 1943.

He held the Moscow job for three years, dealing with Premier Josef Stalin through the end of the war and the dawn of a new era—a world divided between Communism and non-Communism.

Named By Truman

In April 1946, Truman named him ambassador to Great Britain but Harriman held that job only six months before the President called him home to be secretary of commerce in a nation undergoing postwar economic convulsions.

Among cities planning or building their first subway systems are San Francisco, Prague, Brussels, Montreal, Turin, Venice, Rio de Janeiro, Melbourne, Rotterdam and Santiago, Chile.

If a comet ever touches the earth there might be no more than a great shower of small pieces of stone and metal, called meteors. An explosion is considered unlikely.

Proper Roller Provides Satisfactory Paint Job

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The paint roller undoubtedly has done more for do-it-yourself home decorating than any other recent tool.

Coupled with latex paints (though they are used with oil paints as well) they turn out a job that is easy and attractive.

The paint roller covers a wider area faster than an amateur could ever handle with the largest brush and there are no brush marks to worry about.

The tool consists of a fiber-covered roller and a handle. It's a simple tool and an inexpensive one. But, while a good paint roller is far less expensive than a good paintbrush, it doesn't mean that you can buy one for pennies.

A CHEAP ROLLER is a waste of the paint you use it with and the time used in putting it on.

Forget the disposable models. While it may be cheap enough to use once and throw it away, the results will be so poor you will regret using it.

Get a roller with a hollow core that fits onto a roller frame. The part of the frame that holds the roller is best if it is expandable. An expandable sleeve or wire cage will provide solid backing for the roller cover.

Pick a handle that will take an extension. This will allow you to paint a ceiling without climbing a ladder. The handle also should be comfortable in your hand.

The outer surface may be made of a variety of fibers. The synthetics are generally best; mohair not quite so good.

FOR MOST home painting you will use a short or medium nap cover. Generally the rougher the surface the longer the nap you should use. Short nap (¼-inch) is for very smooth surfaces — previously painted surfaces, woodwork, wallboard. Medium nap (⅜-inch) is for anything already mentioned plus textured walls, stucco and concrete block. Long nap for cinder block and extra long for wire fencing.

The medium nap is best for all-round use and is preferable to the short nap because it will hold more paint. This means more painting per dip and therefore faster coverage.

The nap is glued to a cardboard surface. The better models have a core that is impregnated with materials to make it less porous. A few are even made of plastic.

Rollers also are available in seven-inch and nine-inch widths. The nine-inch will obviously hold more paint and cover a wider surface but it will be slightly heavier to handle.

For most people, however, the weight difference will be negligible, so pick the nine - inch model and get 25 per cent more coverage per dip.

A NEW roller may shed lint. Condition it before you start to paint with it. Dip it in the paint tray and cover it all over with paint. Then roll it back and forth on the ribbed portion of the tray to squeeze out the excess paint. Then roll it on large sheets of paper until it rolls dry. Do this a couple of times to get rid of the lint. Then start painting.

President Woodrow Wilson vetoed the Prohibition Amendment to the Constitution but was overridden by the House and Senate.

The crowd at the fourth annual Dapper Dan Roundball Classic Friday night at the Pittsburgh Civic arena was 13,266, an Arena record for a sporting event.

Those who saw the game for the first time were impressed. There is no doubt that this is the best high school all-star basketball game in the country, and there were some great players performing. But those of us who have seen all the games of the series were a little disappointed. Neither the U. S. nor Pennsylvania all-star teams were up to the caliber of last year, when the U. S. presented 7-0 Jim McDaniels of Kentucky, 6-10 Dana Lewis of New Jersey and 6-8 Harold Porter of Florida and Pennsylvania countered with Ken Durrett and Ed (Petey) Gibson of Schenley and Dick DeVenzio of Ambridge. Nor was there one star who dominated the game, such as Midland's Simmy Hill in 1965 or Connecticut's Calvin Murphy in 1966. Nor was the contest close, as the U. S. stars, with a spurt just before halftime, opened up a 10-point lead and the home team never got closer than eight in the second half. As one fan remarked, the warmup drills, featuring spectacular dunk shots by both squads, were more exciting than the game.

And to make things a little less enjoyable, whoever picked the Most Valuable Players of the four teams must have been watching another game.

THE WPIAL STARS handily defeated the Pittsburgh City-Catholic stars, 97-77, high scorer for the winners was Jerome Flowers of Rankin with 19, but Billy Emmett of Uniontown scored 17 points and made some dazzling feeds — better than any seen in the second game. But the judges picked Stan Zadrozny of Meadville. Zadrozny scored 17 points, but shot nearly every time he got the ball, and didn't get too many rebounds for a man 6-7.

For the City-Catholic stars, Charles Anderson of Allegheny got 20 points and made some great feeds, but LaMonte Pruitt of South was MVP. East Liverpool fans will remember Pruitt, who visited Memorial Auditorium early in the year and didn't get a field goal against the Potters. Pruitt is a showboat. He played well Friday, scoring 15, but shouldn't have been the MVP.

For a Pennsylvania team that was outclassed, Denny Wuycik of Ambridge was the MVP. Wuycik probably is the best player on the squad, but he didn't show it Friday, He hit only 6 of 17 shots and made numerous turnovers. Wilbert Robinson of Laurel Highlands, who scored 20 points with a fine display of shooting, or Steve Previs of Bethel Park, who had 18 points and played a fine floor game, should have had the award ahead of Wuycik. The crowd booed the decision, and the writers along press row were stunned (as they were by all of the choices).

THE U. S. SQUAD had some very fine ballplayers. Best was Ralph Simpson of Detroit, who scored 16 points in the third period alone on a fantastic display of shooting and ended with a game-high 26. John Fraley of Middletown, Ohio's "Player of the Year," showed he deserved that honor with a great display of all types of shots. He netted 21 points.

But the MVP award went to 6-10 Tom Riker of Long Island. Granted Riker is a fine player, and he was the top rebounder, but he wasn't as electrifying as Simpson or Fraley.

The most amazing shot of the evening was made by Wuycik. He went up for a jumper from the side, was intimidated by his taller defender, but changed shooting hands in mid-air and banked the shot home. Henry Bacon of Louisville, another fine player on the U. S. squad, made a similar shot, but from closer range.

An interesting innovation was three officials for each game. The officials concerned loved it, running less, but it seemed as though the usual number of fouls were missed and bad calls made.

Pennsylvania's 103-90 loss points up what observers have been saying all season long — this is a bad year for scholastic basketball in the Keystone State. But the Roundball Classic, despite some shortcomings, was a fine show and will continue to be so.

Hawks Top S.F., Alive In West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The depleted Philadelphia 76ers have managed to hang onto their five starters, but they had to replace their sparkplug to get moving against the New York Knicks.

Johnny Green, 34 years old and without a playoff game in his National Basketball Association career until nine days ago, provided the spark Sunday as the 76ers ran over the Knicks 123-105 in Philadelphia.

Filling in for hot-shot sixth man Billy Cunningham, who is out with a broken wrist, Green fused a third quarter rally with five points and six rebounds for a 92-80 lead, and the 76ers never looked back.

The victory put the injury-riddled world champion 76ers up 3-2 in this best-of-7 Eastern Division semifinal series with a chance to wrap it up tonight in New York.

"We're in the driver's seat now," said 76er Coach Alex Hannum.

Boston, expected to meet Philadelphia in the division final playoff after finishing second to the 76ers in regular season play, stood by its old standbys for a similar decisive third quarter that downed Detroit 110-96 in Boston.

The Celtics, also taking a 3-2 lead, can clinch their series in Detroit tonight.

The St. Louis Hawks, their backs against the wall at the Washington University Field House in St. Louis, rebounded to a 129-103 rout over San Francisco and sent that Western Division semifinal back to San Francisco Tuesday night.

The Warriors, who finished 13 games behind the Hawks in regular season play, still hold a 3-2 lead.

Favored Los Angeles did not let Chicago off the hook and won their set, 4-1, by crushing the Bulls 122-99 Sunday night in Los Angeles.

In the American Basketball Association, Denver evened its best-of-5 semifinal series at 2-2 by beating New Orleans 108-100.

Green, who has bounced around the NBA for nine years and came to the 76ers from San Diego in January, got nine points to help Philadelphia to a 56-all halftime tie. Playing with an injury — a dislocated finger — like four of the 76er starters, he finished with 16 points and 11 rebounds.

"I realize I have to make some contribution like Billy has been making," he said, calling Sunday's contribution his greatest thrill.

Hal Greer led Philadelphia with 38 points while Cazzie Russell had 31 for the Knicks.

Bailey Howell, Sam Jones John Havlicek lit the fuse under Boston as the Cletics turned an eight-point deficit early in the third period into an 83-80 lead entering the fourth. Detroit never caught up.

St. Louis zoomed to a 17-point first quarter lead and San Francisco never got closer than 10 as Bill Bridges scored 28 points and Lou Hudson 26 for the Hawks.

The Lakers increased a 58-55 halftime lead to a 75-60 bulge with their own third-quarter blitz against the Bulls. Elgin Baylor led Los Angeles with 37 points.

Denver, aided when New Orleans' Doug Moe fouled out with the game tied 86-all, grabbe 10-point lead as Willie Murrell scored 16 of his 28 points in the final period.

Mikita Takes NHL Scoring Championship

Stan Mikita and the St. Louis Blues have won the final skirmishes of the National Hockey League's longest season.

Thursday night, an all-out war of attrition begins on four NHL fronts—with Mikita and the Blues in the front lines.

Chicago's Mikita struck for his 40th goal and two assists Sunday night in the Black Hawks' 5-5 regular season-closing deadlock with Detroit and captured the individual scoring title for the fourth time in five years.

The Blues, meanwhile, trimmed Minnesota 5-3 and beat out the North Stars for third place in the West Division—the last spot up for grabs in the expanded 12-team circuit.

In other season finales, New York topped Montreal's East Division champs 4-2; Pittsburgh flattened Philadelphia's expansion West Division titlists 5-1 and Toronto downed Boston 4-1.

Sunday's action brought the curtain down on the 74-game regular schedule and set up the following pairings for Thursday night's openers in the Stanley Cup playoff quarter-finals:

Mikita, whose 97 points last season matched the all-time record set by teammate Bobby Hull in 1965-66, finished with 87 Sunday night, staving off late challenges by Boston's Phil Esposito and Detroit marvel Gordie Howe.

Esposito scored his 38th goal in Sunday night's loss to Toronto and took runnerup honors with 84 points. Howe, who celebrated his 40th birthday in the last game of his 22nd NHL season, settled for a single assist and wound up third with 82 points.

The scoring crown will net Mikita a $1,000 league bonus.

New York's two-goal margin over the Canadiens gave Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin a $250 prize for the best goals-against mark in the second half of the season. Montreal's Rogatien Vachon and Gump Worsley had nailed the Vezina Trophy with the lowest over-all yield and had a one-goal second half edge over Giacomin going into the game.

But Phil Goyette and Camille Henry beat Vachon in the third period, enabling Giacomin to nip the Montreal duo by one goal as the second place Rangers completed their finest season in the last 10, four points behind the pennant-winning Canadiens.

Third period goals by Frank St. Marseille, Red Berenson and Terry Crisp carried St. Louis past Minnesota for a weekend sweep over the North Stars. The Blues finished with 70 points, one more than Minnesota, two less than second place Los Angeles and three off Philadelphia's pace.

Backed by Hank Bassen's brilliant goaltending, Pittsburgh toppled Philadelphia for the second time in two days. The Penguins finished with a four-game winning streak—but missed the fourth and final playoff spot in the West by two points.

Goalie Bruce Gamble kicked out 45 Boston shots as the Maple Leafs, out of the playoff money for the first time in 10 years, spoiled the Bruins' finale and thwarted Esposito's bid for the scoring championship.

Penguins Win Four, Fall Short

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Penguins were the hottest team in the league at the close of the National Hockey League season, but it did them no good.

The Penguins finished the season with a five-game undefeated streak including victories in their last four games. They still finished fifth in the West Division, though, four points behind fourth-place Minnesota and five points behind third-place St. Louis.

A fifth-place finish means the Penguins will have to wait until next year before they can get a shot at the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Sunday night's 5-1 success at Pittsburgh and Saturday night's 2-0 victory on neutral ice at Quebec gave the Penguins the season series from their intra-state rivals 4-3-3.

Five different players scored for Pittsburgh in the Sunday night finale that attracted 6,756 to the Civic Arena.

Andre Lacroix scored for Philadelphia.

Wisconsin Man Wins All-Events

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jack Connaughton of LaCrosse, Wis., has captured for the second straight year the all-events title in the 10th annual College Union finals of the American Bowling Congress.

The 22-year-old senior at LaCrosse State, rolled a 222-204-257—683 series Sunday night to finish first in the singles.

Earlier, he and partner Joe Fodel of the University of Dayton combined for a doubles 1,106 to take fourth place in that event.

Connaughton again will represent the United States in the International Masters in December at Guadalajara, Mexico.

Top 10 standings remained firm Sunday.

West Wins Star Game

Mount, Maravich Star In Olympic Tryouts

By PAUL PETROTTA
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Adapting to international rules remains the biggest hurdle U.S. Olympic basketball candidates must overcome, according to Coach Henry Iba.

"They have to be more aggressive on that board play," Iba said, "and they don't know how to foul for profit yet."

Iba made his remarks Saturday after the West beat the East 95-88 in the annual college all-star game held this year in conjunction with the Olympic pre-trials.

Both teams, along with the Central and College Division teams of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which also worked out here last week, went to Albuquerque, N.M., Sunday.

The four squads, plus teams from the Amateur Athletic Union, the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, the National Junior College Athletic Association and the Armed Forces, will practice today through Wednesday. They will play three games each in a round-robin competition in the Olympic selection tournament Thursday through Saturday.

The Olympic team of 12 and six alternates is expected to be announced Sunday.

Iba, who is supervising the Olympic workouts, said fouling for profit meant that if a guard saw a player ready to shoot, he should foul him before the shot.

Under international rules, when a player is fouled before the shot, the ball is taken out of bounds. When the foul occurs in the act of shooting, two shots are awarded.

In the all-star encounter, Purdue's Rick Mount teamed with Jo Jo White of Kansas late in the second half to lead the West to victory. Mount topped all scorers with 24 points.

Pete Maravich of Louisiana State had 16 points and played an alert floor game for the East. He was named the game's top player.

Despite booming industrial growth, British Columbia's scenery looks much as it did when Capt. James Cook first landed on Vancouver Island in 1778.

THE WPIAL STARS handily defeated the Pittsburgh City-Catholic stars, 97-77, high scorer for the winners was Jerome Flowers of Rankin with 19, but Billy Emmett of Uniontown scored 17 points and made some dazzling feeds — better than any seen in the second game. But the judges picked Stan Zadrozny of Meadville. Zadrozny scored 17 points, but shot nearly every time he got the ball, and didn't get too many rebounds for a man 6-7.

For the City-Catholic stars, Charles Anderson of Allegheny got 20 points and made some great feeds, but LaMonte Pruitt of South was MVP. East Liverpool fans will remember Pruitt, who visited Memorial Auditorium early in the year and didn't get a field goal against the Potters. Pruitt is a showboat. He played well Friday, scoring 15, but shouldn't have been the MVP.

For a Pennsylvania team that was outclassed, Denny Wuycik of Ambridge was the MVP. Wuycik probably is the best player on the squad, but he didn't show it Friday, He hit only 6 of 17 shots and made numerous turnovers. Wilbert Robinson of Laurel Highlands, who scored 20 points with a fine display of shooting, or Steve Previs of Bethel Park, who had 18 points and played a fine floor game, should have had the award ahead of Wuycik. The crowd booed the decision, and the writers along press row were stunned (as they were by all of the choices).

THE U. S. SQUAD had some very fine ballplayers. Best was Ralph Simpson of Detroit, who scored 16 points in the third period alone on a fantastic display of shooting and ended with a game-high 26. John Fraley of Middletown, Ohio's "Player of the Year," showed he deserved that honor with a great display of all types of shots. He netted 21 points.

But the MVP award went to 6-10 Tom Riker of Long Island. Granted Riker is a fine player, and he was the top rebounder, but he wasn't as electrifying as Simpson or Fraley.

The most amazing shot of the evening was made by Wuycik. He went up for a jumper from the side, was intimidated by his taller defender, but changed shooting hands in mid-air and banked the shot home. Henry Bacon of Louisville, another fine player on the U. S. squad, made a similar shot, but from closer range.

An interesting innovation was three officials for each game. The officials concerned loved it, running less, but it seemed as though the usual number of fouls were missed and bad calls made.

Pennsylvania's 103-90 loss points up what observers have been saying all season long — this is a bad year for scholastic basketball in the Keystone State. But the Roundball Classic, despite some shortcomings, was a fine show and will continue to be so.

West Wins Star Game

Mount, Maravich Star In Olympic Tryouts

By PAUL PETROTTA
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Adapting to international rules remains the biggest hurdle U.S. Olympic basketball candidates must overcome, according to Coach Henry Iba.

"They have to be more aggressive on that board play," Iba said, "and they don't know how to foul for profit yet."

Iba made his remarks Saturday after the West beat the East 95-88 in the annual college all-star game held this year in conjunction with the Olympic pre-trials.

Both teams, along with the Central and College Division teams of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which also worked out here last week, went to Albuquerque, N.M., Sunday.

The four squads, plus teams from the Amateur Athletic Union, the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, the National Junior College Athletic Association and the Armed Forces, will practice today through Wednesday. They will play three games each in a round-robin competition in the Olympic selection tournament Thursday through Saturday.

The Olympic team of 12 and six alternates is expected to be announced Sunday.

Iba, who is supervising the Olympic workouts, said fouling for profit meant that if a guard saw a player ready to shoot, he should foul him before the shot.

Under international rules, when a player is fouled before the shot, the ball is taken out of bounds. When the foul occurs in the act of shooting, two shots are awarded.

In the all-star encounter, Purdue's Rick Mount teamed with Jo Jo White of Kansas late in the second half to lead the West to victory. Mount topped all scorers with 24 points.

Pete Maravich of Louisiana State had 16 points and played an alert floor game for the East. He was named the game's top player.

Hawks Top S.F., Alive In West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The depleted Philadelphia 76ers have managed to hang onto their five starters, but they had to replace their sparkplug to get moving against the New York Knicks.

Johnny Green, 34 years old and without a playoff game in his National Basketball Association career until nine days ago, provided the spark Sunday as the 76ers ran over the Knicks 123-105 in Philadelphia.

Filling in for hot-shot sixth man Billy Cunningham, who is out with a broken wrist, Green fused a third quarter rally with five points and six rebounds for a 92-80 lead, and the 76ers never looked back.

The victory put the injury-riddled world champion 76ers up 3-2 in this best-of-7 Eastern Division semifinal series with a chance to wrap it up tonight in New York.

"We're in the driver's seat now," said 76er Coach Alex Hannum.

Boston, expected to meet Philadelphia in the division final playoff after finishing second to the 76ers in regular season play, stood by its old standbys for a similar decisive third quarter that downed Detroit 110-96 in Boston.

The Celtics, also taking a 3-2 lead, can clinch their series in Detroit tonight.

The St. Louis Hawks, their backs against the wall at the Washington University Field House in St. Louis, rebounded to a 129-103 rout over San Francisco and sent that Western Division semifinal back to San Francisco Tuesday night.

The Warriors, who finished 13 games behind the Hawks in regular season play, still hold a 3-2 lead.

Favored Los Angeles did not let Chicago off the hook and won their set, 4-1, by crushing the Bulls 122-99 Sunday night in Los Angeles.

In the American Basketball Association, Denver evened its best-of-5 semifinal series at 2-2 by beating New Orleans 108-100.

Green, who has bounced around the NBA for nine years and came to the 76ers from San Diego in January, got nine points to help Philadelphia to a 56-all halftime tie. Playing with an injury — a dislocated finger — like four of the 76er starters, he finished with 16 points and 11 rebounds.

"I realize I have to make some contribution like Billy has been making," he said, calling Sunday's contribution his greatest thrill.

Hal Greer led Philadelphia with 38 points while Cazzie Russell had 31 for the Knicks.

Bailey Howell, Sam Jones John Havlicek lit the fuse under Boston as the Cletics turned an eight-point deficit early in the third period into an 83-80 lead entering the fourth. Detroit never caught up.

St. Louis zoomed to a 17-point first quarter lead and San Francisco never got closer than 10 as Bill Bridges scored 28 points and Lou Hudson 26 for the Hawks.

The Lakers increased a 58-55 halftime lead to a 75-60 bulge with their own third-quarter blitz against the Bulls. Elgin Baylor led Los Angeles with 37 points.

Denver, aided when New Orleans' Doug Moe fouled out with the game tied 86-all, grabbe 10-point lead as Willie Murrell scored 16 of his 28 points in the final period.

Mikita Takes NHL Scoring Championship

Stan Mikita and the St. Louis Blues have won the final skirmishes of the National Hockey League's longest season.

Thursday night, an all-out war of attrition begins on four NHL fronts—with Mikita and the Blues in the front lines.

Chicago's Mikita struck for his 40th goal and two assists Sunday night in the Black Hawks' 5-5 regular season-closing deadlock with Detroit and captured the individual scoring title for the fourth time in five years.

The Blues, meanwhile, trimmed Minnesota 5-3 and beat out the North Stars for third place in the West Division—the last spot up for grabs in the expanded 12-team circuit.

In other season finales, New York topped Montreal's East Division champs 4-2; Pittsburgh flattened Philadelphia's expansion West Division titlists 5-1 and Toronto downed Boston 4-1.

Sunday's action brought the curtain down on the 74-game regular schedule and set up the following pairings for Thursday night's openers in the Stanley Cup playoff quarter-finals:

Mikita, whose 97 points last season matched the all-time record set by teammate Bobby Hull in 1965-66, finished with 87 Sunday night, staving off late challenges by Boston's Phil Esposito and Detroit marvel Gordie Howe.

Esposito scored his 38th goal in Sunday night's loss to Toronto and took runnerup honors with 84 points. Howe, who celebrated his 40th birthday in the last game of his 22nd NHL season, settled for a single assist and wound up third with 82 points.

The scoring crown will net Mikita a $1,000 league bonus.

New York's two-goal margin over the Canadiens gave Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin a $250 prize for the best goals-against mark in the second half of the season. Montreal's Rogatien Vachon and Gump Worsley had nailed the Vezina Trophy with the lowest over-all yield and had a one-goal second half edge over Giacomin going into the game.

But Phil Goyette and Camille Henry beat Vachon in the third period, enabling Giacomin to nip the Montreal duo by one goal as the second place Rangers completed their finest season in the last 10, four points behind the pennant-winning Canadiens.

Third period goals by Frank St. Marseille, Red Berenson and Terry Crisp carried St. Louis past Minnesota for a weekend sweep over the North Stars. The Blues finished with 70 points, one more than Minnesota, two less than second place Los Angeles and three off Philadelphia's pace.

Backed by Hank Bassen's brilliant goaltending, Pittsburgh toppled Philadelphia for the second time in two days. The Penguins finished with a four-game winning streak—but missed the fourth and final playoff spot in the West by two points.

Goalie Bruce Gamble kicked out 45 Boston shots as the Maple Leafs, out of the playoff money for the first time in 10 years, spoiled the Bruins' finale and thwarted Esposito's bid for the scoring championship.

Penguins Win Four, Fall Short

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Penguins were the hottest team in the league at the close of the National Hockey League season, but it did them no good.

The Penguins finished the season with a five-game undefeated streak including victories in their last four games. They still finished fifth in the West Division, though, four points behind fourth-place Minnesota and five points behind third-place St. Louis.

A fifth-place finish means the Penguins will have to wait until next year before they can get a shot at the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Sunday night's 5-1 success at Pittsburgh and Saturday night's 2-0 victory on neutral ice at Quebec gave the Penguins the season series from their intra-state rivals 4-3-3.

Five different players scored for Pittsburgh in the Sunday night finale that attracted 6,756 to the Civic Arena.

Wisconsin Man Wins All-Events

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jack Connaughton of LaCrosse, Wis., has captured for the second straight year the all-events title in the 10th annual College Union finals of the American Bowling Congress.

Earlier, he and partner Joe Fodel of the University of Dayton combined for a doubles 1,106 to take fourth place in that event.

Connaughton again will represent the United States in the International Masters in December at Guadalajara, Mexico.

Hitless Yankees Face Long Year

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP — Reserve outfielder Andy Kosco stole home in the eighth inning of the year's first exhibition game and the New York Yankees hung on for a 1-0 victory.

New York's legendary eighth-inning lightning of the 1940s and '50s is long gone. The power has been shut off in the Bronx and 1968 looks like another year of pitch, putt and pray for the Yanks—with a little more Go-Go this time around.

The Yankees have been bunting and running more than ever this spring. Unfortunately, they've been doing very little hitting, despite Manager Ralph Houk's hope for a recharged attack.

In inching from last place in 1966 to ninth last season, the Yankees batted .225 as a team —second lowest in the majors. And they barely reached the 100 home run mark.

Mickey Mantle, shifted from the outfield to first base, drilled 22 homers to take fifth place on the all-time list with a 17-year total of 518. Tom Tresh, hobbled by a knee injury, connected for 14, one more than Joe Pepitone —who had slugged 31 in 1966— and three more than rookie Steve Whitaker. No one else had more than nine.

Mantle's .249 average was the lowest of his career, however. Tresh, .219, Pepitone, .251, Whitaker, .241, and rookie Bill Robinson, .196, failed to provide the outfield punch so long a trademark of Yankee teams.

Horace Clarke led AL second basemen in fielding, hit a respectable .272 and stole 21 bases. But third baseman Charlie Smith, .224, shortstop Ruben Amaro, .223, and catcher Jake Gibbs, .233, weren't much help.

With Smith recovering from a knee operation, the third base job will go, at least temporarily, to either Mike Ferraro or Bob Cox. Ferraro flunked a 1967 spring trial but came on strong at Spokane in the second half of the Pacific Coast League season. Cox, acquired from Atlanta, hit .297 with 14 homers for the Braves' Richmond farm club in the International League.

Ferraro has been found to be suffering from glaucoma, an eye disease that is incurable but can be controlled. Ferraro will be on medication for the rest of his life but he should be able to continue playing.

After losing shortstop prospects Bobby Murcer and Jerry Kenney to the military in successive years, the Yanks tried vainly to trade for either Luis Aparicio or Zoilo Versalles last winter. They finally picked up Gene Michael, a light-hitting glove man, from Los Angeles. He'll likely start ahead of Amaro, who can fill in at all infield positions.

The pitching should be deeper than last year, when southpaw Al Downing came into his own with a 14-10 mark and Mel Stottlemyre, a 20-game loser in 1966, rebounded to 15-15. They didn't get too much help, except from reliever Dooley Womack, who had 16 saves and a 2.41 earned run average, and mid-season pickup Bill Monbouquette, who was 6-5 with a 2.33 ERA.

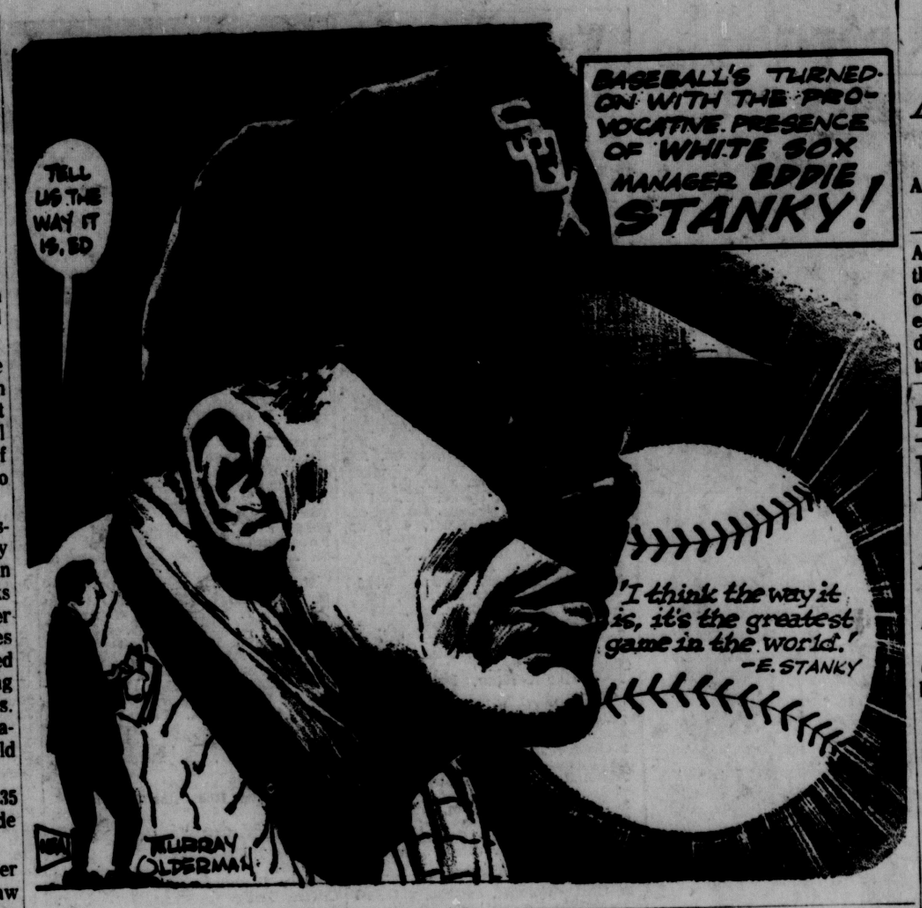
Houk thinks Barber can bounce back and is pleased with Bouton's early success in exhibition play. Offensively, the Yankee skipper feels Tresh can regain his touch after a successful knee operation, Whitaker and Robinson can begin realizing their potential and Pepitone can begin popping the long ball again.

Mantle is a year older and the third-short-catcher problems are unresolved, but Houk remains optimistic.

He's determined to reach the top again—even if the Yankees have to bunt, steal or brawl to get there.



Bernie Allen Scores Winner

The National League has parted company with the Washington Senators. It's the best thing that's happened to the National League all spring.

Washington pushed over an unearned run in the eighth inning Sunday and edged the Houston Astros 3-2, completing an 11-game exhibition sweep over National League opposition.

The victory gave the Senators an over-all record of 15-5—best in the exhibition circuit.

Bernie Allen singled in the eighth, moved around to third on two infield outs and scored the winning run on one of three errors committed by Hector Torres, the Astros' rookie shortstop. Ken McMullen delivered the other Washington runs with a homer and sacrifice fly.

Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's All-star third baseman, was hit below the left ear by a Steve Blass pitch in the fifth inning of Pittsburgh's 3-1 victory over the Orioles. Robinson, who was wearing an ear flap on his batting helmet, escaped serious injury but will miss tonight's game against the Senators.

Cincinnati pounded the New York Yankees 8-2, scoring seven runs off Mel Stottlemyre in the first three innings. Mel Queen, who blanked New York on two hits through five frames, was the winner.

Tommy Davis' three-run homer and the shutout pitching of Bob Priddl, Bob Locker, Wilbur Wood and Don McMahon led the Chicago White Sox to a 6-0 victory over Philadelphia, ending the Phils' winning streak at five games.

Detroit, Minnesota and California won extra innings struggles.

The Tigers nipped St. Louis 6-5 in 12 innings, Wayne Comer delivering the tie-breaking run with a pinch double. Mickey Stanley hit a three-run homer and Willie Horton a solo blast for the winners.

Rod Carew's 12th-inning homer gave the Twins a 3-2 nod over Boston. Elston Howard drove in the Red Sox runs with a single and homer.

The Angels spotted Cleveland two runs in the top of the 11th, then rallied in the bottom of the inning for a 6-5 victory on run-scoring singles by Jay Johnstone, Rick Reichardt and Chuck Hinton.

Los Angeles clipped Ron Herbel for six runs in the first three innings and held off San Francisco 9-7 despite homers by the Giants' Willie McCovey and Jackie Hiatt.

Atlanta rookie Ron Reed scattered four hits through seven innings and reliever Claude Raymond completed a seven-hit, 2-0 victory for the Braves over the New York Mets, who have been blanked twice in a row and six times.

The Indians' B squad peppered Ken Holtzman for six runs in five innings and ripped the Chicago Cubs 9-2 while the White Sox Bs edged Oakland 4-3 on Rich Severson's RBI single in the 10th inning.

Angels Try To Improve

By JIM CHUCRH
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The California Angels, an American League novelty when they challenged for the pennant only one year after being created by expansion, have settled down to being just a good team trying to improve.

The Angels, now eight years old, were fifth last year, 7½ games back, and helped knock Minnesota and Detroit out of the race.

Ellis, a 22-game winner in 1965, was hit hard as the exhibition season progressed.

While Ellis was having his troubles, the Angels were encouraged by the improvement of Fred Newman, whose arm ailments limited him to only five wins over the last two seasons. Newman was a mainstay of the pitching staff in 1964-65, with 13-10 and 14-16 record.

The Angels are hoping that one of them can join the starting rotation of George Brunet, 11-19 last year, Ricky Clark, 12-11 and Jim McGlothlin, 12-8.

Best of the young pitching candidates are Ken Tatum, 12-6 at San Jose, Calif., and Marty Pattin, 12-11 at Seattle.

Jack Hamilton, 2-0 for the New York Mets and 9-6 for the Angels, and Minnie Rojas, 12-9, head the bullpen corps.

Hickcox Individual Star

Indiana Eyes Olympics After NCAA Swim Win

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Indiana coach Doc Counsilman knows his newly-crowned NCAA swimming champions can't make the Olympics en masse, but he wants them all to try."

"I'm not going to single out Olympic prospects," Counsilman said after his charged-up Hoosiers ended long years of frustration by making a runaway of the 1968 NCAA meet.

"We want every boy to train for the trials as long as he has the slightest ghost of a chance —and we think everyone on the team has that," added the veteran mentor who coached the U.S. Olympic team to its smashing success in 1964.

One Hoosier ace whose chances seem more corporeal than spectral has to be Charlie Hickcox, the meet's individual star with three record-breaking victories. The 21-year-old junior from Phoenix, Ariz., lowered American standards with a 1:52.5 clocking in the 200-yard individual medley and a ;52.1 in defending his 10-yard backstroke crown, then erased his own NCAA and meet marks with a 1:54.6 effort to retain the 200-yard backstroke title.

The feats of Hickcox and his teammates dominated over-all competition in the three-day meet at Dartmouth college, but UCLA's Mike Burton turned in the biggest single highlight with a historic smashing of the 16-minute barrier in the 1,650-yard freestyle.

The 5-foot-9 "Mighty Mite" churned to a 15:59.4 clocking on Saturday's closing night. The feat, comparable to the sub four minute mile in track, erased his own record of 16:08 set a year ago.

The big story of the meet, though, had to be the victory of the long-thwarted Hoosiers, who had won just about every other honor in Counsilman's 10 years at the helm only to miss out on the top prize. For three years (1961-63) a football probation prevented Indiana from competing, then the Hoosiers finished second by heartbreaking margins the next three years and third in 1967.

This year, however, they left no doubts. Led by Hickcox, Captain Bill Utley and a group of divers, the Hoosiers piled up 346 points. Yale had 253, Southern California 231 and defending champion Stanford 205, with the rest of the field far behind.

Olympic Boxing Trials At Maumee

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The National AAU boxing tournament opens at nearby Maumee Thursday with an estimated 300 fighters gunning for a place on the U.S. Olympic team.

The winners here will automatically qualify for the Olympic final trials this fall.

Titles in the three-day tournament at the Lucas County Recreation Center will be decided in 11 weight classes including a new weight division of 105 pounds to conform to international rules set up for the Olympics. Asian nations asked for the lighter weight.

For the first time, the AAU will institute three, three-minute rounds with a minute rest between rounds, as required under Olympic rules. The AAU matches usually involve three, two-minute rounds with the minute rest. There will be three judges and a referee for each bout, with only the judges rendering the decision.

Killy Casual About World Ski Title

ROSSLAND, B.C. (AP) — With victory virtually assured, Jean Claude Killy of France can afford to be casual about the race today in which he can clinch his second World Cup ski title.

"I just arrived here," he said Thursday night. "I don't know who's racing against me. I haven't looked at the course at all yet. . . .I won't practice before the slalom but I don't mind."

Killy has 186 points in World Cup standings and the only way he could lose would be if Gerhard Nenning of Austria wins his next four races at Red Mountain meet here or at Heavenly Valley, Calif., April 6-7.

Killy's French ski team coaches dismissed Nenning's chances and named American skier Rick Chaffee, 23, as a threat in the slalom today, second day of the four-day Red Mountain international meet.

Coaches expected fewer disqualifications and falls in the men's event than there were in the women's slalom Thursday, won by Marielle Goitschel, a French ski team star since 1962.

Twenty women were disqualified and 12 others, including Canadian Nancy Greene of Rossland, defending world women's champion, fell and did not finish the race over two tough courses. Miss Greene wrenched her right ankle.

But the team had some consolation. Kiki Cutter, 18, of Bend, Ore., was thirl in the slalom in 92.52 seconds and Wendy Allen, 23, of San Pedro, Calif., was fourth in 92.60.

Woodrow Wilson, in addressing Congress in 1918, named 14 principles as essential to peace. These proposals became famous as the "Fourteen Points."

Mel Queen Pitches Well For Reds

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds rested easy in the dugout knowing that when pitcher Mel Queen enumerates his arm ailments he usually comes through in winning form.

That's what happened Sunday when Cincinnati defeated the New York Yankees 8-2—largely on the strength of Queen's five innings.

"My arm feels all right. I guess it's time to stop worrying," the converted outfielder said afterward.

What pleased Mel was control. He said he felt he could have gone beyond the fifth, but pitching coach Mel Harder "told me the time to get out is when the arm is loose."

Actually, the game was already in the bag—as the Reds collected five runs in the third after picking up a couple in the first.

Indians Split Squad, Win One, Lose One

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) —There's one good thing about splitting a baseball team. You have two chances of claiming a victory.

The Cleveland Indians had it both ways Sunday. They lost to the California Angels 6-5 in 11 innings here but won a 9-2 victory in Tucson, Ariz., over the Chicago Cubs.

Tribe Manager Alvin Dark was in Palm Springs, so he was with the losers. Steve Hargan worked six innings, and was followed by three other pitchers, including Hal Kurtz, who apparently has made the varsity. Kurtz, a 24-year-old rookie, will get the word Tuesday.

California rallied to beat the Tribe on singles by Jay Johnstone, Rick Reichardt and Chuck Hinton in the 11th. The Tribe had taken the lead in the top half of the inning on Tommy Harper's two-run single.

Hargan said one more exhibition outing and 'I'll be ready." The right-hander said he used all his pitches, including "five or six" half-speed curves.

"I never said I was going to scrap the curve," added Hargan, who was plagued by elbow trouble last season. "I only said I might if it gives my elbow any more trouble."

"But it isn't hurting me now. Maybe it's only a matter of throwing my curve easier. What it really is now is a sort of change-up breaking pitch."

Hargan will get his next chance Friday against the San Francisco Giants in San Diego.

Cincinnatian Wins Athens Marathon

"The rain was really a help to me," said the Cincinnatian after winning the event by running the 26-mile, 385-yard course in 2 hours, 42 minutes. Sewell is a freshman at Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn.

Just 30 seconds behind Sewell for second place was Arthur Pledger of the Ohio River Road Runners Club of Dayton. His time was 2 hours, 42 minutes, 30 seconds.

Twenty-three of the 36 runners who started the event at Coolville crossed the finish line in Peden Stadium at Ohio University. The oldest runner was 61-year-old Clair Dickham of Dayton, who finished 21st. His time was 3 hours, 56 minutes, 30 seconds.

Sponsors of the marathon, the Hockhocking Track Club of Athens, hope to make it an annual event with as much interest as the Boston Marathon.

Club President Ellsworth J. Holden Jr. greeted Sewell as he puffed into the stadium, crowned him with an olive wreath and proclaimed him the "state of Ohio marathon champ."

Hitless Yankees Face Long Year

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP — Reserve outfielder Andy Kosco stole home in the eighth inning of the year's first exhibition game and the New York Yankees hung on for a 1-0 victory.

New York's legendary eighth-inning lightning of the 1940s and '50s is long gone. The power has been shut off in the Bronx and 1968 looks like another year of pitch, putt and pray for the Yanks—with a little more Go-Go this time around.

The Yankees have been bunting and running more than ever this spring. Unfortunately, they've been doing very little hitting, despite Manager Ralph Houk's hope for a recharged attack.

In inching from last place in 1966 to ninth last season, the Yankees batted .225 as a team —second lowest in the majors. And they barely reached the 100 home run mark.

Mickey Mantle, shifted from the outfield to first base, drilled 22 homers to take fifth place on the all-time list with a 17-year total of 518. Tom Tresh, hobbled by a knee injury, connected for 14, one more than Joe Pepitone —who had slugged 31 in 1966— and three more than rookie Steve Whitaker. No one else had more than nine.

Mantle's .249 average was the lowest of his career, however. Tresh, .219, Pepitone, .251, Whitaker, .241, and rookie Bill Robinson, .196, failed to provide the outfield punch so long a trademark of Yankee teams.

Horace Clarke led AL second basemen in fielding, hit a respectable .272 and stole 21 bases. But third baseman Charlie Smith, .224, shortstop Ruben Amaro, .223, and catcher Jake Gibbs, .233, weren't much help.

The Yankees made few significant changes during the winter. The same cast once more will be counted on to support a hard-pressed pitching staff.

With Smith recovering from a knee operation, the third base job will go, at least temporarily, to either Mike Ferraro or Bob Cox. Ferraro flunked a 1967 spring trial but came on strong at Spokane in the second half of the Pacific Coast League season. Cox, acquired from Atlanta, hit .297 with 14 homers for the Braves' Richmond farm club in the International League.

Ferraro has been found to be suffering from glaucoma, an eye disease that is incurable but can be controlled. Ferraro will be on medication for the rest of his life but he should be able to continue playing.

After losing shortstop prospects Bobby Murcer and Jerry Kenney to the military in successive years, the Yanks tried vainly to trade for either Luis Aparicio or Zoilo Versalles last winter. They finally picked up Gene Michael, a light-hitting glove man, from Los Angeles. He'll likely start ahead of Amaro, who can fill in at all infield positions.

The pitching should be deeper than last year, when southpaw Al Downing came into his own with a 14-10 mark and Mel Stottlemyre, a 20-game loser in 1966, rebounded to 15-15. They didn't get too much help, except from reliever Dooley Womack, who had 16 saves and a 2.41 earned run average, and mid-season pickup Bill Monbouquette, who was 6-5 with a 2.33 ERA.

Houk thinks Barber can bounce back and is pleased with Bouton's early success in exhibition play. Offensively, the Yankee skipper feels Tresh can regain his touch after a successful knee operation, Whitaker and Robinson can begin realizing their potential and Pepitone can begin popping the long ball again.

Mantle is a year older and the third-short-catcher problems are unresolved, but Houk remains optimistic.

He's determined to reach the top again—even if the Yankees have to bunt, steal or brawl to get there.

Bernie Allen Scores Winner

The National League has parted company with the Washington Senators. It's the best thing that's happened to the National League all spring.

Washington pushed over an unearned run in the eighth inning Sunday and edged the Houston Astros 3-2, completing an 11-game exhibition sweep over National League opposition.

The victory gave the Senators an over-all record of 15-5—best in the exhibition circuit.

Bernie Allen singled in the eighth, moved around to third on two infield outs and scored the winning run on one of three errors committed by Hector Torres, the Astros' rookie shortstop. Ken McMullen delivered the other Washington runs with a homer and sacrifice fly.

Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's All-star third baseman, was hit below the left ear by a Steve Blass pitch in the fifth inning of Pittsburgh's 3-1 victory over the Orioles. Robinson, who was wearing an ear flap on his batting helmet, escaped serious injury but will miss tonight's game against the Senators.

Cincinnati pounded the New York Yankees 8-2, scoring seven runs off Mel Stottlemyre in the first three innings. Mel Queen, who blanked New York on two hits through five frames, was the winner.

Tommy Davis' three-run homer and the shutout pitching of Bob Priddl, Bob Locker, Wilbur Wood and Don McMahon led the Chicago White Sox to a 6-0 victory over Philadelphia, ending the Phils' winning streak at five games.

Detroit, Minnesota and California won extra innings struggles.

The Tigers nipped St. Louis 6-5 in 12 innings, Wayne Comer delivering the tie-breaking run with a pinch double. Mickey Stanley hit a three-run homer and Willie Horton a solo blast for the winners.

Rod Carew's 12th-inning homer gave the Twins a 3-2 nod over Boston. Elston Howard drove in the Red Sox runs with a single and homer.

The Angels spotted Cleveland two runs in the top of the 11th, then rallied in the bottom of the inning for a 6-5 victory on run-scoring singles by Jay Johnstone, Rick Reichardt and Chuck Hinton.

Los Angeles clipped Ron Herbel for six runs in the first three innings and held off San Francisco 9-7 despite homers by the Giants' Willie McCovey and Jackie Hiatt.

Atlanta rookie Ron Reed scattered four hits through seven innings and reliever Claude Raymond completed a seven-hit, 2-0 victory for the Braves over the New York Mets, who have been blanked twice in a row and six times.

The Indians' B squad peppered Ken Holtzman for six runs in five innings and ripped the Chicago Cubs 9-2 while the White Sox Bs edged Oakland 4-3 on Rich Severson's RBI single in the 10th inning.

Angels Try To Improve

By JIM CHUCRH
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The California Angels, an American League novelty when they challenged for the pennant only one year after being created by expansion, have settled down to being just a good team trying to improve.

The Angels, now eight years old, were fifth last year, 7½ games back, and helped knock Minnesota and Detroit out of the race.

The Angels are looking for regulars at four positions and had not hit a home run in 18 exhibition games.

Ellis, a 22-game winner in 1965, was hit hard as the exhibition season progressed.

While Ellis was having his troubles, the Angels were encouraged by the improvement of Fred Newman, whose arm ailments limited him to only five wins over the last two seasons. Newman was a mainstay of the pitching staff in 1964-65, with 13-10 and 14-16 record.

The Angels are hoping that one of them can join the starting rotation of George Brunet, 11-19 last year, Ricky Clark, 12-11 and Jim McGlothlin, 12-8.

Best of the young pitching candidates are Ken Tatum, 12-6 at San Jose, Calif., and Marty Pattin, 12-11 at Seattle.

Jack Hamilton, 2-0 for the New York Mets and 9-6 for the Angels, and Minnie Rojas, 12-9, head the bullpen corps.

Indiana Eyes Olympics After NCAA Swim Win

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Indiana coach Doc Counsilman knows his newly-crowned NCAA swimming champions can't make the Olympics en masse, but he wants them all to try."

"I'm not going to single out Olympic prospects," Counsilman said after his charged-up Hoosiers ended long years of frustration by making a runaway of the 1968 NCAA meet.

"We want every boy to train for the trials as long as he has the slightest ghost of a chance —and we think everyone on the team has that," added the veteran mentor who coached the U.S. Olympic team to its smashing success in 1964.

One Hoosier ace whose chances seem more corporeal than spectral has to be Charlie Hickcox, the meet's individual star with three record-breaking victories. The 21-year-old junior from Phoenix, Ariz., lowered American standards with a 1:52.5 clocking in the 200-yard individual medley and a :52.1 in defending his 10-yard backstroke crown, then erased his own NCAA and meet marks with a 1:54.6 effort to retain the 200-yard backstroke title.

The feats of Hickcox and his teammates dominated over-all competition in the three-day meet at Dartmouth college, but UCLA's Mike Burton turned in the biggest single highlight with a historic smashing of the 16-minute barrier in the 1,650-yard freestyle.

The 5-foot-9 "Mighty Mite" churned to a 15:59.4 clocking on Saturday's closing night. The feat, comparable to the sub four minute mile in track, erased his own record of 16:08 set a year ago.

The big story of the meet, though, had to be the victory of the long-thwarted Hoosiers, who had won just about every other honor in Counsilman's 10 years at the helm only to miss out on the top prize. For three years (1961-63) a football probation prevented Indiana from competing, then the Hoosiers finished second by heartbreaking margins the next three years and third in 1967.

This year, however, they left no doubts. Led by Hickcox, Captain Bill Utley and a group of divers, the Hoosiers piled up 346 points. Yale had 253, Southern California 231 and defending champion Stanford 205, with the rest of the field far behind.

Kentucky Derby Seems Wide Open

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Kentucky Derby, America's most famous horse race, is shaping up as the most wide open in years.

There are at least 13 colts whose credentials stamp them as contenders in the 94th running of the $125,000 Triple Crown classic at Churchill Downs in Louisville, Ky. May 4.

Currently heading the list is Forward Pass and Alley Fighter, the winners of last Saturday's $134,000 Florida Derby and the $147,100 Santa Anita Derby, respectively.

The other leading 3-yearolds include Vitriolic, Captain's Gig, Iron Ruler, Wise Exchange, Bugged, Don B., T.V. Commercial, Dancer's Image, Verbatim, Clever Foot and Dewan.

Dewan, previously unbeaten in five starts, finished third in the Santa Anita Derby that elevated Alley Fighter into the limelight.

Alley Fighter, a Florida-bred owned by Charles Englehard of Far Hills, N.J., drew out in the stretch and beat Don B. by two lengths. Dewan was another length back. Jockey Laffit Pincay, Jr. rode Alley Fighter who ran the 1⅛ miles under 120 pounds in 1:49.

Forward pass, a Kentucky-silks of Calumet Farm, turned back the challenge of the favored Iron Ruler to win the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park by 2½ lengths.

Forward pass, a kentucky-bred, toted 122 pounds and ran the 1 miles in 1:49 under jockey Don Brumfield.

Alley Fighter and Forward Pass both are expected to be shipped to Keeneland in Lexington, Ky. for the Bluegrass Stakes during the meeting that opens Saturday.

Ashe Upsets Emerson In Garden Trophy Net

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the world's top players, Roy Emerson and Arthur Ashe, predicted today that the International Lawn Tennis Federation's plan to create a new category — the authorized player — would not work.

"It seems awful complicated to me—I don't think it will work," said Emerson, the veteran Australian who has won all the world's top amateur titles, some several times.

"It's ridiculous. I don't think it will last six months," said Ashe, Negro member of the U.S. Davis Cup Team.

Ashe, a lieutenant in the U.S. Army, upset the top-seeded Emerson 6-4, 6-4, 7-5 Saturday night for the men's crown in the Garden Challenge Trophy Tournament.

It was Emerson's last appearance as an amateur. Today in Los Angeles he is slated to sign a pro contract guaranteeing him $100,000 a year for three years.

The women's title went to Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., who defeated Judy Tegart of Australia 7-5, 7-5. The little Texas girl scored a smashing upset in the semifinal over world amateur queen Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., who also signs a pro contract today for a guaranteed 80,000 over two years.

Shortly before the players took the court for the Garden final, the ILTF in Paris approved a limited number of open tournaments and decided on three categories of players.

They are pros, who play for money, authorized players, top amateurs who can demand appearance and expense money, and pure amateurs, who are supposed to play for the fun of it.

Gengerella, Farnum Win Doubles Title

Lou Gengerella and Joe Farnum held on to first place to win the doubles championship in the forty-fifth annual City Association Bowling Tournament held over the weekend at the Headpin Lanes.

In the all-events honors went to Ralph Yanni, who posted a total of 1,886 pins to take the handicap division while his 1,695 was high for the scratch division. George LaNeve finished second in the handicap singles with an 1,834 followed by Lou Gengerella with an 1,820 for third.

Lisbon Police Charge Driver After Mishap

LISBON — Mildred Claar, 4, of Lisbon RD 1 was charged here Saturday with leaving the scene of an accident and being found in a state of intoxication.

Policeman John Vokovich arrested her at a local tavern after witnesses reported she was driving north on Jefferson St. and ran into the left rear corner of a parked car just south of the E. Lincoln Way intersection.

Police estimated $250 damage to the rear of a 1960 convertible which Terry Lee Dotson, 20, of E. Lincoln Way had parked on the east side of Jefferson. The accident occurred at 9:35 p.m.

Eggs and rabbits heralded the spring season centuries before the first Easter baskets was filled, the National Geographic Society says. Persians, Phoenicians, Greeks and Romans all associated eggs with the waking earth. The Chaldeans of ancient Babylonia chose the rabbit as a spring fertility symbol.

Plans Are Launched For Softball League

LISBON — Jack Jackson of Lisbon says he is optimistic about getting a softball league organized here this season.

Three teams were assured at the initial planning meeting Sunday afternoon at Pine Tree Inn on Route 45. Another meeting will be held there at 2.30 p.m. next Sunday to try and get three more teams lined up. Jackson asks players or sponsors to contact him.

He said County Engineer John Ursu has offered to scrape the Pine Tree Inn diamond where the softball teams will play.

Britisher Tony Jacklin Wins Jacksonville Open

By F. T. MacFEELY

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Not since Ted Ray took the U.S. Open in 1920 had an English golfer won a major American tournament.

Then along came Tony Jacklin, quietly happy Tony Jacklin. A golfer with ice water in the veins—the kind that wins and wins and becomes great.

At the age of 23, Jacklin is a winner with every promise of joining the ranks of the great—which he thinks of as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Ben Hogan, but with no idea of patterning himself after any one of them.

He said he was nervous, but he never showed it as he faced down Palmer in the final round of the greater Jacksonville Open Sunday. He admitted he utilized "Arnie's Army" as his own battery-charger to a 15-under-par 273 and the $20,000 first money.

It was the first time a golfer from England had ever won on the Professional Golfers Association tour.

Even before Jacklin hit the jackpot, Player was calling him potentially the greatest English golfer since Henry Cotton and the man most likely to be his nation's next sports hero.

Palmer had dropped out of contention early after starting the day one stroke back of Jacklin. Doug Sanders, who couldn't match his golf strokes to his fire-engine-red wardrobe, faded after holding at least a share of the lead through three rounds.

Sanders' 73, with the help of a 40-foot finishing putt, tied him for second at 275 with Don January, Gardner Dickinson, Chi Chi Rodriguez and DeWitt Weaver Jr. Each collected $6,520.

Palmer was at 276 and Jack Nicklaus, never a contender throughout the 72-hole event, finished 23rd at 280.

Personalities In The News

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, a son-in-law of President Johnson, arrived here today for two or three days of processing at Camp Butler preparatory to service in Vietnam.

Robb, 28, is scheduled for 13 months' duty in Vietnam.

Marine officials at Da Nang, Vietnam, said Sunday that Robb will be assigned to the 1st Marine Division in the northern combat sector.

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — American evangelist Billy Graham arrived in Sydney today to begin his second Australian crusade.

ALTADENA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Judy Canova was taken to Lovina Sanitarium in Altadena when she suffered an attack of emphysema Sunday, the sheriff's office said.

The 51-year-old comedienne reportedly was taken from a private nursing home. A spokesman for the sanitarium said her condition was good.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has ordered stepped-up production of lightweight M16s rifles for South Vietnamese, South Koreans and rear-echelon GIs in the Vietnam war zone.

The increased production to speed modernization of the South Vietnamese army was announced before President Johnson's Sunday night address in which he referred, to re-equipping South Vietnamese forces.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has announced plans to trim overseas U.S. government employe rolls 12 per cent—and administration officials say the cuts eventually could be 24 per cent.

Johnson announced approval over the weekend of a plan to lop 2,779 U.S. employes off the roster of 22,757 at embassies and other posts around the world.

He said further cuts will be made later this year.

Capital Footnotes

Vivacious Trenny Robb, 20, sister of President Johnson's son-in-law Capt. Charles Robb, has been crowned Wisconsin's 1968 Cherry Blossom princess.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says his civil rights campaigns will prevent him from accepting an invitation to join other U.S. civil rights leaders in helping mediate the Ngierian factional dispute.

Kentucky Derby Seems Wide Open

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Kentucky Derby, America's most famous horse race, is shaping up as the most wide open in years.

There are at least 13 colts whose credentials stamp them as contenders in the 94th running of the $125,000 Triple Crown classic at Churchill Downs in Louisville, Ky. May 4.

Currently heading the list is Forward Pass and Alley Fighter, the winners of last Saturday's $134,000 Florida Derby and the $147,100 Santa Anita Derby, respectively.

The other leading 3-yearolds include Vitriolic, Captain's Gig, Iron Ruler, Wise Exchange, Bugged, Don B., T.V. Commercial, Dancer's Image, Verbatim, Clever Foot and Dewan.

Dewan, previously unbeaten in five starts, finished third in the Santa Anita Derby that elevated Alley Fighter into the limelight.

Alley Fighter, a Florida-bred owned by Charles Englehard of Far Hills, N.J., drew out in the stretch and beat Don B. by two lengths. Dewan was another length back. Jockey Laffit Pincay, Jr. rode Alley Fighter who ran the 1⅛ miles under 120 pounds in 1:49.

Forward pass, a Kentucky-silks of Calumet Farm, turned back the challenge of the favored Iron Ruler to win the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park by 2½ lengths.

Forward pass, a kentucky-bred, toted 122 pounds and ran the 1 miles in 1:49 under jockey Don Brumfield.

Alley Fighter and Forward Pass both are expected to be shipped to Keeneland in Lexington, Ky. for the Bluegrass Stakes during the meeting that opens Saturday.

Ashe Upsets Emerson In Garden Trophy Net

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the world's top players, Roy Emerson and Arthur Ashe, predicted today that the International Lawn Tennis Federation's plan to create a new category — the authorized player — would not work.

"It seems awful complicated to me—I don't think it will work," said Emerson, the veteran Australian who has won all the world's top amateur titles, some several times.

"It's ridiculous. I don't think it will last six months," said Ashe, Negro member of the U.S. Davis Cup Team.

Ashe, a lieutenant in the U.S. Army, upset the top-seeded Emerson 6-4, 6-4, 7-5 Saturday night for the men's crown in the Garden Challenge Trophy Tournament.

It was Emerson's last appearance as an amateur. Today in Los Angeles he is slated to sign a pro contract guaranteeing him $100,000 a year for three years.

The women's title went to Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., who defeated Judy Tegart of Australia 7-5, 7-5. The little Texas girl scored a smashing upset in the semifinal over world amateur queen Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., who also signs a pro contract today for a guaranteed 80,000 over two years.

Shortly before the players took the court for the Garden final, the ILTF in Paris approved a limited number of open tournaments and decided on three categories of players.

They are pros, who play for money, authorized players, top amateurs who can demand appearance and expense money, and pure amateurs, who are supposed to play for the fun of it.

Gengerella, Farnum Win Doubles Title

Lou Gengerella and Joe Farnum held on to first place to win the doubles championship in the forty-fifth annual City Association Bowling Tournament held over the weekend at the Headpin Lanes.

The winning doubles score was 1,284 pins. Farnum and Gengerella also took scratch honors with an 1,143. Finishing second was the team of George Lewis and George LaNeve with 1,217 and Ray and Ralph Yanni took third place with a 1,211.

Frank Benedict took the singles crown with a 652 and had the high scratch series with a 598. Rev. Donald DeCarlo came in second in the singles with a 651 series while Jim McKeoae was third with a 635.

In the all-events honors went to Ralph Yanni, who posted a total of 1,866 pins to take the handicap division while his 1,695 was high for the scratch division. George LaNeve finished second in the handicap singles with an 1,834 followed by Lou Gengerella with an 1,829 for third.

Lisbon Police Charge Driver After Mishap

LISBON — Mildred Claar, 4, of Lisbon RD 1 was charged here Saturday with leaving the scene of an accident and being found in a state of intoxication.

Policeman John Vokovich arrested her at a local tavern after witnesses reported she was driving north on Jefferson St. and ran into the left rear corner of a parked car just south of the E. Lincoln Way intersection.

Police estimated $250 damage to the rear of a 1960 convertible which Terry Lee Dotson, 20, of E. Lincoln Way had parked on the east side of Jefferson. The accident occurred at 9:35 p.m.

Eggs and rabbits heralded the spring season centuries before the first Easter baskets was filled, the National Geographic Society says. Persians, Phoenicians, Greeks and Romans all associated eggs with the waking earth. The Chaldeans of ancient Babylonia chose the rabbit as a spring fertility symbol.

Plans Are Launched For Softball League

LISBON — Jack Jackson of Lisbon says he is optimistic about getting a softball league organized here this season.

Three teams were assured at the initial planning meeting Sunday afternoon at Pine Tree Inn on Route 45. Another meeting will be held there at 2.30 p.m. next Sunday to try and get three more teams lined up. Jackson asks players or sponsors to contact him.

He said County Engineer John Ursu has offered to scrape the Pine Tree Inn diamond where the softball teams will play.

Britisher Tony Jacklin Wins Jacksonville Open

By F. T. MacFEELY

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Not since Ted Ray took the U.S. Open in 1920 had an English golfer won a major American tournament.

Then along came Tony Jacklin, quietly happy Tony Jacklin. A golfer with ice water in the veins—the kind that wins and wins and becomes great.

At the age of 23, Jacklin is a winner with every promise of joining the ranks of the great—which he thinks of as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Ben Hogan, but with no idea of patterning himself after any one of them.

He said he was nervous, but he never showed it as he faced down Palmer in the final round of the greater Jacksonville Open Sunday. He admitted he utilized "Arnie's Army" as his own battery-charger to a 15-under-par 273 and the $20,000 first money.

It was the first time a golfer from England had ever won on the Professional Golfers Association tour.

Even before Jacklin hit the jackpot, Player was calling him potentially the greatest English golfer since Henry Cotton and the man most likely to be his nation's next sports hero.

Palmer had dropped out of contention early after starting the day one stroke back of Jacklin. Doug Sanders, who couldn't match his golf strokes to his fire-engine-red wardrobe, faded after holding at least a share of the lead through three rounds.

Sanders' 73, with the help of a 40-foot finishing putt, tied him for second at 275 with Don January, Gardner Dickinson, Chi Chi Rodriguez and DeWitt Weaver Jr. Each collected $6,520.

Palmer was at 276 and Jack Nicklaus, never a contender throughout the 72-hole event, finished 23rd at 280.

Personalities In The News

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, a son-in-law of President Johnson, arrived here today for two or three days of processing at Camp Butler preparatory to service in Vietnam.

Robb, 28, is scheduled for 13 months' duty in Vietnam.

Marine officials at Da Nang, Vietnam, said Sunday that Robb will be assigned to the 1st Marine Division in the northern combat sector.

ALTADENA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Judy Canova was taken to Lovina Sanitarium in Altadena when she suffered an attack of emphysema Sunday, the sheriff's office said.

The 51-year-old comedienne reportedly was taken from a private nursing home. A spokesman for the sanitarium said her condition was good.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has ordered stepped-up production of lightweight M16s rifles for South Vietnamese, South Koreans and rear-echelon GIs in the Vietnam war zone.

The increased production to speed modernization of the South Vietnamese army was announced before President Johnson's Sunday night address in which he referred to re-equipping South Vietnamese forces.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has announced plans to trim overseas U.S. government employe rolls 12 per cent—and administration officials say the cuts eventually could be 24 per cent.

Johnson announced approval over the weekend of a plan to lop 2,779 U.S. employes off the roster of 22,757 at embassies and other posts around the world.

He said further cuts will be made later this year.

Capital Footnotes

Vivacious Trenny Robb, 20, sister of President Johnson's son-in-law Capt. Charles Robb, has been crowned Wisconsin's 1968 Cherry Blossom princess.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says his civil rights campaigns will prevent him from accepting an invitation to join other U.S. civil rights leaders in helping mediate the Ngierian factional dispute.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Acting Is A Mystery To Stewart

Jimmy Stewart was a guest on Dean Martin's first show of this season and will help Dean on his windup show next Thursday. Dean lured Jimmy on the first time with the promise he could sing "Ragtime Cowboy Joe," which is a favorite of Jimmy's.

Hal Humphrey

"I like to have an idea what I'm gonna do on these TV things," Jimmy says. "Some of these producers ask me if I'll come on their shows, then if I say, 'Yes, I'd like to,' they go running around saying to themselves, 'Migawsh! He said yes, now what're we gonna do with him?'"

-:-

JIMMY ALSO will sing a bit on Thursday's Dean Martin Show, imitating Dean as he takes over temporarily. He also does some blackout bits with Shecky Greene and George Gobel, then helps Dean "baby-sit" at Dean's house.

Some of Jimmy's fans who saw him do that beauty shop sketch with Dean and Orson Welles last fall (to be repeated next Thursday) may have thought Jimmy was spoiling his image as a serious actor, but Jimmy says he finds such things very exhilarating.

"Dean's show is done with that 'live' feeling about it. Everybody is dead serious about getting the routines to working right, but when the red light goes on the TV cameras on that last day, you never know if it won't blow up. This is exciting, and if it comes off, if that magic happens, then it's great," Jimmy observes.

OVER THE YEARS Jimmy has decided that acting is something of a mystery anyway. As far as he's concerned, an actor learns his lines the best he can, avoids tripping over the furniture, then just hopes that magic "something" happens to make it believable to the audience.

"I remember someone asked the late Stan Laurel to analyze his comedy technique, and Stan said, 'Why, that'd be like me taking a watch apart — I'd never get it back together again.'

"Well, I feel that way about acting. As for these so-called method actors, they're good, too, but I believe the method thing is just so much froth with them," Jimmy says.

IN OTHER WORDS, he feels the method ones have to depend on the magic, too, and that nobody knows when it's going to happen or why, but it just does.

"Y'know when a director does 30 takes of one scene it's said that he's either a perfectionist or doesn't know what he wants. Well, I don't think it's either of those things. He's just waiting for that special magic to happen," Jimmy injects.

Most of Jimmy's TV, aside from many of his old movies on the medium, has been with Jack Benny. When the latter had his weekly series, Jimmy and wife Gloria made more than a half-dozen appearances as Jack's neighbors, which in fact they were for a time.

"BENNY'S SHOWS were a lot like Dean's," says Jimmy. "Everybody worked hard and things ran smoothly. Also, Benny always had an idea to clue you to, and even when he went to film, every actor said his own lines."

Jimmy is referring to a practice — especially in TV — which has the script girl or someone else reading your lines when you're not actually on camera but just reacting to the actor who's in the closeup.

"I remember shooting a picture which was running past 6 o'clock, and for a long time I've had it in my contracts that I don't work past 6, so the director told me to leave and said he'd work the scenes without me.

"I TOLD HIM if the scene had me reacting then I'd have to be there, so all shooting stopped for that day, and the TV actors in it were amazed, telling me it had been the first time they'd stopped work at 6."

Jimmy's friendship with Dean, incidentally, began at the golf club to which they both belong. They also have the same agent, and recently finished a movie together, "Bandolero," which will premiere next June in San Antonio, Tex., with Jimmy and Dean on hand for the ceremony.

Raquel Welch is in it, too, just in case not everyone is a fan of Jimmy and Dean's.

Acting Is A Mystery To Stewart

Jimmy Stewart was a guest on Dean Martin's first show of this season and will help Dean on his windup show next Thursday. Dean lured Jimmy on the first time with the promise he could sing "Ragtime Cowboy Joe," which is a favorite of Jimmy's.

Hal Humphrey

"I like to have an idea what I'm gonna do on these TV things," Jimmy says. "Some of these producers ask me if I'll come on their shows, then if I say, 'Yes, I'd like to,' they go running around saying to themselves, 'Migawsh! He said yes, now what're we gonna do with him?' "

-:-

JIMMY ALSO will sing a bit on Thursday's Dean Martin Show, imitating Dean as he takes over temporarily. He also does some blackout bits with Shecky Greene and George Gobel, then helps Dean "baby-sit" at Dean's house.

Some of Jimmy's fans who saw him do that beauty shop sketch with Dean and Orson Welles last fall (to be repeated next Thursday) may have thought Jimmy was spoiling his image as a serious actor, but Jimmy says he finds such things very exhilarating.

"Dean's show is done with that 'live' feeling about it. Everybody is dead serious about getting the routines to working right, but when the red light goes on the TV cameras on that last day, you never know if it won't blow up. This is exciting, and if it comes off, if that magic happens, then it's great," Jimmy observes.

OVER THE YEARS Jimmy has decided that acting is something of a mystery anyway. As far as he's concerned, an actor learns his lines the best he can, avoids tripping over the furniture, then just hopes that magic "something" happens to make it believable to the audience.

"I remember someone asked the late Stan Laurel to analyze his comedy technique, and Stan said, 'Why, that'd be like me taking a watch apart — I'd never get it back together again.'

"Well, I feel that way about acting. As for these so-called method actors, they're good, too, but I believe the method thing is just so much froth with them," Jimmy says.

IN OTHER WORDS, he feels the method ones have to depend on the magic, too, and that nobody knows when it's going to happen or why, but it just does.

"Y'know when a director does 30 takes of one scene it's said that he's either a perfectionist or doesn't know what he wants. Well, I don't think it's either of those things. He's just waiting for that special magic to happen," Jimmy injects.

Most of Jimmy's TV, aside from many of his old movies on the medium, has been with Jack Benny. When the latter had his weekly series, Jimmy and wife Gloria made more than a half-dozen appearances as Jack's neighbors, which in fact they were for a time.

"BENNY'S SHOWS were a lot like Dean's," says Jimmy. "Everybody worked hard and things ran smoothly. Also, Benny always had an idea to clue you to, and even when he went to film, every actor said his own lines."

Jimmy is referring to a practice — especially in TV — which has the script girl or someone else reading your lines when you're not actually on camera but just reacting to the actor who's in the closeup.

"I remember shooting a picture which was running past 6 o'clock, and for a long time I've had it in my contracts that I don't work past 6, so the director told me to leave and said he'd work the scenes without me.

"I TOLD HIM if the scene had me reacting then I'd have to be there, so all shooting stopped for that day, and the TV actors in it were amazed, telling me it had been the first time they'd stopped work at 6."

Jimmy's friendship with Dean, incidentally, began at the golf club to which they both belong. They also have the same agent, and recently finished a movie together, "Bandolero," which will premiere next June in San Antonio, Tex., with Jimmy and Dean on hand for the ceremony.

Raquel Welch is in it, too, just in case not everyone is a fan of Jimmy and Dean's.

On the net profits of all corporations derived from work done or services performed or rendered and business or other activities conducted in the City of East Liverpool, shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of Section 718.02 of the Revised Code of Ohio and in accordance with rules and regulations adopted pursuant to this Ordinance.
SECTION 3. Said tax shall be levied, collected and paid with respect to salaries, wages, commissions and other compensation earned on or after January 1, 1965, and with respect to the net profit of businesses, professions and other activities earned on and after said date. Provided, however, that where the fiscal year of the businesses, professions or other activities differs from the calendar year, the tax shall be applied to that part of the net profit for the fiscal year as shall be earned on and after said January 1, 1965, to the close of the taxpayer's fiscal year; thereafter the taxpayer shall report on its fiscal year basis.
SECTION 4. RETURN AND PAYMENT OF TAX.
A. Each taxpayer whose earnings or profits are subject to the tax imposed by this Ordinance shall, on or before April 15, 1966, and on April 15th of each year thereafter, make and file a final return with the City Treasurer on a form obtainable from the City Treasurer, setting forth the aggregate amount of salary, wages or other compensation and net profits earned by him during the preceeding year and subject to said tax, together with other pertinent information as the City Treasurer may require. Provided, however, that when the final return is made for a fiscal year or other period different from the calendar year, the return shall be made within 105 days from the end of said fiscal year or other period.
B. The return shall also show the amount of the tax imposed on such earnings and profits. The taxpayer making the said return shall, at the time of the filing thereof, pay to the City Treasurer the amount of taxes shown as due thereon. Provided, however, that where any portion of said tax shall have been paid by such taxpayer pursuant to the provisions of Section 5 and or Section 6 of this Ordinance, credit for the amount so paid shall be deducted from the amount shown to be due and only the balance, if any, shall be due and payable at the time of filing said final return.
C. The return of an employer or employers showing the amount of tax deducted by said employer or employers from the salaries, wages or compensation of any employees, and paid by him or them to the City Treasurer, shall be accepted as the return required of any employee whose sole income subject to the tax of eight tenths of one per cent, is such salary, wages or compensation.
D. Upon written request of the taxpayer, the City Treasurer may extend the time for filing the annual return for a period of not more than six months or not more than thirty days beyond any extension requested of and granted by the Bureau of Internal Revenue for the filing of the Federal Income Tax Return.
SECTION 5. COLLECTION AT SOURCE.
Each employer within the City of East Liverpool who employs within the City one or more persons on a salary, wage, commission or other compensation basis, excluding exempted incomes set forth in Section 14 of this Ordinance, shall deduct at the time of the payment of such salary, wage, commission or other compensation, the tax of eight tenths of one per cent, of salaries, wages, commissions or other compensation due by the said employer to the said employee and shall make a return and pay to the City Treasurer the amount of taxes so deducted as follows:
A. For the three months ending March 31st, on or before April 30th; for the three months ending June 30th; on or before July 31st, for the three months, ending September 30th, on or before October 31st, for the three months ending December 31st, on or before the following January 31st.
Said return shall be on a form prescribed by the City Auditor and furnished by the City Treasurer. Such employer, in collecting said tax, shall be deemed to hold the same as trustee for the benefit of the City of East Liverpool until payment is made by such employer to the City of East Liverpool, and any such tax collected by such employer from his employees shall, until the same is paid to the City of East Liverpool, be deemed a trust fund in the hands of such employer.
SECTION 6-A. CREDIT FOR TAX PAID TO OTHER MUNICIPALITIES, STATE, TOWNSHIP OR OTHER POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS.
The following credits for tax paid to other states, municipalities and other political subdivisions shall take effect on and after January 1, 1967:
1. The payment of any tax on income to any state or any political subdivision thereof, by residents thereof, pursuant to any state or local law, shall, to the extent that such income includes salaries, wages, commissions, or other compensation or net profits of businesses, professions or other activities, be credited to and allowed as a deduction from the liability of such person for any tax on salaries, wages, commissions, or other compensations or net profits of business, professions or other activities imposed by the City of East Liverpool under the authority of this ordinance, provided, however, that if residents of the City of East Liverpool do not receive credits and deductions of a similar kind to a like degree from the tax on income imposed by the other state or political subdivision thereof, then the above credits to non - residents of East Liverpool shall not be so credited and allowed.
2. When a person who is subject to payment of the tax is subject to an income tax in a state, or other political subdivision, on the same income taxable under this ordinance for which no credits and deductions as described in the preceding paragraph are allowed by the state or other political subdivision against its tax by reason of the payment of income tax to the City of East Liverpool, a credit shall be allowed against East Liverpool income tax of fifty per cent (50%) of the amount of tax for which he is liable under the tax on such state or other political subdivision or three tenths of one per cent of the tax due under this ordinance, whichever is the lesser amount.
In the event an East Liverpool Tax payer fails, neglects or refuses to file such return or form as is prescribed by the City Treasurer, he shall not be entitled to such credit and shall be considered in violation of this ordinance for failure to file a return and make payment of taxes due hereunder.
3. Any claim for credit for income taxes or occupation tax paid another subdivision or State on the same income taxable hereunder, must be filed with the City Treasurer of the City of East Liverpool, on or before December 31st of the year following that for which such credit is claimed, provided that, failure to file such claim for credit or refund, within the time prescribed herein shall render such credit or claim for refund null and void.
AND WHEREAS, Council is of the opinion that in order to raise additional revenues it is now necessary to increase the Income Tax and decrease the amount of the credits by amending the above sections, or other compensations or net profits of business, professions or other activities imposed by the City of East Liverpool under the authority of this ordinance, provided, however, that if residents of the City of East Liverpool do not receive credits and deductions of a similar kind to a like degree from the tax on income imposed by the other state or political subdivision thereof, then the above credits to non - residents of East Liverpool shall not be so credited and allowed.
2. When a person who is subject to payment of the tax is subject to an income tax in a state, or other political subdivision, on the same income taxable under this ordinance for which no credits and deductions as described in the preceding paragraph are allowed by the state or other political subdivision against its tax by reason of the payment of income tax to the City of East Liverpool, a credit shall be allowed against East Liverpool income tax of fifty per cent (50%) of the amount of tax for which he is liable under the tax on such state or other political subdivision or three tenths of one per cent of the tax due under this ordinance, whichever is the lesser amount.
In the event an East Liverpool Taxpayer fails, neglects or refuses to file such return or form as is prescribed by the City Treasurer, he shall not be entitled to such credit and shall be considered in violation of this ordinance for failure to file a return and make payment of taxes due hereunder.
3. Any claim for credit for income taxes or occupation tax paid another subdivision or State on the same income taxable hereunder, must be filed with the City Treasurer of the City of East Liverpool, on or before December 31st of the year following that for which such credit is claimed, provided that, failure to file such claim for credit or refund, within the time prescribed herein shall render such credit or claim for refund null and void.

A Junior Editors Quiz About RAIN FORESTS

QUESTION: Why are certain woodlands called rain forests?

ANSWER: Forests seem to love rain. They seem to want to soak up water so the forest floor can remain damp. In doing this, they serve all of us, for forests hold water in, preventing disastrous floods and runoffs. Many forests grow where there is a change in the seasons; that is, where a dry part of the year will be followed by one of rain. But there is a part of the world, north and south about 20 degrees from the equator, where the climate remains warm all the time and is very damp, except for those areas where special conditions have created deserts. The fascinating, romantic woodlands in this belt are called tropical rain forests. They range from the great rain forests around the Amazon river in South America to rain forests in Africa, India and southeastern Asia. Jaguars, tigers, monkeys, parrots and a great many unusual animals live in these forests. Do you see all the animals in our picture? There are 9. Some interesting rain forests existing in a temperate zone are found in the American northwest, such as the area of the Olympic National Forest (shown in black). Moisture-laden winds blowing continually from the Pacific Ocean release rain as they break against the Cascade Mountains. The huge trees thus are shrouded in soft mosses which carpet everything in damp velvety green.
